BRITISH QUIT IN BOSPORUS WHEN VICTORS

News Comes on Heels of Withdrawal of English from Peninsula.

CAMPAIGN AT AN END?

The announcement in London yesterday that British reverses on Gallipoli have forced the withdrawal of approximately 100,000 British troops from the peninsula and the supposed abandonment of the allies' campaign against the Dardanelles lends intense interest to the subjoined correspondence relating how near to victory the British and French fleets were last March. If the correspondent is correct another day would have cleared the allied fleets' path to Constantinople.

VIENNA, Nov. 20.—[Correspondence.]—Had the allied fleet returned to its attack upon the Dardanelles batteries on the day after the great bombardment of March 18 last the waterway to Constantinople would have been surely forced. In the opinion of a number of artillery officers of the defense works near Tschanek Kale, expressed to the Associated Press correspondent, who has just come from the Dardanelles front to Vienna.

One of the principal batteries had for three of its large caliber guns just four armor piercing shells each when night ended the tremendous effort of the British and French fleet, it appeared. For the fourth gun five shells were left, making for the entire battery a total of seventeen projectiles of the sort which the aggressors had to fear.

What this meant is best understood when it is considered that the battery in question was the one which had to be given the widest berth by the allied fleet.

Told to Pack and Leave.

During the evening of March 18 the Associated Press correspondent talked to several artillery officers from the battery in question.

"Better pack up and be ready to quit at daybreak," said one of them.

"Why?" was asked.

"O, they are sure to get in tomorrow!"

Then the officer stated his reasons. He was so sure that the British and French would return in the morning to finish their task and there was no question in his mind as to the propriety of discussing the ammunition matter.

"We'll hold out well enough to make them think that there is no end to our supply of ammunition," he said. "But it can't be done if they go about their work in real earnest. With our heavy pieces useless they can reduce the batteries on the other shore without trouble."

Second Attack Does Not Come.

Following the advice thus given, the correspondent arose early next morning and packed his belongings, keeping meanwhile a watchful eye on the tower of Kale Sultanie where the flag, showing that the allied fleet was near, was usually hoisted. But the morning hours passed and still the danger signal did not appear.

The allied fleet evidently was not inclined to risk more such losses as those of the previous day, when the Bouvet.

Pastor Roasts Pagan Dancers; Flock Backs Him

Lake View Minister Sees 'Em and Then Denounces 'Em from Pulpit.

Dimpled pagan dances are not indorsed by the Lake View Presbyterian church. But for a matter of a week they caused a vast commotion in the membership of that congregation. The Rev. Henry S. Brown's stanch denunciation of the ultra-modern in imported dances caused threats of trouble from some parishioners, but he won the day—and the church's indorsement.

Mme. Thamara Swiska and her two associates in Russian and classic dances, M. Andreas Pavloy and Serge Oukrainsky, probably are serenely unaware of the turmoil their unconventional artistry wrought. They appeared a week ago last night under the auspices of the Lake View Musical society at Orchestra hall.

Extreme—That's the Word.

The musical society embraces in its membership a considerable portion of the élite of Lake View. It has been inferred that the dances were not exactly what that society expected. Music critics found the program rather "extreme."

As for the Rev. Mr. Brown, he was outraged by the performance.

"I try to be liberal in my views," he said in his parsonage, 4232 Kenmore avenue, last night, "and I find a certain gain in going about the city to observe the doings of others.

"I attended the performance at Orchestra hall and I am in duty bound to say it was indecent. The dancers were improperly and indecently clad. My wife and I were compelled to quit the hall out of self-respect. Several others also walked out.

"I made it known that my duty to my church and my congregation would compel me to speak on Sunday of the affair at Orchestra hall."

He Says a Few Words.

The announcement had the congregation about its ears. Certain wealthy parishioners first pleaded and then threatened the pastor and said they would withdraw from the church if he made an attack on the Russian dance affair.

But Mr. Brown declined to lay aside his duty.

"The standard of morality is too low," was the tenor of the pastor's remarks from the pulpit. "Such an exhibition as the one at Orchestra hall leads me to say that our form of entertainment does not smack of the virtuous and cleanly. I can only hope for a return to the days of high mindedness and a clean morality."

Woman to the Defense.

But if Mr. Brown was expecting warfare he was deceived, for Mrs. J. C. Johnson, wife of an official of the Continental and Commercial bank, took the floor after the sermon and said she was entirely in accord with the pastor and she believed the congregation could do naught else but take a standing vote of approbation.

Every member of the congregation arose and the pastor was upheld.

ARMENIANS MASSACRED BY BULGARIANS, SAYS REPORT.

All Those in Adrianople Either Slain or Deported—Women Subjected to Brutal Treatment.

LONDON, Dec. 21, 3 a. m.—A dispatch to the Times reports that all Armenians in Adrianople had either been massacred or deported by the Bulgarians, 1,600 men being deported to Asia Minor. Women and children were detained two days in prison before their removal, says the dispatch, and were subjected to brutal treatment by their captors. Many were placed on sailing vessels bound for Asia Minor. Two of these vessels foundered off Rodosto and a majority of the exiles on board were drowned.

MRS. FARWELL HELD CAPTIVE BY BULGARS

Writer and Red Cross Worker Detained After Food Is Seized.

U.S. FLAG TORN DOWN?

BY JOHN T. McCUTCHEON.
(War Correspondent-Cartoonist of "The Tribune.")
(Special Cable to Chicago Tribune.)

SALONIKI, Dec. 20.—The first direct information from Monastir reached here on Saturday through Red Cross sources.

All the Americans there were well when the messenger left on Dec. 15, but Dr. Harry Forbes of Boston, member of the American Red Cross relief committee was having difficulties with the Bulgarian soldiers.

When the Serbian troops evacuated the city Dr. Forbes collected all the food supplies they left behind. He sought to preserve the twenty-five carloads of wheat flour and cornmeal and three carloads of rice, sugar, and biscuits for the suffering civilian population, storing it within his own grounds.

Bulgars Want All Food.

When the Bulgarian troops arrived their commander, Gen. Alexis Popoff, proposed buying these supplies, offering to pay double prices, but Dr. Forbes refused to sell, saying the food was intended for civilians and not for the military forces.

Gen. Popoff later offered to buy part of the supplies, but Dr. Forbes again refused because all was needed for the 2,000 families left practically destitute in the city.

The next day an officer, who claimed to have been a former deputy sheriff in Kansas City, Mo., appeared with a squad of soldiers, forcibly entered the grounds, overcoming Dr. Forbes' resistance, and seized a portion of the supplies.

Insult to Mrs. Farwell.

Mrs. Mildred Farwell, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE correspondent, who remained in Monastir when it was evacuated by the Serbians, attempted to photograph the attack, but the soldiers seized and destroyed her camera.

The Bulgarian troops had taken about three carloads of the flour at the time the Red Cross messenger left Monastir and they were restraining Dr. Forbes from distributing any of the remainder to the civilian population.

The messenger says the Americans have been forbidden to leave Monastir, which is occupied by several thousand Bulgarians, two German officers, and twenty-five German soldiers.

In extenuation of their conduct in seizing the foodstuffs, the Bulgarian officers say that the step was taken because on their arrival in Monastir the Bulgarians were so short of bread that the men's daily ration had been reduced to half a loaf.

AMERICAN FLAG TORN DOWN.
(By the United Press.)

SALONIKI, Dec. 20.—Mrs. Walter Farwell of Chicago was roughly handled by Bulgarian soldiers who attacked Dr. Harry S. Forbes of Boston, American Red Cross worker, in a raid on the American Red Cross headquarters at Monastir, Serbia, according to word reaching here.

The American flag was torn from the building and the Red Cross stores for the relief of Serbians seized for use by the Bulgarian army. Sentries were stationed at all doors of the Red Cross building and the American workers and Mrs. Farwell virtually made prisoners.

Edward Stuart, chief of the American Red Cross force in Serbia, today appealed to the American state department through Consul Kehl to demand that Mrs. Farwell and Forbes be allowed to leave Monastir. A Red Cross agent who reported the attack to Stuart said they were safe last Wednesday, but that the situation was growing very unpleasant, if not actually dangerous.

Sought to Aid Civilians.

Forbes, according to reports received by the Red Cross officials here, purchased foodstuffs from the Serbians before they evacuated Monastir. He stored it in Red Cross headquarters and was distributing small portions daily to civilians. The Bulgarians repeatedly demanded that Forbes sell the flour to their troops, offering double prices. Forbes refused, explaining that the flour was the property of the American Red Cross for distribution among civilians. When the Bulgars threatened to confiscate the flour, Forbes hung an American flag over the door.

Several Bulgarian officers, with thirty

"TOO LATE"

Northcliffe's Paper Says These Words Are Written in Letters of Fire in England's Record.

LONDON, Dec. 21, 2:55 a. m.—The speech by David Lloyd-George, minister of munitions, in the house of commons Monday night furnished a fresh opportunity for the Daily Mail to attack the government. In an editorial this morning the Daily Mail says:

"The speech contains the gravest indictment yet drawn against the government. 'Too late' is written in letters of fire upon the government record. Too late in aiding Belgium, too late to save Serbia, too late in the Dardanelles, too late with munitions—these words have dogged the allies every step."

The Daily Mail in an editorial on the Dardanelles fiasco says: "The withdrawal may be taken as a sign that the government at last has realized the stupendous blunder it committed in venturing upon the expedition."

LONDON, Dec. 21, 3:27 a. m.—A Petrograd news agency dispatch says that an "imperial ukase relieves Gen. Ruzsky from command of the Russian armies on the northern front, but continues him as a member of the council of the empire and of the supreme military council."

LONDON, Dec. 21, 5 a. m.—A Morning Post dispatch from Copenhagen says: "The suppression of the Lokal Anzeiger Saturday was due to an article dealing with America's note to Austria concerning the Ancona outrage. The article was very arrogant in tone, saying Germany would very soon settle such questions with America."

SERBIAN REFUGEES BLAME THE ALLIES.

ROME, Dec. 20.—Large numbers of Serbian refugees of all classes, including former cabinet ministers, deputies, writers, and artists, are arriving here from the Italian ports of Bari, Brindisi, Messina, and Catania.

All the Serbians arriving here agree their ruin was due chiefly to the insistence of the entente allies that they wait for diplomatic negotiations instead of attacking Bulgaria before the latter was ready.

This caused not only their defeat, they say, but the destruction of their country, as certain regions have been put to fire and sword, resulting in the crushing especially of everything dear to the Serbians in patriotic memories.

Officers of the Serbian staff express the opinion that the situation might still have been saved if one army corps of entente troops had arrived in time to assist the Serbians at Vranya, as the Serbian army, although outnumbered, fought magnificently. This, they say, is proved by the fact that the Serbians, although withdrawing, made 70,000 prisoners, including 600 officers, half of whom died during the retreat through typhoid epidemics which afflicted the army.

BANK CASHIER OUT, SO HE SWINDLES THE PRESIDENT.

C. C. Shepard Accused of Getting Bogus Check Cashed by Robert Forgan at West Town State Bank

Charles C. Shepard of 1804 West Monroe street is accused of having passed bogus checks totaling more than $200 in less than six weeks. On Nov. 7 he is alleged to have cashed a check for $31.42 in a west side restaurant. He obtained employment at Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co.'s, where he succeeded in passing another check for $51.

Shepard claims he lost $50 of this money on his way home. Last Friday he went to the West Town State bank at 2354 Madison street while the cashier was out at lunch and by representing to Robert Forgan, president of the bank, that the cashier had previously cashed checks for him succeeded in obtaining $45 on another worthless check. On Saturday he sent his mother, Mrs. Mary Shepard, around to the bank with another check for $74, which was cashed.

Mrs. Shepard gave an address on Adams street, but when the police went there they were unable to find her. They arrested young Shepard in a saloon at Paulina and Madison streets.

ON THE HOME STRETCH.

MRS. HARRISON SEEKS A VOICE

Trails "Social Vandal" Who Falsely Tells of Daughter's Betrothal.

Mrs. Carter Harrison is in search of the owner of a feminine voice.

For the last year it has made itself evident on several occasions that have wrought havoc in the family atmosphere of the Harrison home, for this same voice has taken it upon itself to announce the engagement of the young debutante of the family, Miss Edith Harrison, to various young men.

Voice at It Again.

Yesterday the voice made known the fact that Miss Harrison at a luncheon given at her home at 1 o'clock announced her engagement to Edwin Stroh of Detroit.

"It's not true," said Mrs. Harrison. "When my daughter is engaged I will announce it. This person, whoever it is, has announced my daughter's engagement to four men already in the last year. I am heartily tired of it all and would like the voice traced whenever any friend of ours is given such information.

Among the "Betrothals."

"The first man was Jack Spreckels of San Francisco, who has since married. The second man was Gerald Cudahy, who only knows my daughter slightly. The third was William Taylor of Pasadena, an old friend of the family who has visited us often. And now poor Mr. Stroh. He is the brother of Miss Isabel Stroh, a dear friend of my daughter, but she is not engaged, and I am happy to say she isn't thinking of such a thing just now."

It is believed that the woman responsible for these misstatements also is responsible for the report sent out from Detroit last summer at the time of the Spaulding-Arthur nuptials that the former Miss Barker had been engaged to marry Carter Harrison Jr.

Daniels Promises to "Look Into Matter" of Munition Firm Too Busy to Bid on U.S. Contracts.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Navy Daniels was asked today whether he intends to make public the name of the concern which he denounced in his annual report because it had so much European war munition business that it no longer cared to bid on navy contracts.

"I have not decided," he replied. "I think perhaps it would be a good idea to make it public. I will look into the matter tomorrow."

GERMANY'S FLEET TO OFFER BATTLE TO BRITISH NAVY?

Berlin Newspapers Say Dash Will Be Made, but English Naval Experts Ridicule Reports.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—The Berlin report that a German fleet plans a dash is ridiculed here. British warships were officially reported a week ago in the Skagerack, where the Germans say their ships cruised. Naval writers point out that Germany already has lost fifteen of her forty-five light cruisers.

The Germans do not share this view. Announcing the contemplated sea dash, one paper says that the German navy prepares to celebrate the second "war Christmas" by complete readiness.

"England's fleet will think twice before attacking the German navy. It knows too well that when the hour strikes the German navy will show itself second to no other fleet in the world."

Serbian Ruler at Tirana Refuses to Go to Milder Climate—Wants to Die Near Soldiers.

ROME, Dec. 20.—Serbian refugees from Albania who have arrived here say that King Peter is seriously ill at Tirana Italy.

King Peter is determined to die among his own people and remain near his army. He therefore refused to accept an invitation of his sister-in-law to go to southern Italy.

KILLS CONVICT IN DINNER LINE

Joliet Prisoner Calls Cellmate "Stool Pigeon"; 30 See Murder.

Jasper Perry, 22 years old, is now serving a term in Joliet for attempted murder. He also is wanted in Boise City, Ida., for attempted murder. The third attempt must have been ominous, for last night he dashed out the brains of a fellow convict in the presence of thirty others and made it murder.

The victim was Frank Harrod, 38 years old, under an indeterminate sentence for larceny and burglary, from Marshall county.

Perry is known in Joliet prison as a "bad man." His record was such that when his case was brought before the parole board last July it was recommended that he be retained to serve his maximum sentence—until 1922.

Once Tried to Escape.

In November, 1914, Perry made an attempt to escape from the prison, and upon being searched was found to have a knife in his possession measuring twenty-six inches in length. It had been fashioned from a file.

Perry was sentenced from Cook county in August, 1914, and was given Harrod as a cellmate. About two weeks ago Harrod complained to the prison authorities that he was afraid of Perry, and he asked to have his cell changed. There had been some quarrels between the men.

In the meal line Harrod had been placed near the head and Perry near the end, to keep the men apart. Yesterday afternoon, around 5 o'clock, the prisoners had been ordered to knock off work and fall in line for dinner. Both Perry and Harrod were employed in the chair shop.

"You Stool Pigeon——"

Thirty men were in line when Perry picked up a chair leg and walked to the head of the line.

"You stool pigeon," he shouted, adding a string of epithets, "I'll get you."

And with this he brought the chair leg down on Harrod's head, knocking him down. Before the guards could interfere Perry struck the prostrate man three more blows, fracturing his skull.

Harrod was removed to the prison hospital at once, but died an hour later without regaining consciousness. Coroner Wunderlich and State's Attorney Martin took charge of affairs immediately.

Perry has served one term in Idaho under the name of Morris Johnson.

"NIC" HUNT TO BE REFORM ALLY OF PROSECUTOR

Mayor, Healey, and State's Attorney Unite to Rid the City of Crooks.

MAY OUST CAPTAINS.

Former Inspector Nicholas Hunt is scheduled to assume charge of the detective bureau tonight at the close of the roll call.

The finishing touches were put on the program last night.

With the announcement that Hunt would be named, Mayor Thompson, State's Attorney Hoyne, and Chief of Police Healey announced that they had joined hands for a cleanup of Chicago.

President Percy B. Coffin of the civil service commission confirming the full program, announced that he believed the criminals would be headed for other climes or jail within forty-eight hours.

New Era in Co-operation.

With the putting into operation tonight of the announced program of ridding Chicago of crime and criminals, it will be the first time in many years that the city police department will be coöperating with the state's attorney's office in a publicly announced plan to make Chicago clean and safe.

According to official announcement at the city hall, there will be no strings tied to the offer made Mr. Hoyne to call on the city department for any aid, either detectives or patrolmen, he may require in his work.

Mr. Hunt takes charge of the detective bureau with thte unqualified approval of Mr. Hoyne, and with the specific pledge to Mr. Hoyne that the detective bureau will be at his disposal.

Several Captains May Go.

The program also calls for the ousting of a number of commanding officers. Three captains, in whose districts investigators have been working for months, are slated for charges.

Other captains, whose districts are still under scrutiny by detectives, are yet to be rated in the doom book.

This program became known last night definitely following an attack on the mayor's police policy, and particularly on former Inspector Hunt, by Ald. Robert M. Buck.

Mr. Buck introduced a resolution asking the council to "denounce" the contemplated appointment of Hunt. The council quickly sent the resolution to the police committee without debate.

Here's the Resolution.

The text of Ald. Buck's resolution follows:

"Whereas, in the council proceedings of March 4, 1912, it is set forth that Mayor Harrison dismissed Nicholas Hunt from the police force after finding him guilty of charges that he permitted open and notorious gambling, prostitution, violations of the dramshop regulations, and violations of police rules and orders; and,

"Whereas, it has been stated publicly that there is a movement afoot to restore the said Hunt to power in the police force and to make him chief of detectives, now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the city council hereby denounce the reported prospective appointment of the said Hunt."

According to the city law department the city council has no authority to interfere with naming of a chief of detectives. The only possible action of the council, it is declared, would be to direct City Treasurer Sergel to withhold the pay of the appointee.

Urges Control by Judges.

Ald. Werner of the Third ward also put in a resolution calling on the judiciary committee of the council to investigate the feasibility of placing the police department under a commission of three members, the chief justices of the Municipal, Circuit, and Superior courts. This went to the judiciary committee without debate.

Ald. Bergen, whose first charge of attempted bribery on the part of Chief Boiler Inspector George Nye brought on the police shakeup, called up an old order directing the schools committee to report favorably on the proposed resolution giving all patrolmen two days off each month in addition to their fifteen days' furlough annually.

Bergen made the only speech on the police situation, attacking by innuendo the mayor's statement as printed exclusively in THE TRIBUNE last Saturday morning, and in which the mayor declared that his police department was a foul smelling institution.

Ald. Bergen said he didn't believe the department deserved the broadside assaults leveled at it by the mayor. He thought there were honest men in the department and that many of the patrolmen should be defended against indiscriminate and wholesale attacks.

None of the other aldermen, however, came to his support, and his statement was the only one read into the record.

Will Ignore Council.

All orders by the council will be ignored by the mayor, in so far as they may affect the program which carries the formal O. K. of the state's attorney. They will proceed to put it in operation at once with the installation of Mr. Hunt as head of the detective bureau.

This may be done today. There was a hitch in the plan yesterday when former head of the detective bureau, P. D O'Brien, who has been suspended under charges and who sent in his resignation, requested that the charges against him be withdrawn with the understanding that he will resign immediately. This would not leave his record clouded.

Confer on Request.

Capt. Coffin, head of the civil service commission; Chief Healey, O'Brien, and Commissioner Joseph P. Geary held a long conference last night, at which the request to let O'Brien out with a clean record was discussed. Another conference will be held today, at which, it is reported, Chief Healey will recommend that O'Brien's wishes be followed.

Hoyne Asks Co-operation.

State's Attorney Hoyne at his home last night said:

"All I want is the coöperation and not the opposition of the city detective bureau. If Mayor Thompson will name Hunt to head the bureau and will give him a free hand, which Chief Healey says will be done, then the state's attorney's office of Cook county will have no complaint of any kind to make.

"Mr. Hunt has been working with me for more than a year. I know what he has done and what he can do. He is perfectly satisfactory to me. We have had some hard work so far for the reason that we have the continued opposition of the detective bureau instead of its aid, and what we have accomplished has been in spite of the bureau. Now all this is to be changed, according to my understanding. The state's attorney's office and the city police department are to work together, and when that is done things will change greatly, I have no doubt."

Further Cleanup Due.

"Does that mean a continued purging of the police department?" was asked.

"Undoubtedly," replied Mr. Hoyne. "The information I have respecting the detective bureau will be at the disposal of Chief Healey and undoubtedly he will act on it.

"The report that I am going to run the whole police department is not true. There is nothing like that contemplated. The only understanding I have is that I shall have the use and coöperation of the detective bureau in carrying on the work of my office, as I should have had from the beginning. That is all Mr. Hunt means to me and that is all I am interested in, so far as the police department is concerned."

CHRISTMAS "DIPS" BUSY.

Reports of seven men robbed by pickpockets in the last twenty-four hours were made yesterday. The victims were:

W. J. Houlihan, Clinton, Ia., robbed of $5 at West Madison and Canal streets.

A. B. Yrakee, Sherman, Wyo., robbed of $135 near the Chicago and Northwestern station.

F. E. Wright, 4415 Bacon street, robbed of $15 at West Randolph street and North Fifth avenue.

D. Lundy, Cookeville, Tenn., robbed of $75 at the Dearborn station.

Andrew Bur, Ettrick, Wis., robbed of $25 at West Adams and South Halsted streets.

Nicholas Goll, 754 West Adams street, robbed of $40 at West Adams and South Morgan streets.

H. Rasek, 1851 Humboldt street, robbed of watch on a Milwaukee avenue car.

"STAR" EQUAL TO UNIFORM.

Upon the theory that detectives wearing their stars are "in uniform" as specified by the traction ordinances in the provision for free transportation of policemen, City Controller Pike yesterday announced he will eliminate from the annual budget the sum of $50,000 ordinarily set aside for buying the tickets of the plain clothes men. He was advised on the subject by the city law department.

COUNCIL MOVES FOR NEW BOARD ON SUBWAYS

Three Engineers to Study Entire Local Transportation Problem of Chicago.

A comprehensive study of the local transportation problem was authorized last night by the Chicago council.

By a vote of 59 to 5 it passed the ordinance providing for the creation of a commission of three engineers—experts on the subject—to go into all phases of the traction question. Their study will be the unification of the surface and elevated lines and the construction of subways for both types of service with structural connections and universal transfers from each style to each of the other two types.

In addition to this they will be instructed to present a plan for financing their whole plan and to recommend improvements of any sort in the service. This will include extensions of the elevated roads, rerouting of the surface cars, and any other changes they may think advisable.

Two Hours of Debate.

There was more than two hours of debate on the ordinance before its passage in the form recommended by the local transportation committee, which embodied some of the amendments proposed at the last meeting. After other amendments proposed had been voted down, Ald. Merriam, Buck, Kennedy, and others who fought for the changes voted for the ordinance. Only Block, Mulac, Kerner, Ray, and Krause voted against it.

The longest argument was had on Ald. Merriam's amendment striking out all reference to the valuation of the surface lines as now fixed by the 1907 ordinances. He contended for "a new deal," but he was opposed by Capitain, Lipps, Fisher, and others, who explained the surface lines would not negotiate upon such a basis. They said the plan could be dropped at once if it were approached on hat basis, and at least some hope was held out by a study along the lines laid down by the ordinance. Merriam's amendment was tabled by a vote of 43 to 20.

Merriam Loses Again.

Ald. Merriam proposed another amendment covering the coördination of the steam roads with the other forms of service, but the argument here was that the traction fund could not be drawn upon for such an inquiry, and he was beaten again by a vote of 43 to 17.

Ald. Kennedy wanted the experts selected by the local transportation and the finance committees jointly, but he was defeated, 48 to 16. And a similar fate befell an amendment of Buck's, providing that the recommendations concerning subways be more definite on the question of type than proposed in the ordinance.

Merit Evidence to Hoyne.

There was some surprise on the floor and more in the galleries when Ald. Kerner had passed without objection or question an order directing that the evidence of abuses of the civil service law be presented to State's Attorney Hoyne. This follows up the action at the last meeting when reports on charges from the Civil Service Reform association and charges against Boiler Inspector Nye were approved by the council after a bitter fight.

"Be it ordered," read Kerner's document, "that the finance and judiciary committees jointly be and they hereby are directed to prepare the evidence in these cases for presentation to the grand jury and to request the state's attorney to aid them in making such presentation and take such further steps as may be necessary and appropriate to protect the merit system of this city from destruction by spoilsmen."

Some Other Actions.

Ald. Nance for the health committee had passed the ordinance forbidding the sale of air rifles to minors.

Ald. Richert for the finance committee had passed the ordinance prescribing the form of bonds to be given by banks which are made city depositaries.

Ald. Toman for the license committee called up the report of the majority placing on file Ald. Merriam's proposal to increase the membership of the commission on the liquor traffic in order to remedy some of its "pronounced wetness," and Ald. McCormick moved to substitute the minority report recommending the increase.

"This is a plain case of fourflush," said Toman, and the wets followed him solidly.

The vote was 38 to 24, and four wets, making the regular total of forty-two, were absent.

Ald. Kimball presented a report for the minority of the building committee favoring the ordinance to permit the display of slow burning moving picture films with portable projection machines in schools, churches, and smaller places. The labor organizations have opposed the plan and the majority of the committee voted with them.

The subject of sub-basement retail salesrooms, covered by an ordinance recommended by the building committee was not called up. A protest was received from a City club committee and Chairman Pretzel delayed moving the adoption of the ordinance until the next meeting, which was set for 2 o'clock Thursday, Dec. 30.

City Real Estate Experts Shake $25,000 Christmas Tree

Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, made a successful plea before the council finance committee yesterday for $25,000 to pay twenty-four "real estate experts." Mr. Faherty was playing the rôle of Santa Claus to "the boys."

"I wouldn't be here," he said, "if Christmas wasn't coming. I want the boys to get their money before Christmas."

But some of the aldermen took a different view.

"It has been reported all over town," declared Ald. Harry E. Littler, "that is the finest piece of graft in the city hall."

Money for the Birds?

"It has been a public scandal for years," chimed in Ald. Merriam. "Why throw money to the birds?"

Mr. Faherty came in with a bill for $16,600 now due the twenty-four experts. Their pay was held up because City Treasurer Sergel refused to honor vouchers drawn on special appropriations. The action of the finance committee was to approve the transfer of $25,000 from other funds.

The committee made one stipulation. They directed Mr. Faherty to present evidence showing the qualifications of each of the men and the services they have rendered. This will be considered by the council before the transfer is finally authorized.

Poor Old Morton!

Harry Atwood, attorney for the board of local improvements, read over the names of the "experts" and named the amount of "Christmas money" due each of "the boys."

"There's Morton Macormac," remarked Mr. Faherty with a touch of pathos, "poor fellow, he's worked hard and deserves his pay."

"O, yes," commented Ald. Merriam. "Most of his work was done before April 26. He's now head of a business college in my ward."

Macormac is due to get $1,200.

Who Is Greenspahn?

Morris Greenspahn, whose bill against the city for real estate advice is $1,130, was the next subject of inquiry. Mr. Faherty said Greenspahn has a "real estate license."

"What is his business?" queried Ald Littler.

"He was in the saloon business," replied Mr. Faherty.

Then the name of Nathan De Lue, listed for Christmas money to the extent of $685, was reached.

"He's an agent for a brewery," explained the president of the improvement board. "But he's very bright, and they aren't selling much beer these days on account of Sunday closing. We don't require experts in all cases. We need men of good judgment——"

"A case of good judgment?" suggested Ald. James A. Kearns.

They Found John.

John M. Kantor, named on the list for $600, was spoken of by Mr. Faherty as an inheritance from the previous administration.

"We found him here when we came in," he said.

Mr. Kantor did considerable spellbinding for the Thompson forces during the campaign.

Arthur Josetti, and Frank Mesce, also Thompson lieutenants, were likewise on the list of those to receive Christmas coin.

"Where do you get these exxperts?" Ald. Merriam asked.

"Mayor Thompson sends down the names," replied Mr. Faherty. "We have obtained some excellent verdicts. Why, in the matter of experts, Assistant Chief Schuettler is one of the best real estate experts in the city hall."

CAPTAINS GET BUSY.

Crime Cleanup Squads Make Twenty Arrests Following Mayor's Threat of Upheaval.

Mayor Thompson's threatened police shakeup and Chief Healey's recent order putting the crime situation directly up to the captains and lieutenants bore fruit last night. The chief's order was read by all west side captains and lieutenants to their men, and squads of detectives were started out from the Lake street and Warren avenue stations to make a cleanup.

Shortly after midnight more than twenty arrests had been made in these two districts alone, and two of the prisoners were identified as robbers. They are:

Walter Knowles, 430 South Lincoln street.

Frank Wallace, 2118 Emerson avenue.

Fred Dixon of 1831 West Lake street identified Knowles as having robbed him of $8.80 at the point of a revolver.

HOLDS FENDER LAW INVALID; NEW ONE IS PLANNED.

Corporation Counsel Ettelson Doubts Legality of Transfer of Power in Tests.

Corporation Counsel Ettelson yesterday told the city council its ordinance requiring fenders on motor trucks is invalid. For several months the council has been urging the enforcement of the ordinance which has been opposed by the Illinois Manufacturers' association and other organizations.

"When the time arrived for enforcing the original ordinance," read an opinion sent to the judiciary committee it was pointed out to the general superintendent of police that the ordinance was clearly invalid because it contained a delegation of power that could not be sustained by the court.

"In the law department it was found that no type or types of fender could be definitely described for use, and the only course left was to provide by ordinance for a standard type arrived at by uniform tests."

The committee will take up the preparation of a new ordinance.

With more heat it referred to a subcommittee of five Ald. Buck's resolution providing that the mayor and his department heads be "reduced to a state of respect" for the council. Ald. John Kjellander denounced President Coffin of the civil service commisson for charging in a newspaper interview that aldermen are "crooks."

GLEASON SAVED, PTACEK DOOMED, BY TRIAL BOARD

Former Chief Will Not Be Discharged, but Captain Will Fall.

Capt. James Gleason will be retained on the force and Capt. John E. Ptacek probably will be discharged.

The trial board which has been hearing the evidence in the "slush fund" charges, it became known last night, has practically decided to render this verdict. The board consists of Capt. Percy B. Coffin and Charles E. Frazier of the civil service commission and Howard O. Sprogle, attorney for that body.

No Authority for Collection.

The decision to "fire" Capt. Ptacek is said to have been based on the fact that he at no time obtained permission of Capt. Gleason, then chief, to make a collection for "Bill" Egan. The total amount he turned over was only $50.

Extraordinary efforts have been made by leaders of the United Societies to save Capt. Ptacek, who is said to be on intimate terms with Anton Cermak.

The case of Capt. Gleason was on a somewhat different footing, because Gleason himself made no collection. As chief of police he authorized Sergt. Frank Shannessy to procure voluntary contributions for Capt. Halpin.

Gleason Admits It.

The essential facts were not disputed.

"I gave $100 to Capt. Halpin," former Chief Gleason said. "'It was at the time he came to me to turn in his star after being indicted and suspended. He told me he was not guilty and could prove it, but was without means of securing counsel. I told Sergt. Frank Shannessy, then Capt. Halpin's secretary, that I would not object to any voluntary contributions the men might make, but I would not issue an order. I also told Capt. Max Nootbaar the same."

Ptacek Admits It, Too.

In the case of Capt. Ptacek, Lieut. Charles J. Johnson of the Hinman street station testified with the captain's permission he took up a collection of $41.50 for William Egan. Capt. Ptacek added $8.50 to this amount.

He admitted he had not received the authorization of the chief.

"Egan, my neighbor and friend," he said, "told me Frank Shannessy had seen the chief and obtained permission to collect the fund."

Capt. Gleason had testified, however, he had no knowledge of any collection except the one for Halpin.

URGES MILITARY SCHOOL COURSE

Ald. Link Submits War Plans to Council; Is Snowed Under.

OPPOSED TO WARFARE.

A plan for raising every Chicago schoolboy to be a soldier arose in the city council last night.

Ald. Frank J. Link, who comes from Congressman Foss' part of town and believes in preparedness, was its sponsor. Without any particular warning he came forward with a comprehensive project which, if it should find favor, would provide a complete system of military training, probably to be supervised by the war department, in every public and private secondary school in the city.

Idea Is Unpopular.

The idea wasn't received with open arms. After terse remarks from a couple of Ald. Link's colleagues he was defeated on a motion to suspend the rules by a vote of 18 to 43, and the measure was sent to the finance committee.

What Ald. Link wants, in the language of the resolution, is to have the mayor directed to appoint "a commission on military education to confer with the representatives of the war department of the United States, the members of the board of education, and all park commissioners having jurisdiction within the limits of the city of Chicago, to make an exhaustive study on the subject of military education and training for the male youth in the public and other secondary schools in the city of Chicago."

Opposed to Militarism.

Ald. Kennedy was on his feet as soon as the resolution was read.

"I am opposed to any sort of militarism," he said, "but if this sort of thing must be done it should be done by congress and not by any city council."

"We should educate our children," Ald. Utpatel put in, "but we should not teach them to shoot their brothers."

WILSON CRITICS POINT TO PERIL IN ANCONA NOTE

Opponents Say It May Bring Break of Relations and Possibility of War.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—With what purports to be its final word on the Ancona case dispatched to Vienna, the administration settled down today to await the response of the Austrian government which will determine the future relations of the United States and the dual monarchy.

If Austria complies with President Wilson's demands without further question the administration will feel that it has just cause to credit itself with another victory which will go far toward assuring traveling Americans safety from submarine attacks when passengers on unresisting merchant vessels of belligerent as well as neutral nationality.

If Austria, while refraining from compliance with the demands, repudiates the admiralty statement admitting that the Ancona was torpedoed before the removal of all the passengers, the administration will consent to a discussion of the facts.

If Austria stands pat on its defense of the admiralty account of the incident the administration will be face to face with the question of severing diplomatic relations with Vienna.

Will Reach Public Wednesday.

The president's rejoinder insisting that the Austrian government disavow the sinking of the Ancona, punish the submarine commander, and pay an indemnity for the loss of nine American lives, is due to reach Vienna Tuesday night. The state department is withholding the text from publication in the United States until Wednesday afternoon.

Administration officials profess not to have the remotest idea of the intentions of Austria-Hungary. They say that the president has done his plain duty in holding Austria to account, and that he has proceeded without reference to any ulterior circumstances. They insist that if Austria refuses to yield there will be but one honorable course for the administration to pursue and that is to break off diplomatic relations with Vienna.

Advisers of the president say that war will not necessarily follow a rupture of relations. They explain that there would be merely a state of nonintercourse.

By some who do not share the optimism of the administration it is asserted that, in event of a rupture of relations, Austria would proceed to torpedo passenger vessels carrying Americans without restraint.

Germany Envoy Is Busy.

In official Teutonic circles the confidence that there will be no rupture of diplomatic relations between Washington and Vienna continues unabated. There no longer is any doubt that Germany is taking a hand in the affair, and it is well known that the principal object of the diplomacy of Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, is to prevent any impairment of the relations of the United States and the central empires.

Count von Bernstorff has been in consultation frequently of late with high administration officials. This circumstance strengthens the wide impression that the administration was convinced Austria would yield before it sent the peremptory demands for satisfaction to Vienna.

The German ambassador, it transpires, is deftly manipulating the negotiations along the lines of those in the Arabic case. Germany at first "stood pat" on the admiralty account of the sinking of the Arabic. The president refused to accept this explanation and Germany eventually disavowed the act of the submarine commander and agreed to pay an indemnity. It is expected that if Count von Bernstorff's efforts meet with success, Austria will follow a similar course in making concessions that will be accepted by the president.

Mail Autos Get Right of Way.

Assistant Postmaster Hubbard yesterday complained to Chief Healey that auto mail trucks are being delayed by slow traffic in the loop. He asked that the trucks be given right of way at street intersections, owing to the rush of Christmas mail. Chief Healey gave such instructions to traffic policemen.

SHOW COURTESY TO PACIFISTS, BUT GIVE NO AID

Feeling at Christiania Toward Ford Party Is One of "Kindly Sympathy."

BY JOSEPH JEFFERSON O'NEILL.

[Copyright: 1915: By Press Publishing Company (New York World).]

CHRISTIANIA, Dec. 20.—Christiania for the first time has seen Henry Ford and heard his plans to end the world war. The millionaire and his party are received everywhere courteously, but there is not the slightest show of official recognition or organized preparation. Christiania is kindly but skeptical of the value of the plan, though respecting Ford heartily.

An informal reception was tendered the pilgrims this afternoon at the Hotel Grand by women peace advocates representing several pacifist bodies, though none avowedly. The Americans were greeted cordially by the women, but even they doubt the efficacy of the proposed neutral conference at The Hague.

Must Fight It Out.

The Ford mission is not a joke here, though regarded as impossible of success. The Norwegian attitude regarding the warring nations is: "We must let them fight to a finish. We'll have other wars soon if this is halted without a decision."

This attitude is freely expressed by leading journalists and public officials as representing Norway's national feeling.

Judge Ben Lindsey and Mrs. Lindsey have urged Mr. Ford to give up the attempt to bring about peace and divert the fortune being spent in that direction to the rescue of children made parentless by the war and the discovery of homes for them. Mr. Ford flatly refused this suggestion and expressed his unswerving determination to go ahead with his original purpose.

Ford Too Ill to Travel.

Owing to his indisposition Mr. Ford has decided to postpone the departure of the peace party for Stockholm. It was planned to start for that city on Wednesday but it probably will be several days before Mr. Ford is well enough to travel. It is stated he is not seriously ill, merely fatigued after the long sea voyage.

BRITISH DEFEAT GERMAN ATTACK

Paris Admits That French Troops Have Lost a Small Outpost.

A German attack against the British front near Hulluch was repulsed. The French admit they gave up a small outpost on the Aisne captured by a surprise attack.

BRITISH OFFICIAL REPORT.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—The official statement by the war office tonight said:

Opposite the southern and center positions of the line we bombarded several parts of the enemy's trenches. Hostile artillery heavily shelled Ypres and St. Jean.

The enemy made a bombing attack near the quarries northwest of Hulluch, which was repulsed.

The Rotterdam correspondent of the Daily Mail telegraphs:

"The Germans got a bad beating in their gas attack near Ypres. Their death roll was heavy and their men were dismayed by the terrific British artillery and machine gun fire."

The German attack on the British lines at Ypres, which is officially declared to have been a complete failure, is believed to have been the beginning of a general German offensive in the west.

Paris Official Report.

PARIS, Dec. 20.—The following official communication was issued by the war office tonight:

In Artois violent artillery actions occurred in the region of Loos. Between Soissons and Reims our shells destroyed a foot bridge at Vailly. Our artillery fire upon the German trenches at the Ville-Aux-Bois caused three powerful explosions.

In Champagne we dispersed an enemy troop to the north of Auberive.

The fire of our artillery on the enemy works in the Bois de la Morville, to the northeast of St. Mihiel, was effective, the trenches caving in at several places. A blockhouse containing machine guns was destroyed.

German Official Report.

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—The official statement issued by the war office said:

Fire from our coastal batteries drove off enemy monitors which shelled Westende yesterday. On this front there was lively artillery activity and also successful mining operations by our troops.

BRITISH HOLDUP OF U. S. MAILS CAUSES PROTEST

Lansing Sends Note to London on Interference with Parcel Post.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—The United States has protested to Great Britain against interference with parcel post shipments between this country and Sweden, Secretary Lansing announced today.

Mr. Lansing said the Swedish minister had complained to the state department that parcel post shipments had been held up by British warships on the high seas.

Besides filing a protest, the state department has asked Great Britain for an explanation, Mr. Lansing said.

Efforts of Postoffice Officials.

The postoffice department announced today that, to meet the Christmas demand, it had made persistent but unsuccessful efforts to reëstablish parcel post service between the United States and Germany and Austria.

Service from the United States by way of Holland ceased Nov. 13, from Germany and Austria to the United States twenty-five days previously.

Postal conventions provide that shipments shall be made by vessels sailing direct from an American port to a German or Austrian port and vice versa.

Appeals to Swedes and Danes.

Since the Netherlands government declined to continue the special arrangement by which parcel post to Germany was transported through Holland the department has endeavored to arrange for forwarding packages through Sweden and Denmark.

No reply has been received from Sweden to the American query asking if it would forward packages to Germany. Denmark, without replying directly, has said that such shipments might subject Danish steamers to search.

NEED PHIALS OF IODINE IN TRENCHES ON FRENCH LINE.

Wife of Artist Peixotto Tells of Crying Necessity and Makes Plea for Funds for Supply.

An appeal for funds with which to purchase phials of the tincture of iodine for soldiers in the trenches on the French front is made in a letter to THE TRIBUNE from Mrs. Ernest Peixotto, wife of the artist, 152 West Fifty-seventh street, New York.

Mrs. Piexotto quotes from a letter from a wounded French soldier as follows:

"It was only after having dragged myself for some hours in among the dead in a state of putrifaction that I was able to reach a post of first aid. As soon as I was hit I applied to my wound the precious tincture of iodine, and I am sure it was to this precaution that I owe the fact that I did not have tetanus."

Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Peixotto.

MESOPOTAMIA BRITISH ATTACK TURK TRENCHES.

Defenders of Kut-el-Amara Become Active—Moslems Lose 2,500 Men Since Dec. 1, Report.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—Parties of the British Mesopotamian army that are holding position on the Tigris river at Kut-el-Amara have been attacking the Turkish advanced trenches, it was announced in an official report tonight on the operations of this expeditionary force. The losses of the Turks since Dec. 1, are estimated to have been at least 2,500. The statement is as follows:

Gen. Townshend reports that in his estimation the Turks must have lost no less than 2,500 men in the rear-guard action on Dec. 1, and in their abortive attack on his position at Kut-el-Amara during the night of Dec. 12-13.

MANY COMBATS IN SKIES ALONG THE WESTERN FRONT

British Report That Their Fliers Had Advantage in Battles with the Enemy.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—An official statement issued by the war office today said:

There was considerable activity by the enemy's aeroplanes. During the day there were forty-four combats in the air, two enemy aeroplanes being felled within the enemy's lines and two others driven down in a damaged condition. One of our machines is missing.

An enemy aeroplane was brought down by our fire today east of Armentieres.

CAPT. BOY-ED IN CAPITAL ARRANGING FOR WEDDING?

German Embassy Denies New York Report of Attache's Trip—Miss Mackay-Smith Silent.

Washington, D. C.—Dec. 20.—[Special.]—The report that Capt. Boy-Ed and Miss Virginia Mackay-Smith are likely to be married before the recalled German naval attaché sails for home on Dec. 28 aroused much interest here. Word came from New York that Capt. Boy-Ed was in Washington seeking to arrange for the wedding and for safe conduct for his bride.

At the German embassy tonight it was denied that Capt. Boy-Ed is in the capital or that he had been here recently. Mrs. Mackay-Smith continues to deny that her daughter is engaged to marry the attaché. Miss Mackay-Smith declines to discuss the matter.

FRENCH CRUISER SEIZES PURSER ON U. S. STEAMER

Repeats What America Has Protested Is Breach of International Law.

New York, Dec. 20.—Wilhelm Garbe of Brooklyn, purser of the American steamer Borinquen, was removed from the vessel off the harbor of San Juan, Porto Rico, by officers of the French cruiser Descartes, according to the Borinquen skipper. The ship arrived here today.

According to Capt. Dow the incident occurred about 1 a. m. on Dec. 15 while his ship was five miles outside San Juan harbor. After officers from the Descartes had come aboard they sent a boat alongside and directed Purser Garbe to get in.

To stop the Borinquen the Descartes threw a searchlight on the vessel and then fired a blank shot across its bows.

Not First Boat Stopped.

At the Bull-Insular line, owners of the Borinquen, it was said Capt. Dow had made a wireless report of the search of the vessel and removal of the purser. Six or seven months ago another of the line's vessels was stopped and searched by a British cruiser, but no one was removed.

Garbe, it was said, was a German, but had taken out his first citizenship papers some time ago. He had been employed by the line about three years.

U. S. Protest Unanswered.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—The United States still is awaiting a reply from the French government to the vigorous protest recently lodged against the action of the commander of the cruiser Descartes in stopping three steamers of the New York-Porto Rican line and taking off Germans and Austrians.

As soon as the state department is officially advised of the latest instance of what it holds to be flagrant violation of the protection of the American flag, involved in the removal of Wilhelm Garbe from the steamer Borinquen by the same French commander, supplementary representations probably will be made to France with the intimation that an immediate cessation of such acts is expected.

EXPERT WEIGHT LACKING IN ARMY PLAN OF WILSON

Military Measures of Administration Do Not Represent Advice of Technical Men.

"A free people ought not only to be armed but disciplined, to which end a uniform and well digested plan is requisite."
—GEORGE WASHINGTON.

BY CAPT. HENRY J. REILLY.

New York, Dec. 20.—[Special.]—For the conduct of any business a certain policy is determined upon by the board of directors or other representatives of the stockholders. This policy having been decided upon it is the duty of the officers of the company to put it into execution.

When, for instance in the case of a railway, the putting of this policy into execution involves technical matters, the officers call in their technical experts, tell them what they want done and ask them how it can be done. These experts, after studying the question announce that it can or cannot be done, or that it must be done in this manner or that.

Certainly the officers of the company permit their experts complete freedom of statement as to the technical difficulties which have to be overcome. If they do not do this, and, furthermore, if, themselves without technical knowledge, they proceed to vary the technical plans, no one is surprised if inefficiency, unnecessary expense, and even disaster results.

Experts Ones to Advise.

If the cost is too great it is the business of the officers to tell the directors that their experts say the matter can only be carried out in a certain way, and that this certain way will cost more than they had expected. It would not be tolerated that the officers should order the experts to report that the matter could be accomplished with less mechanical power and machinery than these experts knew would be necessary to perform the work desired.

Neither would it be tolerated that the legal advice the chief clerk of the company and the heads of the different supply bureaus should be called upon to make up the technical plans while the experts were unheeded.

Applied to Administration.

The stockholders of the United States are the people; the board of directors is congress; the officers of the company are the president and his cabinet. The technical experts are the representatives of the line of the navy and army, such as the general staff and the general board. The legal adviser, the chief clerk and the heads of the supply departments, are the judge advocate general, the adjutant general, and other bureau chiefs of the war department, and those occupying similar positions in the navy department.

The people, through congress, are considering effectively preparing the country for defense against possible aggression. Before they decide they want to know just exactly what defense is necessary. Their officers—that is, the president and some of his cabinet—have told them that they should have national defense. Many of congress, the board of directors, are in favor of it. The question of whether or not proper defense will be had is a question for the people to settle through their board of directors, congress.

What constitutes adequate defense is a technical question and only can be answered by the technical experts—in this case the general staff of the army and the general board of the navy. Just as the technical experts of a railway are permitted freedom of expression on technical questions, so should the officers of the army and navy not only be permitted but be requested to tell to congress and the people the truth and what constitutes adequate national defense.

This has not been permitted. The officers of the company, the president, the secretary of war, and the secretary of the navy are without technical knowledge or experience. They, however, have decided just how much and just how little the technical experts, the army and navy, will be permitted to say. In the case of the army the matter has gone still further in that the general staff plan has been cast aside and one substituted for it gotten up primarily by the chiefs of bureau in the war department.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

B. J. writes: "Have heard some talk in this country that the infantry soldier's pack is too heavy and makes too much of a demand on a man's resistance during marching and therefore should be carried in wagons instead. This would allow the soldier to cover more ground with less fatigue and enable him to enter action with more energy. What do they do in Europe?"

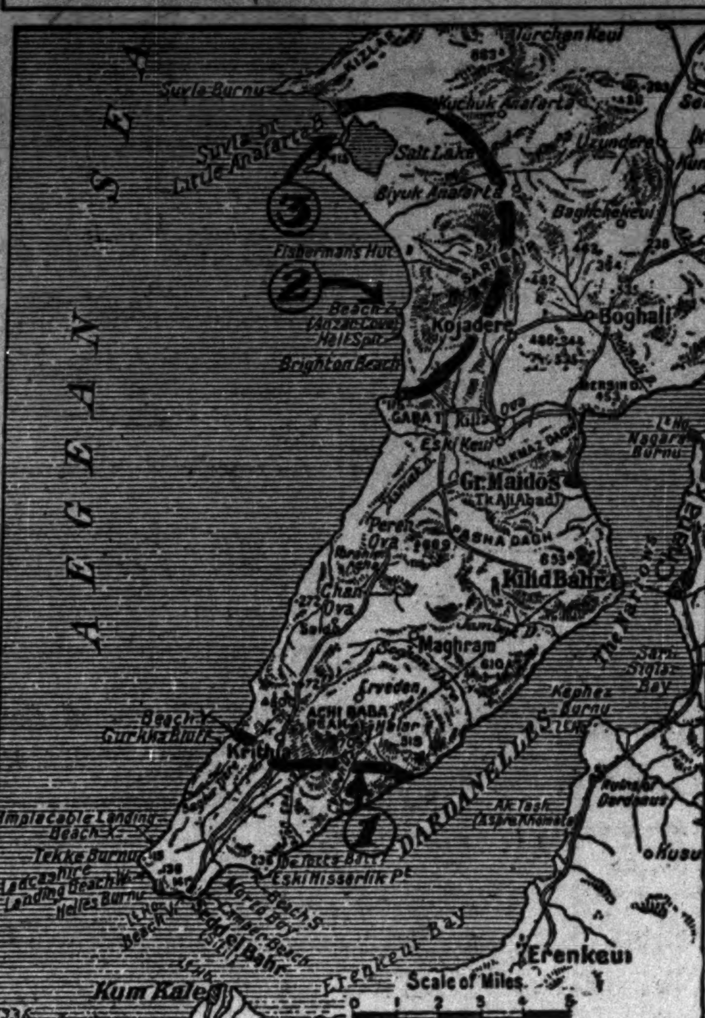
REPLY.

In all European armies the infantry soldier habitually carries his pack. When an attack is to be made the soldier takes his pack with him. There are two reasons for this. The first and most important is that frequently the wagons cannot get over the roads and reach the soldier, with the result that he must go without articles which are essential.

The second reason is that the number of vehicles needed to keep an army supplied with food and ammunition and to remove the wounded is already so great that every effort is devoted to reducing their number to the minimum absolutely necessary. While the British infantry soldier carried a heavy pack, this pack did not include a blanket nor an extra pair of shoes. The result was that when the British troops were first moved into Flanders last fall many men, particularly the wounded, suffered severely from the lack of a blanket which was in a wagon somewhere in the rear and which in many cases did not get up to the men for six and seven days. The lack of an extra pair of shoes was the result of many more cases of badly frozen feet than would have been the case had the men had an extra pair of shoes in the trenches to change to.

The French and German soldiers are never without their blankets nor an extra pair of shoes.

Map of Dardanelles Campaign.



1—The British and French forces continue to hold the Seddul Bahr front before Krithia and Achi Baba. A landing was made April 25 on both sides of the entrance to the Dardanelles. The southern shore was occupied by the French as a feint to cover the British landing at Seddul Bahr. The French forces later joined the English on Gallipoli peninsula.

2—Australians and New Zealanders early in Gallipoli operations made a landing at Anzac cove in an effort to outflank the Turks. This point was named Anzac by taking the first letters of the name of this force, known as the Australian-New Zealand army corps.

3—On the night of Aug. 8 a surprise landing was made by the British at Suvla bay in a further attempt to outflank the Turk positions defending the Narrows. An advance followed and the crest of the peninsula was reached. In conjunction with this attack the Australians and New Zealanders at Anzac advanced and pushed back the Turks so that they formed a juncture with the Suvla bay force. This new advance only failed by a narrow margin of cutting clean across the Gallipoli peninsula and for a time had the main roads between Constantinople and the forts on the Narrows under fire.

It is these hard fought positions to the northwest of the Narrows that have been abandoned. The line before Krithia and Achi Baba will be held.

Turk Officer Admits One More Attack by the Allied Fleet Would Have Succeeded.

Irresistible, and Ocean went down and five other ships were badly damaged. And yet even with the eleven remaining ships it appears from the Turkish admissions that the Dardanelles could have been forced on March 19.

Ready to Move Capital.

This was realized in the Turkish capital. The court made arrangements for its transfer to Eskishehir, Anatolia, and the German and Austro-Hungarian embassies also were ready to go to this ancient seat of the Ottoman government.

Today the Dardanelles forts have all the ammunition they can use and the position generally has been so improved and strengthened that it is considered probable that to force the straits would take more ships than the allies have.

Desert Suvla Position.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—The most serious defeat which British arms have suffered in the war is announced in the following statement regarding the campaign in the Dardanelles, issued by the war office tonight:

All the troops at Suvla and Anzac, together with their guns and stores, have been successfully transferred, with insignificant casualties, to another sphere of operations.

Without the Turks being aware of the movement, a great army has been withdrawn, although in the closest of contact with the enemy. By this contraction of the front, operations at other points of the line will be more effectively carried out.

Sir Charles Monro gives great credit for this skillfully conducted transfer of forces to the generals commanding and the royal navy.

British troops continue to occupy the tip of the peninsula at Seddul Bahr, commanding the entrance to the straits, where many British have declared a new Gibraltar will one day arise. The position here is protected by a double line of ships and it is assumed this will be held.

The war office statement leaves the public to draw its own conclusions as to the destination of the forces withdrawn, which must be well over 100,000 strong, but it is widely conjectured that any southward sweep of the Teutonic or Bulgarian armies in the Balkans, whether from the north, west, or east, will come in contact with them.

For the British public the abrupt war office statement marks the end of one of the great chapters of the war's history.

The feeling of the man in the street was generally one of relief mixed with regret. A popular half penny paper sums up the the British public's attitude as follows:

"Thus ends the enterprise on which the highest hopes were built and which, if it had succeeded, probably would have turned the tide of the war. Our troops were within a few miles of victory."

The policy underlying the Dardanelles expedition may yet be carried to a successful issue in some other quarter of the near east, but the prospect of forcing a way to Constantinople through the famous straits is apparently relinquished.

Great Cost in Lives.

Thousands of lives were sacrificed in gaining the positions now abandoned and other thousands in holding them up to this time.

The question has been discussed why the generals commanding the Dardanelles expedition did not try to make a landing near the center of the peninsula in the beginning and cut off the Turkish troops on the lower end. When the attempt was finally made to secure a foothold higher up on the peninsula the Turks were fully prepared to meet it.

One eyewitness declared that after the first battalion landed the men were shot down so thickly that the watchers aboard the ships were asking "Why don't our men advance?" and thought the troops were lying down awaiting orders. The soldiers found barbed wire entanglements stretching clear out under the water when they jumped from their small boats. To add to their sufferings, the supply of drinking water was short.

Many Die of Thirst.

Robert Blatchford, the author, in a newspaper article yesterday, asserted:

"Many of these men died of thirst. There was no ice for the wounded. There was no place ashore except in dugouts under the hillsides, where the men were ever safe from the enemy's shell fire, night or day. Numbers were sent to Malta and England suffering from dysentery or nervous collapse."

John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, said, in a speech in the house of commons, that the sufferings of the Irish troops on Gallipoli were the worst known in the present war.

An official announcement was made recently that the general responsible for the Suvla Bay operations had been removed from his command, but his identity is not yet known to the British public.

British Lose 5.9 Per Cent of Their Total Tonnage—Submarines Do the Most Damage.

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—[By Wireless to Sayville]—"It is stated on competent German authority," says the Overseas News agency, "that since the beginning of the war to the end of November, 734 enemy ships, with a tonnage of 1,447,628 tons, were destroyed.

"Of these 568, with 1,079,492 tons, were destroyed by submarines and 93, with 904,709 tons, by mines.

"Of the ships destroyed, 624, with 1,281,944 tons, were British, which means a loss of 5.9 per cent of the total British tonnage."

BULGARS TO DASH ON TO SALONIKI? TIRED OF WAITING

Greek Troops Quit Port in Anticipation of Early Invasion by Central Powers.

Sofia paper says Greece cannot expect Bulgaria's respect for neutrality will last forever and hints at early invasion. Greek troops evacuate Saloniki in expectation of attack. Montenegrins cite success over Austrians, but Berlin indicates the invasion of the tiny nation continues unchecked.

SOFIA, via London, Dec. 20.—The Echo de Bulgarie announces that the Bulgarian troops have been halted on the Greek frontier in order to avoid embarrassing the Greek government. It declares, however, it may become necessary for the German and Bulgarian armies to invade Greece in pursuit.

The paper says King Constantine recognizes that the central powers may be forced by military expediency to attempt to expel the allies and has cautioned the allies that they cannot expect Bulgaria's respect for Greek neutrality will last forever.

The remainder of the Serbian army is said to consist of 50,000 men, of whom 20,000 in scattered bands, are making their way through Albania, while 30,000 probably have effected a junction with the Montenegrins and are still fighting.

The Serbian troops in their flight are reported to have lost everything except six batteries of mountain artillery.

Greek Troops Quit Saloniki.

SALONIKI, via Paris, Dec. 20.—The highest Greek military authorities declare it to be their belief that an Austro-German attack on Saloniki is inevitable. The Greek general staff will quit Saloniki tomorrow. The last remaining Greek troops, save one infantry regiment, have been transferred to Kozani.

The parliamentary elections today passed quietly. A mere handful of voters were out. M. Venizelos, the former premier, and his adherents abstained from taking part in the elections.

Austro-German War Reports.

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—The storming of strong positions on the Tara river in Montenegro by Austrian troops is announced in the official statement of Austro-Hungarian army headquarters received here today from Vienna.

The positions taken were to the southwest of Bjelopolje and to the north of Berane. The capture of three mountain guns and two field cannon, together with 1,200 rifles, in the battles along the Tara is reported.

British Losses Put at 1,278.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—The total of British casualties resulting from the Saloniki expedition into Serbia was only 1,278.

The Saloniki correspondent of the Daily Mail telegraphs:

"Bulgarian cavalry carried out reconnaissances on Greek territory near Gumendse. The Bulgarians have concentrated in the region of Valandovo, Rabrova, and Strumnitza and have sent important forces to Albania to bar the road to the Serbians who were trying to join the Franco-British army.

Turks on Greek Frontier.

"It is stated in a reliable source that the Turks already have concentrated close to the Greek frontier, near Nevrokop, also at Kustendil (in Bulgaria) two divisions (30,000 men), including artillery and cavalry.

"Everything leads to the belief the Austrians, Germans, Bulgarians, and Turks will cross the Greek frontier when they are ready. The allies' retreat to Saloniki is completed and defensive works are being pushed on with all haste."

A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Athens, coming by way of Messina, reports that the Greek troops have occupied Doiran station and town, thus interposing themselves between the entente allies' line and the Bulgarians.

A dispatch to the Post from its Athens correspondent states that the reply of the central powers to the Greek inquiry regarding their advance into Greek territory declares all will depend on the development of military operations. The reply, the correspondent says, makes no reference to the nonutilization of Bulgarian and Turkish troops.

Massacre Aged Serbians?

SCUTARI, via Rome, Dec. 20.—Musulmans, armed by Bulgars and Austrians, are massacreing old men and attacking helpless women in Serbian Macedonia, the Serbian war office charged in an official statement.

"The cruelties and excesses are without precedent," said the official statement.

MARGUERITE BERIZA AS MONA VANNA

Matzene Photo

The war in France, always close to the heart of Mme. Marguerite Beriza, soprano with the Chicago Grand Opera company, because of her husband and brothers who are in the trenches, brought to her yesterday a thrill of pride. For the art of her husband, André Bacque, whom she married after she and Muratore separated, has been recognized officially by the French government. A letter from him, received yesterday, told how he had painted a huge picture showing the French drive in the Champagne last September, in which the French won fifteen miles of German trenches. Now the government has purchased the canvas and it will be preserved in one of the national art galleries.

AUSTRIANS TWICE BEATEN, ITALIAN WAR OFFICE SAYS.

Repulsed in Ledro Valley and in the Millegrobe District After Terrific Fighting.

ROME, via London, Dec. 20.—The official statement issued by the Italian war office tonight covering Austrian operations says:

In the Ledro valley the enemy on Saturday in groups supported by an intense and sustained artillery fire attacked our positions on Mount Coca, north of Lake Ledro. They were repulsed by our fire.

The same fate overtook a surprise attack by enemy detachments against our lines in the Millegrobe district on the plateau between the Torra and Astico valleys.

GIGANTIC PLOT MAY BE BARED IN KOENIG INQUIRY

Alleged Plan to Blow Up Welland Canal Believed Only One Phase of Activities.

New York, Dec. 20.—Information obtained by the federal authorities today from witnesses appearing before the grand jury which is investigating the alleged plot of Paul Koenig, head of the detective bureau of the Hamburg-American line, to blow up the Welland canal has widely extende dthe scope of the inquiry.

After the grand jury had adjourned for the day federal officials stated that the Welland canal plot might prove to be merely an incident in a conspiracy which extended throughout the country.

Indictments against Koenig and Richard Emil Leyendecker, the New York arts goods dealer, who was arrested with him, are expected to be returned on Wednesday and Thursday. United States Attorney Marshall admitted, however, that these indictments probably would be merely the forerunner of others to be sought from subsequent grand jury dealing with other activities of Koenig.

Gompers Appears Before Jury.

While the Koenig case was occupying the attention of one federal grand jury Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was appearing before another which is concluding its inquiry into the case of Franz von Rintelen, charged with instigating strikes in munitions factories.

After leaving the jury room Mr. Gompers declared that he knew of no instance in which any leader of organized labor had been corrupted by German agents. He intimated, however, that he had information in regard to attempts being made to bribe union heads.

Mr. Gompers will resume his testimony tomorrow, when Frank Morrison, secretary of the federation of labor, also will appear before the jury.

Mr. Gompers said his only motive in testifying was to put a stop to what he styled "unneutral and unpatriotic acts which were injuring the labor movement."

UNCOVER RUBBER PLOT.

New York, Dec. 20.—[Special.]—A plot to smuggle crude rubber from this country to Germany in the trunks of women who are engaged by Germans to travel to and from Rotterdam with a ton or so of the contraband packed in trunks classed as "personal baggage" has been discovered by agents of the department of justice and the neutrality squad of the customs service. One of the women and two men, including the alleged principal, have made a complete statement to federal officials.

LLOYD-GEORGE INVOKES LABOR

British Munitions Head Asks Assent to Recruiting Men for Arms Factories.

SEES WAR IN BALANCE.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—David Lloyd-George, minister of munitions, gave an account of his stewardship in the house of commons tonight. He said the success of the allies in the war depends on the attitude of organized labor—whether it will allow the government to recruit a sufficient number of men for the factories which the munitions department has brought into being.

"We want 80,000 skilled men and from 200,000 to 300,000 unskilled men for these new factories," he said. "We must reduce the proportion of our orders which go abroad and develop our home resources. On the supply of labor depends, I think, our success in this war.

New Campaign at Stake.

"On this depends whether we can reduce the cost of the war by scores of millions of pounds. On this depends whether we can supply our troops with the right sorts of guns and enable them to make next year's campaign a success.

"Unless organized labor allows us to put unskilled workers on the work which hitherto has been the monopoly of skilled labor, we cannot perform our task. There can be only one appeal, namely, to patriotism. Victory depends on this. Hundreds of thousands of precious lives depend on labor's answer.

"It is a question whether we are going to bring the war to an end in a year or linger along in the bloodstained path. Labor has the answer."

Faulty Situation Being Remedied.

Earlier in his speech, Mr. Lloyd-George admitted that there was a bad shortage in the British munitions supply in the first year of the war, but declared that the present situation was quite a different matter. Last May the British were turning out only 2,500 high explosive shells daily against Germany's quarter of a million.

Without giving definite figures the minister forecast the output of many guns of the largest size, and later declared that the output of machine guns had increased five fold since June, and the output of hand grenades forty fold, while more trench mortars were produced every fortnight than in the entire first year of the war.

Predicts Plenty of Explosives.

"There have been other developments of our work, which I dare not mention," he continued. "There has been valuable experimental work of a kind better not discussed. As to explosives we shall be able to continue to supply ourselves and our allies. It is too early to talk of the danger of over-production.

"In the last great battle, although there was a tremendous accumulation of ammunition, the generals stated that with thrice the quantity of ammunition they would have achieved twenty times the result. Two hundred million pounds, or the cost of only forty days of war, would produce an enormous quantity of munitions. If you had that quantity at the right moment the war might be won in forty days; whereas, without it, the war might be prolonged perhaps four hundred days.

"With regard to munitions, what is spared in money is spilled in blood. If there are risks to be taken let them be risks to the pockets of the taxpayers and not to the lives of men."

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY IN EUROPE'S BIG WAR

Russians massed troops on the narrow front before Warsaw.

U. S. S. Tennessee sailed from Alexandria for Jaffa.

MUST BOOST GERMAN TAXES TO OVERCOME BIG WAR DEBT

Secretary of Imperial Treasury Says Burden Will Be Colossal and New Levy Is Being Drafted.

BERLIN, via London, Dec. 20.—Dr. Karl Helfferich, secretary of the Imperial treasury, announced in the Reichstag today that the next budget cannot be balanced without additional income and that proposals for new taxation are now being drafted for submission to the reichstag.

The secretary declared that no matter how large a war indemnity was received the war would impose a colossal burden of taxation of the Germans and they must therefore expect greatly increased taxation after the war.

ADVOCATES OF NEUTRALITY WIN IN ELECTION IN GREECE.

Candidates of Gounaris Party Gain Majority of Seats in Parliament —Venizelos' Followers Inactive.

PARIS, Dec. 21, 3 a. m.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Athens dealing with the Greek elections says:

"Up to the present 200 members of the Gounaris party have been elected to seats in the Greek parliament. The other results thus far obtaind show that thirty adherents of M. Theotokis, twenty of former Premier Rhallis, and seven of M. Dimitracopoulos were elected. The results from sixty districts are not yet known.

"The Patris, organ of M. Venizelos, says with regard to the election:

"'Taking into account the abstentions from voting, the results of the election prove that if the Liberal party had entered the campaign its victory would have been greater than on the 13th of June last.'

"The New Himera, which voices the opinion of the opponents of M. Venizelos, maintains on the contrary that the paucity of voters was attributable to the mobilization and says that if the reservists had been able to vote they would not have given a single ballot to the followers of M. Venizelos."

To the Intending Purchaser of Pearls

In selecting a pearl or a pearl necklace you might rely wholly on your own taste, your own eyes, if color, luster, aesthetic beauty were the sole consideration determining value.

But the commercial value of pearls is not exclusively a question of beauty. The "pearl of great price" owes something to other considerations such as rarity and freedom from blemish.

In short, the price of a pearl can be authoritatively determined only by an expert in pearls—one who has traditions, training and experience to guide him.

And so the intending purchaser of pearls naturally turns to Peacock's.

First, because he finds here the finest assemblage of pearls in the city of Chicago.

Second, because he receives thoroughly expert service and truly dependable advice in selecting pearls.

Third, because he knows that the history of Peacock's—a record of more than three-quarters of a century of unimpeachable business judgment and business honor—gives him solid ground for confidence in any transaction he may have with this house.

The jewelry store of old Chicago—of new Chicago—and of all those who shop in person or by letter in Chicago.

—Stephen Decatur.

PETTY ARRESTS AND POLICE EFFICIENCY.

Chief Healey is about to issue an order of great possibilities for good in Chicago. It has been decided that persons between 17 and 21 years shall not be arrested for violations of city ordinances but summonsed to trial in the Municipal court instead. Instead of spending a night in a cell in a police station, as most of the boys arrested for petty infractions have been compelled to do in the past, and suffering the ignominy of being escorted, often handcuffed, through the corridors of the city hall they will be ordered to appear in court, under penalty of arrest if they fail.

Under the system of arrest now in use thousands of innocent youths have been humiliated or offered as prey to bondsmen each year. Eighty-five per cent of them are discharged by the court as innocent.

At a time when it seems to be a part of every man's daily duty to excoriate the police as grafters, it is encouraging to find the police officials applying intelligence to the problem of useless arrests. Under the old system the police stations are filled with persons not criminals at all and the police are compelled to spend their energies in carrying through prosecutions in tail light cases, infractions of the anti-spitting ordinance, and other relatively unimportant regulations.

The process is about as sensible as trying to shoot muskrats with forty-four centimeter guns. But there are further evils connected with the present system which can be done away with only by extending this method to infractions of ordinances by adults. The worst of them is the bondsman evil.

A man arrested for spitting on the sidewalk is arrested and booked. He must spend the night in a cell unless he can furnish a small bond. He is willing to pay well for it. The bondsman, if he is in position to keep in touch with these offenders, makes an extremely good thing out of it. Naturally he is willing to pay some one for the opportunity. Thus, if the higher officials of the police are tempted, as they seem to be, by large-scale criminals, the subordinates are tempted to make money by wholesale and indiscriminate arrests. It is as dangerous as the old system by which a constable received half a dollar for every person arrested. But whether there is graft in it or not, the citizen, innocent or guilty, suffers by it.

THE WEDDING JOURNEY.

In older days when simple life had more gusto and social habits were possibly more genial in that the safeguards of formulized society were not needed, it was the happy custom for the cousins and aunts, the uncles, and sisters, and parents, and brothers, and grandparents of a bride and groom whose union had united the families to proceed as a happy caravan on the honeymoon, attending the young people who had been joined in one.

Roadways were filled with the nuptial procession and hotels and inns, to welcome the travelers, turned out regular guests and were cold to transients in order that the celebrants might be treated with the honor and to the comfort which was their due.

The human joviality of this friendly custom disappeared with the development of railroad service. A wedding journey takes the bride like Ruth to the alien corn and the groom sees no one for whom he could buy a drink.

The wedding journey of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson suggests how, even when we revive an old custom, we inject it with the color of modernity. The president and his wife traveled not in the domesticity of uncles, cousins, and aunts, but with moving picture operators, photographers, newspaper men, and secret service operatives. The president is said to have looked upon the caravan as if a doubt of the wisdom of all modern improvements of old ways had entered his mind and was struggling there for attention.

THE HOLIDAYS AND THEIR ASSORTED ODORS.

People are apt to forget that they have noses. Unless they happen to live in the neighborhood of the stockyards, or near a cherry tree which blossoms occasionally, they do not connect their nostrils with any of their enjoyments or pains. They never think of classifying things, holidays, for instance, by the discriminating messages conveyed to their brains from their nasal passages.

But however little the subject may be regarded, most of the important festivals have a strong emotional background of odors. The charm of Christmas is reputed to be in the obvious delight of the children, in the gay colors, in the really jolly spirit of giving. Nobody thinks of smelling Christmas.

As a matter of fact, we can begin to smell it already—a week or so in advance. Mysterious packages yield the scent of new varnish on toys. Nuts and raisins, the whole commissary, in fact, rearranges itself gradually for the grand outburst of smells which mean Christmas. The candles, scented as some of them are, the fir tree in the cellar, large amount of candy, and the sachet bags which little girls fill with lavender and give to their maiden aunts, many of these are already in the houses restraining their appeal until the morning of the twenty-fifth.

As a background for it all there is the smell of snow and winter and of radiators ejecting spouts of rusty and pungent steam.

Most of the other holidays also distinguish themselves by their nasal appeal. The acrid smell of burned powder, coupled with peanuts and the other confections which make patriotic oratory palatable, would notify the deaf and blind man of the Fourth.

Thanksgiving differentiates itself from the others quite as clearly. The dry leaves have not lost all their power. Pumpkins and mincemeat and apple cider are only representatives of the vast array of dying autumn smells.

Even Memorial day finds some potency in its background of shrubs (especially the lilacs) and wreaths.

But of them all, Christmas bears with it the thickest and most expressive effluvium. Its spirit may be in giving, but its essence is in smell. We even suspect that a keen dog might detect a Good Fellow in a crowd of self-centered citizens.

EXPERT DEFENSE LEGISLATION.

Senator Sherman's letter to Emil C. Wetten, secretary of the National Security league, states with admirable force and clarity the danger which confronts legislation on defense and the course which congress ought to take to avoid it.

"I realize," says Senator Sherman with refreshing candor and good sense, "that I am not a military expert. There is only one thing I feel competent to do in this matter. It is to determine first the question whether this country shall embark upon a policy of preparedness and then follow it up with appropriations adequate to do so. When we undertake to work out the details it must be left to the military and naval experts."

This is the system in operation in every nation which has a competent defense. Our practice has been to silence, bully, censor, or ignore the expert and to legislate according to the theories or selfish interests of politicians, and the result year in and year out has been an enormous waste of public money and the continued absence of defense for the nation.

The country is now pretty well awake to our need of adequate defense. It is beginning to learn why we lack it. There probably are more men in congress that are thinking on right lines on this subject than ever before, and support for expert proposals will be substantial. Senator Chamberlain's measure for regular army increase is one of the best bills, if not the best, ever introduced by a civilian, and closely approximates the experts' views. His measure for compulsory training represents the longest step toward real national defense yet proposed. These, with the representations of the general staff, offer a sound basis for adequate defense legislation, and level headed men in both branches of congress, regardless of party, should concentrate on this principle.

The administration proposals do not provide for the minimum of defense required for security against even temporary invasion. They do not make provision for the speedy building of a fleet adequate to maintain our rights and interests against powers of equal rank. The country is ready for sound measures, and its welfare and safety demand that congress make an end to the futile and wasteful piecemeal layman's legislation of past years.

Senator Sherman has struck the keynote of adequate defense. We hope he and like minded practical men of foresight will fight it out on the lines he has laid down.

Better no legislation for defense than legislation which will delude us into a false security and leave us virtually as defenseless as we now are.

WHY PACIFISTS GIVE BATTLE.

Of course there will be fights on the peace ship. There always are fights in peace meetings. Pacifists naturally are the most contentious folk on earth. They have pride of opinion, and that, with a sense of infallibility, does not incline a person toward compromise.

Pacifists have no disposition to gather together and reason. For each pacifist certain proved and defined facts exist. They need only be stated. There cannot be argument about them. The person who does not yield to them is a crook, dolt, subserver of malign influences, pin headed imbecile, man eating shark, or some other complete work of the devil.

These are not terms of conciliation, but you will find slightly modified equivalents of them in almost any extended pacifist argument. It may be possible to unite a considerable number of people in agreement as to the desirability of obtaining a certain general result and not be able to unite them for the selection of ways and means of getting the result.

When pacifists foregather and offer counsel each pacifist brings the, for him, unalterable method of procedure. There can be no necessity of submitting methods to compromise, adjustment, and conciliation, because each is unalterably right, however it may conflict with others.

When a person joins such pride of opinion to a hasty disposition to call any one opposing that opinion all the names that an active sense of injury can suggest there is likely to be contention.

Editorial of the Day

OUR FLAG BACK ON THE SEAS.

[From the Pittsburgh Dispatch.]

The administration's government shipping bill is being very heavily bumped these days irrespective of what congress may do to it. The new American International corporation, formed for the promotion of our foreign trade, has purchased the remaining seven ships of the Pacific Mail, which will therefore continue to fly our flag. The Standard Shipbuilding company has been formed at New York and will have a plant capable, when in full operation, of turning out a steel ship each month. The shipbuilding yards of the country are enjoying a veritable boom, no less than eighty-six deep sea steamers now being constructed. As one builder says: "The notion that American capital will not go into the maritime industries is absolutely false. American capital is ready and anxious to go into any industry where permanent and reasonable profits are assured."

This has long been the contention of the Dispatch. The destruction, detention, or requisitioning of one-fourth of the world's cargo boats owing to the war and the increased demand for shipping facilities due to war orders has sent ocean freight rates soaring. This is providing an extraordinary opportunity for Americans to recover their lost place on the ocean. Rates must, of course, come down after the disturbance caused by the war has been eliminated, but that may be several years. Meanwhile we have a splendid chance to establish ourselves as ocean carriers.

Standardization of types of vessels and specialization in building will be relied upon to give American shipbuilders the same mastery enjoyed by American engineers in structural work, in the manufacture of locomotives and of motor cars. The chief thing that may discourage American capital in building up the shipping industry is the threat of governmental competition under the McAdoo bill, which, in view of the developments, should be dropped from the administration program. With private capital already undertaking the work there is no excuse for the government to spend that $50,000,000 which is so badly needed for other purposes.

A LINE O'TYPE OR TWO.

Motto: How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

SEN. CUMMINS, says a Washington dispatch, "is the originator of the phrase 'The saloon must go.'" This is nothing short of an epigram, and we look to see it in the next edition of Bartlett's More or Less Familiar Quotations.

"IS Ford less worthy of respect than Don Quixote? Is it not possible to admire, even with a smile?" Our notion is that the Don was much more interesting, as he mixed poetry with his folly, and took for companion a most diverting wretch, Sancho Panza. The passengers of the Oscar II. are a melancholy lot.

Henry IVd's.

OF course the Gentleman at the Adjacent Desk and other Teddyphobes would deny it; but to an unprejudiced person like ourself, Mr. Wilson seems to be stealing Roosevelt's stuff, trailing the Colonel about six months. Or perhaps he is buying his "preparedness" stuff from a syndicate that lifts it from the Colonel's preserves.

"ALONE, ALONE, ALL, ALL ALONE!"

Sir: Ex-President Taft spoke at Fond du Lac last night and lumbered slowly and sadly into the hotel 'bus this morning, seating his sebaceous and ponderous frame beside myself and other cracker salesmen. Nobody was there to "see him off"; arrived at the station, the 'bus driver asked to shake hands with an ex-president, after which the train pulled out for Wausau, Mr. Taft being the solitary and lonely occupant of the parlor car. If I could not be an usher on a dredge, I would wish to be an ex-pres. of these U. S. J. F. B.

MR. ASQUITH cannot stand a cut in salary, and barely gets along on his present negligible wage. What is the English equivalent of the Chautauqua circuit?

Alone at Last!

[Dispatch from Hot Springs.]

A man and his wife, earnestly seeking privacy and escape from the insistent but well wishing inquisitiveness of a democracy, arrived here today with an escort of nine secret service men, five newspaper correspondents, four moving picture camera men, two "still" photographers, special telegraphers, valet, maid, chauffeur, etc.

THE happy pair at Hot Springs may be interested—we are not—in the news that Julius Buss and Elsie Kisom of Cottage Grove, Wis., have taken out a license to live up to their names.

PHYLLIS FEAR, DIPLOMAT.

[From the Rocky Mountain House, Alb., Guide.]

On Wednesday afternoon Phyllis Fear came shyly up to our desk and said: "Will you please correct the mistake in the school report?" Upon enquiring into the matter we found Phyllis had been reported as being last in Grade IV, when she should have appeared first in Grade III. We are pleased to make the correction. Phyllis will feel better and will continue to read The Guide. On the other hand Phyllis might have come boldly in and said: "My papa wants you to stop the paper."

Do you get the idea?

AS we are not getting out a book this Christmas the next best thing we can do is to suggest something better; so we advise the purchase of "The Extra Day," by Algernon Blackwood. If you don't know the author, here is a bit of his style:

"Now, whereas a single daisy has no smell and seems a common, unimportant thing, a bunch of several hundred holds all the perfume of the spring. No flowers lie closer to the soil or bring the smell of earth more sweetly to the mind; upon the lips and cheeks they are as soft as a kitten's fur, and lie against the skin closer than tired eyelids. They are the common people of the flower world, yet have, in virtue of that fact, the beauty and simplicity of the common people. They own a subdued and unostentatious strength, are humble and ignored, are walked upon, unnoticed, rarely thought about, and never praised; they are cut off in early youth by mowing machines, yet their pain in fading is unreported, their little sufferings unsung. They cling to earth, and never aspire to climb, but they hold the sweetest dew and nurse the tiniest little winds imaginable. Their patience is divine. They are proud to be the carpet for all walking, running things, and in their universal service is their strength. The rain stays longer with them than with grander flowers, and the best sunlight goes to sleep among them in great pools of fragrant and delicious heat. The daisies are a stalwart little people altogether."

The Life of the Party.

Sir: Why Does Doc Evans so ruthlessly knock all pleasure-giving habits and threaten us with hardening of the arteries? He revives near-drowned folks with chemicals instead of a hot toddy, lest the victim enjoy the toddy. He overlooks the fact that tobacco soothes the domestic grouch, makes matrimony possible, and stimulates the creative faculties. Doesn't he know that Shakespeare never put over a box office success till Walt Raleigh gave him smoking lessons?

ADD HORRORS OF WAR.

[From the Dowagiac, Mich., Press.]

The following verses were written by H. L. Chapman, the well known Marcellus manufacturer:

Oh yes, there has been rulers
That wanted all the world,
Amassed their mighty armies
With battle flags unfurled,
They set their soldiers fighting
In awful horrid war,
The men that shot their brothers
Did not know-what-for.

A hundred million dollars
Would only be a speck,
Compared with all the billions
Of battle waste and wreck,
The burden on the children
That's caused by such a war,
Will make them slaves for ever
They don't know-what-for.

Then rouse ye all for freedom—

"Too Late to Classify."

Sir: While traveling on the Pennsylvania Limited I gave the porter a bill with which to buy some refreshment, to be brought to my compartment. In due time he returned with the food and some change. When I attempted to tip him he declined with, "Ah—Ah got mine." Does this classify as business honesty or southern chivalry? L. M.

HEALTH RULES.

THE following Washington health rules, twelve in number, were formulated, adopted, and copyrighted by the Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis of Washington, D. C.:

1. GOOD AIR. Avoid badly ventilated, badly lighted, dusty, dirty, overheated, crowded, or damp rooms.

2. AVOID HOUSE DUST. Breathing dust, notably house dust, often causes disease. Have no tacked down carpets and mattings. Have loose pieces of rugs, and clean them frequently outdoors. Use a hair broom for your floors and keep lower sashes closed while sweeping or dusting. Open upper sashes if possible. Never sweep rooms with a broom that raises dust.

3. PURE WATER. Drink pure water. Avoid water from shallow and unprotected wells and from ponds and streams. If in doubt boil the water. Washington water is safe to drink. Avoid public drinking cups.

4. SAFE MILK AND CREAM. Tuberculosis, typhoid fever, and other diseases are often caused by drinking raw milk and raw cream. Get milk properly pasteurized, or home pasteurize it or simply scald it. All cream, including that used for ice cream and butter, should be properly pasteurized to be safe.

5. SLEEP. Get enough sleep. Sleep with windows open, or, better still, outdoors.

6. KEEP CLEAN. Take a bath or sponge daily, and a warm bath, followed by a cold splash, plunge, or shower, once or twice a week or oftener. Use soap freely. Wash your hands before handling food. Don't put fingers, money, paper, or pencils in your mouth. Don't bite your finger nails.

7. FOOD. Don't eat food that has been exposed to flies or dust or touched by unclean hands. Raw fruit or vegetables so exposed should first be rinsed or washed thoroughly. Chew your food well.

8. BREATHING AND EXERCISE. Breathe through your nose. Practice deep breathing. Sit and stand erect. Take plenty of outdoor exercise, but avoid excess in athletics; it may cause heart trouble. Don't eat or drink when overheated by exercise.

9. CARE OF THE TEETH. Clean your teeth in the morning and at bedtime; use a brush and prepared chalk. Teeth decay principally during the night. A quarter teaspoonful of milk of magnesia taken without water and kept in the mouth just before retiring will help to preserve the teeth. This applies even to young children. Teeth should be frequently inspected by a dentist.

10. LIQUOR AND TOBACCO. Avoid tobacco and liquors. They are especially injurious to the young.

11. DON'T NEGLECT COLDS. Do not neglect coughs or colds. If you do not get well soon go to a doctor or dispensary for treatment. Never cough, sneeze, or breathe into another person's face. Don't spit on floors or sidewalks.

12. SUNSHINE. Admit plenty of sunshine into your houses and into your lives. Cultivate cheerfulness and kindliness; it will help you to resist disease. Your mind acts on your body.

HYGIENE HELPS THE STRONG TO REMAIN STRONG, THE WEAK TO BECOME STRONG, AND, BY PREVENTING SICKNESS, LENGTHENS THE AVERAGE SPAN OF HUMAN LIFE.

NOSEBLEED.

M. J. C. writes: "For the last month I have been troubled daily with a bleeding nose. At times, generally when I am hot or when I wash my face with hot water, a few drops of blood comes from my nose. At other times I may be sitting at my desk writing when my nose commences to bleed drop by drop. The blood will never come fast, but if I leave it bleed without trying to stop it it will bleed for five or ten minutes and then stop.

"This, as you will readily understand, is very troublesome and annoying. Will you kindly give me your advice as to what remedy should be used?"

REPLY.

To bathe your face in cold water, drawing some of it into your nostrils—doing this every morning—may bring relief, but my advice is that you see a physician. Am sure an examination will show a bleeding point in your nose. It may be a polyp, a tumor of some other variety, an ulcer, or a varicose vein. This bleeding point should be touched with caustic or otherwise treated.

ECZEMA OF HANDS.

R. W. writes: "When I was 60 years old I developed eczema in the palms of my hands. I took X-ray treatments every other day for two weeks. This cured me and my hands have remained free from eczema for five years."

REPLY.

We print your letter, since it will serve to call attention to one method of treating eczema suitable for many cases. But readers with trouble in the palms of the hands should be certain the disease is eczema before taking treatment. Many cases of so-called eczema of the palms are syphilis and require specific treatment.

HYPERTROPHIED TONSILS.

Mrs. W. E. S. writes: "I am advised by school inspector that my little daughter, age 8 years, is suffering from hypertrophied tonsils. Kindly tell me, through your columns, what hypertrophied tonsils are. Does it interfere with the general health and development of the child? What treatment is usually given?"

REPLY.

Enlarged tonsils are hypertrophied tonsils. Enlarged tonsils are reasonably certain to interfere with the general health and development of the child. Removal of the tonsils is the treatment frequently given. Massage, cleaning, and treating of the tonsils are better adapted to certain cases.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1915: By the Brentwood Co.]

LORD SUDELEY has been hard hit by the present war. His youngest son was killed as an officer of the Scots guards at the front in France last winter, and now his second son, Maj. the Hon. Algernon Hanbury Tracy of the Royal Horse guards, has suddenly succumbed in London to heart failure, while engaged in his military duties. Lord Sudeley's eldest son is at the front with the Irish guards.

Lord Sudeley is a veteran of the Crimean war, in which he took part as a midshipman at the age of 14, served Queen Victoria as lord in waiting and as captain in command of her bodyguard of gentlemen at arms, and after going through the campaign against China fifty years ago retired from the navy and became a member of the bar, enjoying an excellent practice until he was called by the death of his brother to succeed to the family honors and estates. He also sat for a short time in the house of commons.

Considering himself debarred from the exercise of the legal profession when he became a member of the house of lords, which is the highest tribunal of the realm, he turned his attention to other forms of activity. Organizing huge fruit farms on his estates in England and Wales and in the colonies, he became one of the greatest manufacturers of jams in the United Kingdom, turning out thousands of tons a year of his so-called "Beach Glass Jar Brand," and interested himself in all sorts of other industrial and commercial enterprises.

The Murietta crash, followed by the Baring crisis, however, embarassed him so greatly that he came to grief. Of the twenty-three joint stock companies with which he was identified, either as a leading director or as president, no less than nineteen were forced into liquidation, and if four alone survive, one of them in a completely reorganized and reconstructed form, it is, according to unkind comment in financial circles in London, because the concern took the precaution of jettisoning this titled Jonah. Today he no longer figures on any board of directors—possibly because of his reputation as a hoodoo.

It is only fair to him to state that he was never one of those peers known as "guinea pigs," who lend their names in return for cash to financial schemes about which they know nothing in order to serve as a bait to credulous investors. All the companies with the management of which he was connected were bona fide concerns, and he took a very active part in their administration. That was just the trouble.

His bankruptcy was one of the sensations of about twenty years ago. But he has long since secured his discharge and recovered his seat in the house of lords, from which, as is well known, bankrupt peers are excluded. Moreover, he is now quite well off; for Lady Sudeley is a very rich woman in her own right, since she inherited several million dollars from her father, the Hon. Frederick James Tollemache, younger brother of the eighth Earl of Dysart. Unfortunately this wealth only came after Lord Sudeley's financial reverses, too late, therefore, to save him from the sacrifice of the family estates, especially his ancestral home, Teddington park, in Gloucestershire, one of the most superb Gothic residences in the United Kingdom.

Lord Sudeley's patronymic is Hanbury, and he has a common ancestor with Lord Bateman in that Henry de Hanbury who was lord chief justice of Ireland in the reign of Edward II. The Sudeley peerage dates from the second year of the Victorian era, when it was bestowed upon Charles Hanbury of Teddington park in connection with his marriage with the only child and heiress of the last Viscount Tracy, who was himself descended from the old time Lords de Sudeley. One of Lord Sudeley's sisters, by the bye, is the Hon. Mrs. Charles Henry Maude, mother of Cyril Maude, the English actor who is so well known on this side of the Atlantic. Cyril Maude is a great-grandson of the first Viscount Hawarden, the present Lord Hawarden being the head of the house of Maude.

It would be difficult to find a more up to date mandarin than Tang Shao-Yi, the father of the new mistress of the Chinese legation at Washington, for Dr. Wellington Koo, who has just presented his credentials to President Wilson as envoy from the government at Peking, is a son-in-law of Tang, who has been probably the ablest and most progressive of all the lieutenants of Yuan-Shi-Kai. A native of Canton, he is a graduate of Columbia college, in New York, and though he has given up driving about the streets of the Chinese metropolis in a dog cart, with a magnificent bulldog, a son of Rodney Stone, beside him, and no longer entertains his friends at poker parties—he is an adept at poker—yet he still remains, despite his assumption of conservatism, a remarkably enlightened oriental.

His manner is a curious blend of American free and easiness with the orthodox hauteur of Chinese officialdom. Other officials educated abroad, like for instance Dr. Wu of witty memory, seem to revert naturally to the ancient immutable order of things Chinese, becoming part of the picture. But imagination somehow falters at the thought of Tang performing kotow before the dragon throne or leaving affairs of state to repair his ancestral tombs.

At the time of the Boxer rebellion he was director of the Northern railroad, and the practical experience which he has acquired of the railroad business has rendered him the greatest railroad magnate of China. His office, however, brought him into conflict with Admiral Sir Edward Seymour during the Boxer rebellion; for, in consequence of his refusal to authorize the use of the Northern Railroad company's locomotives by the international relief expedition to Peking, he was lodged in jail by order of Sir Edward. His subsequent release was due to the personal intervention of Gen. Wogak, commander of the Russian military contingent.

Perhaps it is owing to this that he has never been particularly friendly towards Great Britain, and it cannot be denied that he displayed prejudice against it in his handling of the negotiations in connection with Tibet, both at Peking and at Calcutta.

So much speculation has been indulged in as to the methods employed by the Germans of dispatching their submarines, especially the smaller ones, to the Black sea and to the Mediterranean, it being conjectured that they must have either gone by the way of the Bay of Biscay and the Straits of Gibraltar or else have been conveyed piecemeal by rail and then put together at Stamboul or at Pola, in the Adriatic, that it is strange that no one should have remembered that an inland water route exists from the Rhine to the Black sea.

MUST FILE STATEMENT WITH ELECTION COMMISSIONERS.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Am I supposed to register my house as a rooming house? I am the owner and have sixteen rooms, twelve of which are rented. Also am I supposed to fill out the election forms?

PROPERTY OWNER.

Inasmuch as we are rapidly approaching the season during which it will be necessary to file a list of guests or lodgers, it might serve some good purpose to inclose for publication the following section of the law: "The landlord, keeper, or manager of every lodging house, boarding house, inn, hotel, or tavern, in such city, village, or incorporated town, shall, not less than twenty-eight [28] nor more than thirty [30] days prior to every election, file with the election commissioners a written statement, sworn to by him, giving the full name of every person residing in his lodging house, boarding house, inn, hotel, or tavern, the period of such continuous residence of such person, ending at the date of such statement, the number of the room, bed, or cot that such person occupies, and the period for which such person engaged board or lodging, and such other information as the election commissioners may, by due regulation, designate. Any landlord, keeper, or manager of any lodging house, boarding house, inn, hotel, or tavern, neglecting or failing to comply with the provisions of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding $100 nor less than $25."

RESIDENTS NOTIFIED TO STOP DUMPING.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I believe and so do some of my neighbors that something should be done to make people stop dumping their ashes and throwing old tin cans, waste paper, etc., in the vacant lot on the northeast corner of Marshfield and Cornelia avenues. It is an eyesore to people who look out of their windows and see such a dump.

M. C. MARTINI, 1615 Cornelia avenue.

The lot complained of has been cleaned and notices served on surrounding residents to stop dumping there in the future.

RAILROAD NOTIFIED TO PROTECT CROSSINGS.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I would like to ask you if something could be done towards having more protection at the C., R. I. & P. railway crossing at Eighty-ninth and Ada streets and Eighty-ninth and Loomis streets. I have written to our aldermen, but have received no reply. Besides all the suburban trains of the Rock Island line and the passenger and freight trains of the B. & O. R. R., the Pere Marquette line has recently begun to run its passenger trains over these tracks. You may see that this would call for many trains a day. The public school is located in the block just north of the tracks and many children must cross them daily to and from school. May we not have protection now before a fatal accident forces this matter on the public?

GUY E. KILLIE, 8940 South Ada street.

This department has notified the railroad company to install gates and detail flagmen at the crossings mentioned.

PROPERTY OWNERS PROTESTED IMPROVEMENT.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—[To the Friend of the People.]—It will be of interest to many if you will inform them if the board of local improvements is acting in accordance with its duties by causing to lay dormant indefinitely an act to abandon the improvement of an alley when it knows that its act must be legalized by a council order. The above condition applies to an alley bounded by Ohio and Erie streets, Waller and Menard avenues, and also to another nearby alley, which has been held up for nearly two months, regardless of the pressure that has been brought on it to either present its action to the council for action or to proceed with the paving.

C. B. STANFORD, 5718 Ohio street.

When the above improvement was ordered at the public hearing held on Feb. 17, 1914, a majority of the property owners filed a protest which held the proceedings up for one year. At the end of the year we continued with the proceedings, prepared, and sent the ordinance to the council, and filed the assessment roll on Sept. 13, 1915, under docket No. 40024 in the County court. On Oct. 2, 1915, a majority of the property owners again protested against the improvement, and thereupon the proceedings were held up. The property owners have not the legal right to hold up proceedings by protest except within a certain time after the public hearing, but there are so many improvements required by property owners which we are unable to make fast enough, that it is not the policy of this board to force improvements against the wishes of the majority unless there is a pressing necessity.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

A WORD FOR FORD.

New York, Dec. 18.—Editor of The Tribune.]—Henry Ford has been called a jackass and a clown because he hired a ship and sailed across the sea to stop the most frightful slaughter in the history of the world.

But to me the big thing in his action is not the question of whether he will or will not stop the war, but the fact that he is willing to try! It was by trying that he got where he is. And still he keeps on trying!

In the face of overwhelming odds, in spite of the world-wide criticism, he is willing to tackle the greatest job that ever fell to the lot of a human being in the world's history. He brushes aside the thousands of columns of newspaper criticism, he ignores the public utterances of so-called statesmen, he sets his face toward the most glorious goal that any man ever hoped to achieve—and goes on his way, trying!

They say he is doing it to advertise his automobile. But still he goes on trying! They say his riches have turned his head. But still he tries! They say he never did anything but promote a good automobile engine, and they ask what right he has to undertake the work of diplomats! The present war is the result of a most gigantic failure of diplomacy, and the fact that Henry Ford is willing to try a thing in which the great diplomats of the world have failed only adds to the bigness of his trying!

So far as I know, he is the only person who has taken a definite step toward ending the war. True, it may not be the right step. But how are we ever going to find the right step until we try? The men who sit in swivel chairs and sneer and make funny jokes about that man Ford are not taking steps of any kind to end the war.

Ye gods! what a nation this would be if each industry could be headed by a Ford who was willing to try! What chance would any other nation under the sun have in competition with us? What if more of us were willing to try, and less of us were slaves of convention and creatures of habit?

CARL LAEMMLE,
President Universal Film Company.

BE JUST AND FEAR NOT.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your editorial, "Belgium and Greece," contains a gross misstatement of facts. You say, "Belgium did not want to be involved in a quarrel that was none of hers, and neither does Greece," but you do not state that Greece invited the allies through her prime minister and would have joined the allies long ago but for the kaiser's brother-in-law, who has overridden her constitutional government and arbitrarily prevented the Greek nation from aiding Serbia and the allies.

Be just and honest and state the facts.

I. PEOLES.

THE TRADE IN ARMS.

Goshen, Ind., Dec. 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—A petition praying that the trade in arms and munitions with the allied nations be stopped for humanity's sake has been circulated locally through the agency of a pastor acting for an eastern woman who claims to have no prejudices.

No response greeted a letter which was written to this woman asking that she have the fact that the petition is not pro-German verified by men of national standing. Of course she is an ultra pro-German worker.

Now, why should widespread and persistent efforts be made to stop a traffic which is nothing if not legitimate? Many lines of industry in this country have been paralyzed since the European scrap was started and it is up to us to make the best of conditions for which we are in no way responsible.

Do we trade in munitions of war with England simply because England is our customer? It is no more than in furtherance of our own interests that we accept an opportunity to keep thousands of our men in employment.

To me the final answer to the hectic denunciations of the German sympathizer who deprecates our trade with the allies is: If you were engaged in a hand to hand death struggle with a powerful antagonist and a pistol (United States war supplies) were at hand, would you disdain to use it? Germany would jump at the chance and would regard refusal to trade with her as an unfriendly act.

CARLTON REMBAR

PRESIDENT AND PLOTTERS.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Can you tell me a good reason for Mr. S. Loeb and other Germans to rail at our president for his utterances against hyphenated plotters? I am sure he makes no distinction in favor of any country. He is very much aroused over the terrible plots in our loved land and if Mr. Loeb, or any Germans, are angry because of his wrath at plotters they are no better than the plotters themselves. Away with sympathy for any country that plots against America! We cannot take too firm a stand.

G FINANCIERS PICK ROOSEVELT TO BEAT WILSON

n't Like Policies of White ouse Incumbent and Want Him Whipped at Any Cost.

New York, Dec. 20.—[Special.]—From the statements, counter statements, and mysterious silences with which inquiries regarding the significance of the Gary dinner to Roosevelt were met these things became apparent:

Some high financiers of the group represented at the dinner want Woodrow Wilson beaten at the polls next November at all costs, and hence seek a reunion of the Progressives and the Republicans.

The same financiers, particularly those interested in the manufacture of munitions, desire a much larger measure of preparedness than the present administration contemplates.

Col. Roosevelt and the inner ring of the Progressives want Col. Roosevelt nominated by the Republicans this year as a basis for a reunion of the Progressives and the Republicans.

Want to Pass on Ticket.

In any event, if Wilson is to be beaten and a larger preparedness program assured, the Roosevelt forces demanded, as the price of their support, the right to pass on the Republican ticket.

When it was recalled to Mr. Lindabury that he had done much to make Woodrow Wilson governor of New Jersey and something, perhaps, to aid Mr. Wilson's presidential campaign, he replied:

"I suppose that's true, but," with a smile, "I'll never do it again; I'll never do it again."

Real Billion Dollar Dinner.

Whatever its political results may be, the feast given by the head of the steel trust to the former head of the United States will go down in history as Gary's billion dollar dinner.

It would perhaps not be an exaggeration to say that one-tenth of the entire wealth of the United States, which is estimated a $120,000,000,000, is, directly or indirectly, in the stewardship of the seventeen men who came together last Friday to spend a pleasant evening with the former president. The estimates are:

George F. Baker, banker; fortune estimated at $400,000,000. Represents corporations worth $3,464,717,777.

August Belmont—Fortune estimated at $20,000,000. Represents corporations worth $170,150,000.

C. A. Coffin—Fortune estimated at $10,000,000. Conservative estimate of the interests he represents would be $213,135,000.

Represents Standard Oil.

George B. Cortelyou—Wealth $1,000,000. Real representative of the Standard Oil company.

E. C. Converse—Fortune estimated at $50,000,000. Represents corporations worth $980,000,000.

Elbert H. Gary—Fortune estimated at $50,000,000. Represents Steel corporation worth $868,583,600 exclusive of the bonds.

Daniel Guggenheim—Wealth estimated at $80,000,000; head of the great copper producing and refining interests worth $1,500,000,000.

A. Barton Hepburn—Fortune estimated at $1,000,000. Estimated in Wall street he represents $1,500,000,000 of wealth.

Frank B. Kellogg—Lawyer of St. Paul. Mr. Kellogg's fortune is generally regarded as comparatively small.

Richard V. Lindabury—Counsel for the Steel corporation. Adviser of billions of dollars of wealth.

Clarence H. Mackay—Fortune $50,000,000. Probably represents $250,000,000.

George W. Perkins—Estimated wealth $20,000,000. He represents approximately $500,000,000 outside the steel trust.

Jacob H. Schiff—Estimated wealth $100,000,000. Estimated he represents $2,000,000,000.

Cornelius Vanderbilt—Wealth estimated at $30,000,000. Represents $1,500,000,000.

Frank A. Vanderlip—Fortune $20,000,000. Represents wealth substantially in excess of $2,000,000,000.

Henry Walters—Wealth estimated at $50,000,000; represents $1,000,000,000.

Frederick W. Whitridge—Wealth estimated at $500,000; controls interests worth $100,000,000.

NEW BOOM FOR ROOSEVELT.

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 20.—Blank petitions to place the name of former President Theodore Roosevelt on the primary ballot as the Republican candidate for president were received by Republican leaders here today. The petition blanks were mailed from Flint in plain envelopes, and no one here appeared to know the identity of the sender.

JUST BOYS

But They Are Worth Saving, so Boy Brothers Take Them in Tow.

"IT'S easy for boys to get along with boys of their own age," Capt. Wesley Westbrook explained. "And I don't see how this experiment can fail."

Capt. Westbrook was commenting on the fact that he had just turned over to the Boys' Brotherhood republic seven boys accused of stealing blankets from a peddler. A committee of three of the boys went over to the Maxwell street station in the evening, decided they could find jobs for two of the offenders and provide for the moral uplift of all of them.

Four of the youngsters who are over 14, and thus eligible for membership in the republic, will be taken in, including Nicholas and Carmin Trimor of 834 Jefferson street, for whom jobs will be obtained. Three others, too young for membership in the republic, will join the Junior Progressive association.

Ralph Goodman, mayor of the model city, together with Louis Feinberg, assistant prosecutor, and Irving De Hol, chairman of the investigating committee, were in the delegation that called on the boy prisoners. What happened when boy met boy was not made public.

"We just told them about our republic," said the mayor, "and they were a little nervous. But I guess they finally saw we weren't going to hurt them, so they finally agreed to our plan."

DARK HORSE ON INSIDE TRACK TO POSTMASTER JOB

Lewis-Harrison-Dunne People Fail to Get Together on One Candidate.

Roger C. Sullivan has quit fighting, the Lewis-Harrison-Dunne combination has been unable to get anywhere, and the chances are a dark horse will be nominated for postmaster of Chicago.

Congressman Sabath brought back the word from Washington yesterday that Postmaster General Burleson even has not been informed of the intention of Gov Dunne, Senator Lewis, and former Mayor Harrison to agree upon some German-American, who shall, forthwith, take Postmaster Campbell's job.

Big Row Stirred Up.

The row stirred up through the attempts of the Dunne-Lewis-Harrison combination to pick upon some candidate, named by the former mayor, seems to have changed any program which Senator Lewis may have suggested.

The repeated gossip that the privilege had been extended to former Mayor Harrison to choose Chicago's next postmaster seems to have been dissipated and the conference scheduled for this week between the Dunne-Lewis-Harrison leaders is likely to start with a new list of possibilities.

Await Chicago Agreement.

The word from Washington, substantiated by Congressman Sabath's statement, is that the postoffice authorities have taken no forward step, awaiting some sort of an agreement in Chicago. Chicago Democrats are as far away from a compromise as they have been at any time since President Wilson's inauguration, it is learned.

Medill McCormick returned from the east, soft-pedaling all flying rumors that there is already a plan to produce Col. Roosevelt as a solution of an expected deadlock in next June's Coliseum convention.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES.

The war department has been unofficially advised that Lieut. Edward L. Dyer of the coast artillery, on three months' leave of absence, is detained in Singapore as a German spy, having neglected to obtain a passport on leaving the Philippines.

An executive proclamation designating Jan. 1, 1916, as a day for making contributions for the relief of the stricken inhabitants of Poland, was issued from the White House. The fund raised will be administered by the American Red Cross, to which donations should be addressed.

Two Couples Held.

Jackson Kincaid, a bartender; Frank Price, Emma Price, and Margaret Sheap were arrested yesterday on charges of larceny and receiving stolen property. The men are accused of stealing $400 worth of women's apparel and giving it to the women.

"WHEN the day closes and I draw down the curtains it sometimes seems that a tender little piece is what I want. So I often take the dainty little 'Humoresque' of Dvorak's—a difficult piece perhaps on the piano—but on the Pianola—!

"My wife tells me I play the 'Humoresque' with really delightful feeling—I who never knew a note of music, whose stiff fingers never would have learned to play a note on the old-fashioned pianoforte. A gentle pressure of my feet upon the pedals and all the pretty tenderness of the beautiful melody is reflected in the sound. Now I move the Metrostyle lever to the left to keep the slow, slow languor of it. Now I move it to the right, and all the charming, humorous playfulness of this little gem lilts briskly along. Here the Themodist, without thought from me, brings the delicate melody out, not loudly but with just the proper emphasis. Here the Sustaining Pedal device gives it the lovely singing tone. The instrument sounds human—so exquisite is its response. There is nothing of the hard, precise quality of the ordinary player piano. It is reflecting absolutely the subtlest color of my music feeling. It is teaching me to interpret. It is helping me to gain musical effects too complex for me to think about.

"And my practice on the Pianola has been so short and so enjoyable and easy. And I have the satisfaction of producing music which is real; of accomplishing something—of actually playing so that my wife and friends love to listen to me."

Important:

You should understand that there is but one Pianola; it is made only by the Aeolian Company; it is sold in this city only at this store; and is obtainable in the following models:

The PIANOLA
Enables you to play the piano well

Have you ever stopped to wonder why the Pianola has become so well-known in such a short time? Perhaps you do not know that in every civilized country in the world it is just as popular as it is here.

It is because the Pianola is a really marvelous instrument with which you can not only play the piano—but play it with truly musical feeling. This is the important part, and this is why the Pianola has been endorsed by every great musician of the world, and why it differs so immeasurably from all the so-called player pianos which try to imitate it.

We are sole representatives of the genuine Pianola in this city. We would like to play the Pianola for you—show you wherein it differs from the player-pianos sold at other stores—and we cordially tender you an invitation to visit our Warerooms at your convenience.

GOOD FELLOWS, WON'T YOU HELP THESE CHILDREN?

Mother Dies of Starvation, Leaving Eight Little Ones to Sad Christmas.

GOOD FELLOW BORN EVERY MINUTE.

The largest number of Good Fellow offers ever disposed of by THE TRIBUNE in a single day were handled yesterday. Here are the figures:

Good Fellows supplied with names of needy families....	233
Homes cared for............	342
Children cared for............	1,098
Total persons cared for (children and parents)........	1,611

A woman who lives on Drexel boulevard called up THE TRIBUNE'S Good Fellow department yesterday.

"I have been a Good Fellow in a small way for several years," she said, "and have had a bit of other experience in charity work, but I found today the saddest case I have ever known.

"I have just come from the S. home in West Forty-seventh street. I went to arrange for providing with a little Christmas cheer—and found that Mrs. S. had dropped dead of starvation a few hours before I arrived. There was no doubt about the cause of death. Two physicians had been there and had agreed that it was lack of nourishment, pure and simple.

Eight Motherless Children.

"Mrs. S. was the mother of eight children. They are left out there now, absolutely helpless except for what aid the neighbors can give, and except for what little I have done.

"I have had the 2 year old baby sent to the tuberculosis sanitarium to be examined. If it is not tubercular I shall adopt it. But that is about all I can do and the other seven children must be provided for. Above all, right now, they must be given some sort of a Christmas. They must be helped to forget."

Come On, Good Fellow.

The Good Fellow department is ready to put any Good Fellow in touch with that kindly woman on Drexel boulevard. She has a telephone and will be glad to tell you just what she thinks can be done for those eight little orphans.

A flood of Good Fellowship is pouring in during these last days of the pre-Christmas campaign.

One man, for example, asked THE TRIBUNE for the names of twenty needy children. He said that he will not only give them a Christmas dinner at his home, but will take them downtown for a Christmas eve party at one of the big theaters and then carry them to their homes in a squadron of automobiles.

Candy Man Is Touched.

Another, the general manager of one of the largest candy concerns in Chicago, mailed in a page torn from last Sunday's rotogravure section and containing the picture of a little smudgy faced girl and the legend, "When a feller needs a friend." This note was enclosed:

"If you will kindly have the enclosed 100 labels addressed to 100 little 'fellows' like the inclosed we will mail to each a box of Christmas candies to arrive Christmas morning."

The labels are big ones, too—and they'll carry big boxes.

Chicago is full of Good Fellows, and the total is mounting amazingly on the lists, but there are still thousands of boys and girls who won't have even the tiny ghost of a Christmas if a lot of people don't come to the rescue in the next three days.

Don't wait until the last moment to fill out that blank or make that Good Fellow telephone call. The last moment is NOW.

SHE LIKES TURKEY.

Ellen and five brothers and sisters won't have Christmas dinner if Good Fellows don't provide it.

Ellen R.'s father died last August, leaving his family penniless. The mother and six children live in four small basement rooms on the southwest side. Ellen, who is the oldest girl, loves to go to school, but she cannot indulge her whim with any great regularity, for she is usually needed at home to look out for the younger children while her widowed mother is away at work. What do you say, Good Fellows? Shall the R. kiddies have a Christmas dinner?

USES DICTAGRAPH TO TRAP HOTEL PROPRIETOR.

Head of Committee of Fifteen Gets Interesting Data from Dave Smith Over Hidden Wires.

Samuel P. Thrasher, superintendent of the Committee of Fifteen, proposes to set off a lyddite bomb at the session of the Hotelkeepers' Protective association tonight, let the chips fall where they may. In this he is going to be assisted by Mr. Dave Smith, proprietor of a North Clark street hotel called the Meta, but Mr. Smith doesn't know it.

The bomb will be a transcript of a dictagraph record, supported by stenographers' reports and other corroboration. The transcript will be a record of the words of Mr. Smith spoken impromptu and likewise unawares. For if Mr. Smith had known of the dictagraph it is doubtful if he would have been so voluble.

Smith, in the course of the last two years was raided by investigators from the office of Second Deputy Funkhouser.

STUCKART SETS RECORD FOR INTEREST RETURNS.

County Treasurer Closes First Year with More Money Turned Over to City than Predecessors.

Interest amounting to $271,355.79 was voluntarily turned over to the public funds yesterday by County Treasurer Henry Stuckart, who closed his first year in office with a record of having paid over more money to the city as its share of the taxes than any treasurer in the history of Cook county.

Mr. Stuckart also established a precedent in the brief communication which he delivered to the county board in the afternoon by declaring that his books are open for an audit.

Altogether, the city has received $30,005,000 from the county treasurer up to Dec. 1. There is approximately $1,000,000 more which cannot be paid out because of a suit which is pending.

This is about $1,480,000 more than Treasurer Stuckart's predecessor collected for the city last year.

soldiers, suddenly descended upon the building and tore down the flag. One officer, who said he was a former deputy sheriff in Kansas City, exclaimed to Forbes:

"I know that rag. It's only good enough to scare Mexicans—not Bulgars."

Several soldiers sprang upon Forbes, according to the report received by Red Cross officials here. In the struggle an officer struck him with the butt of his sword.

ASK HELP OF VOPICKA.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—At the instance of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the state department cabled tonight to Charles J. Vopicka, United States minister to Bulgaria, to spare no effort to obtain protection for Mrs. Walter Farwell, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE correspondent.

It is stated that the two Americans were safe on last Wednesday, but that the situation was threatening. On Thursday THE TRIBUNE Washington correspondent received through Ambassador von Bernstorff a wireless message from the Berlin foreign office stating that Mrs. Farwell was "safe in Monastir." That was in reply to an inquiry the ambassador addressed to Berlin on behalf of THE TRIBUNE.

At the request of THE TRIBUNE, however, the department cabled instructions to Minister Vopicka to inquire as to the safety of Mrs. Farwell and to obtain permission for her to leave Monastir if she desires.

LAST WORD FROM WRITER.

The latest direct word received by THE TRIBUNE concerning Mrs. Mildred Farwell came in a letter from John T. McCutcheon, dated Saloniki, Nov. 17, saying:

"Mildred Farwell is staying in Monastir and sent me today the letter which I enclose. She is with some Americans there and I feel that she will be in no danger if the Bulgarians take the city, although she may be cut off from Saloniki. She is going to nurse in one of the hospitals, as well as get some excellent newspaper stuff."

Mrs. Farwell's letter, inclosed in Mr. McCutcheon's communication, was as follows:

"Monastir, Nov. 15.—The situation here is hourly becoming more serious.

"The Bulgarians are said to be coming in from the north, as well as east. The air is full of rumors—amongst others that the castle Marco Kralo is already in Bulgarian hands.

"Col. Nickish has advised the eight members of the sanitary commission who arrived here today to leave at once.

"Mr. and Mrs. Clark of the American mission, two teachers from the American school, Sister Theda, an English Red Cross nurse; Miss Mitchell, Dr. Forbes, and I will be the only foreigners left in Monastir. We women are going to help Dr. Forbes at the military hospital when the Serbian Red Cross evacuates it, which they expect to do the day after tomorrow."

VICE RAMPANT IN BALTIMORE, REPORT SHOWS

Big Traffic in Babies; No Check on Immorality Since Resorts Were Closed.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 20.—In an exhaustive, detailed report the state-wide vice commission named by Gov. Goldborough in January, 1913, today made public the results of its inquiry.

Probably the most sensational of the features dealt with in the report is the alleged traffic in babies. It is asserted that investigators found there are institutions in Baltimore to which the mother of an illegitimate child may consign her offspring upon the payment of an agreed upon sum and forever rid herself of legal responsibility for it.

Majority of Babies Die.

Of the hundreds of children so taken in charge by the institution, the committee avers that 80 to 90 per cent die and are buried in heaps in small plots of ground, one such plot, approximately fifty-five feet square, having been the tomb of 5,000 babies since 1886.

The high death rate is attributed to the separation of the infant from its mother at birth, thereby depriving it of the individual attention it would have otherwise received. No evidence was adduced that the babies were neglected at the institution.

No Check on Immorality.

Since the commission began its work the police have closed the resorts in the segregated districts here formerly tolerated by the authorities.

According to the report, however, there is no evidence that immorality is not practiced as extensively as ever. Much of this evil is practiced clandestinely, says the commission, and business places, offices, boarding houses, and even homes are said to have been found in great numbers where immorality is introduced and continued in practice.

MOTON CHOSEN TUSKEGEE HEAD

Successor to Late Booker Washington Received Education at Hampton.

POLICY TO CONTINUE.

New York, Dec. 20.—[Special.]—Maj. Robert Ruesa Moton, who has been connected with the Hampton institute of Hampton, Va., for twenty-five years, was today chosen principal of Tuskegee institute to succeed the late Booker T. Washington by the committee of five appointed by the trustees of the institute for the purpose. His choice had been forecast.

Maj. Moton is 48 years old and a native of Virginia. In 1885 he entered Hampton in the days when it was under the direction of Gen. Armstrong, its founder. Coming into close touch with Corporal Armstrong as a student, he later followed his advice and continued as a teacher. His theories in regard to the education of the Negro are similar to Booker Washington's.

The members of the committee are Mr. Low, Mr. Trumbull, Edgar A. Bancroft of Chicago, W. W. Campbell of Tuskegee, and Victor H. Tulane, a Negro trustee of Montgomery, Ala.

To his son, John M. Studebaker Jr., he conveyed the fee of the property at the southwest corner of Indiana avenue and Thirty-first street, which was given a value of $150,000. He also conveyed to his son fourteen lots in Winnetka.

To Mr. Fish he conveyed property on Wabash avenue 260 feet north of Twelfth street, on the east side. It fronts 80 feet with a depth of 171 feet. The revenue stamps on the document fixed its value at $200,000.

JUDGES EVOLVE PLAN TO CHECK BOND 'SHARKS'

Court Clerks at Police Stations to Allow Prisoners to Reach Friends.

A campaign for ousting professional bondsmen from police stations and reducing the number of needless arrests was inaugurated yesterday at a meeting of Municipal court judges in Chief Justice Olson's office.

The plan, sanctioned by all the judges sitting in the criminal branches, proposes that Municipal court clerks be assigned at once to each of five of the principal police stations. Their duties will be to swear policemen to complaints and give prisoners an opportunity of communicating with friends or relatives for obtaining their release on bonds.

Chief Evils of System.

The judges agreed that the restrictions placed on prisoners and the presence of professional bondsmen who offer the only chance for release comprise one of the greatest evils in the Chicago police court system One—Judge John Stelk—charged openly that the police often work with the bondsmen.

"We want clerks at the Maxwell street, Sheffield avenue, South Clark street, Stockyards, and South Chicago stations," said Judge Olson. "We intend to bring the court between the professional bondsman and the citizen."

List of Bondsmen in Arrears.

The judges made public a list of bondsmen who have failed to settle ex parte judgments. Two hundred and seventy-three judgments, amounting to $12,368, were included. Among the bondsmen listed are:

	Judgments.	Amount.
Tony May	39	$ 52.60
Aaron Andrews	1	5.00
Fred G. Barnett	3	77.50
Belle Adams	4	244.50
Raymond T. O'Keefe	2	112.00
George Remus	1	106.50
Louis Waterman	2	6.00
George F. Harding	3	18.50

The list also showed that forty-two bond forfeitures, amounting to $15,960, have been evaded by bondsmen. Judge Olson will try to have these bondsmen barred from police stations until they have adjusted their indebtedness.

Chief of Police Healey in the afternoon started a move of his own against professional bondsmen by asking Corporation Counsel Ettelson for an opinion as to whether he has the power to oust undesirables from courts and police stations.

CHICAGO OZONE HAS TONIC EFFECT ON FRED FULTON

BIG FIGHTER SURE HE WILL LICK WILLARD

Giant Asserts He's Faster and Has Harder Punch than Champion.

BY J. J. ALCOCK.

"Willard won't last forty minutes with me. As soon as I get the right one over there will be a new world's heavyweight champion and his name will be Fred Fulton."

An extra large party bearing the name mentioned above breezed into Chicago yesterday and spent most of the day describing the various things he will do to the aforementioned Jess Willard when the two climb into a New Orleans ring on March 4 to battle for the pugilistic crown of crowns.

Bubbles with Optimism.

"Willard's size will be his only advantage over me," Fulton continued. "In everything else that goes to make a champion I have him beaten. I can hit harder, I can step about faster, and I know every bit as much about the fight game as he does. I am not going into this fight with the idea that I have just a chance at big stakes. I m going in to win, and to win in a hurry.

"I have boxed with Willard and I know what he has. He can't improve any at his age, but I am getting better every time I step into a ring. By the time the fight comes around I'll be a whole lot better fighter than I was when I put Andre Anderson away. Any one who saw that performance knows I wasn't evactly bad that night, either."

Will Star in Vaudeville.

Fulton came down from Rochester, Minn., his home town. If he fails to make good his boast that he will win the world's title, Rochester probably will lose its favorite son, for Fred has told everybody in the old town he will bring back the bacon. Fulton expects to stop here for the rest of the week, then start a vaudeville tour south as a periliminary to his training, which he does not expect to enter upon seriously for a month or more.

"They gave me a great sendoff down home," Fulton related, a big smile lighting his face. "Every one was down to see me off, shake hands, and wish me luck. They made me feel so good I told everybody I wouldn't come back without the title. That will have to go now. I like Rochester, but I don't think I ever could go back if I am licked. So I just can't lose, that's all."

Expects to Weigh 210.

Resuming his discussing of Willard, Fulton said:

"When the big day comes around I'll weigh more than 210 pounds, if nothing goes wrong with my training. That's big enough for any fighter and Willard's weight advantage wil not be worth considering. I have bee gaining weight steadily and I don't expect to lose much of what I am caryring now."

Fulton will put in most of his time while here posing for movies depicting the story of his life. A film concern on the north side has a hunch it may be able to reap some cash out of the pictures, and Fred and Manager Collins are not averse to any stunt that sounds like coin. Fulton will give a sparring exhibition at O'Connell's gymnasium in State street some afternoon during the week, probably on Wednesday or Thursday.

White Back for Holidays.

Charley White returned yesterday from Excelsior Springs looking in the best of health. He is not discouraged over Manager Nate Lewis' failure to land a match with Freddie Welsh.

"I am just as well satisfied," White said. "I came home for the holidays and do not want to hear anything about fighting until after the first of the year. Nate tells me he has several matches pending, but that business can wait."

Tommy Walsh, matchmaker for the Gary boxing show on Dec. 29, announces that he has signed Phil Harrison and Jack O'Keefe, two local 158 pounders, for the semi-windup to the Ever Hammer-Milburn Saylor battle.

Lore Bodie of Deer Lodge, Mont., a giant weighing 250 pounds and standing 6 feet 6 inches in stocking feet, stopped off yesterday on his way to New York, where he is to meet Boer Rodel early next month.

AD WOLGAST BARRED FROM GOTHAM RINGS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight boxing champion, was suspended for six months by the New York state athletic commission today for violating a contract with the Harlem Sporting club of this city. This will prevent Wolgast from taking part in any boxing exhibitions in this state during the period of suspension.

The commission found Wolgast had agreed not to appear anywhere in the ring before meeting Leach Cross at the Harlem Sporting club last Friday.

In violation of this provision Wolgast met Frank Whitney at Atlanta on Tuesday, Dec. 14, and was handled so roughly that, in the opinion of the commission, he was not in fit condition to meet Cross, who beat him in six rounds.

EAST CHICAGO FIGHT CARD.

East Chicago, Ind., Dec. 20.—Thirty rounds of boxing are billed for the show to be staged here Wednesday night by the North Side Social and Athletic club. Three ten round bouts will make up the card. Eddie Clabby of Hammond will tackle Ed Austgen of South Chicago, Mike Oswego of East Chicago will oppose Pete Krust of Chicago, and Goats Doig of Gary will take on Joe Genail of St. Louis.

W. RITCHIE PUNISHES EDDIE M'ANDREWS IN COMBAT AS WELTER

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion, who recently graduated into the welterweight division, jabbed and right hooked his way to a clean cut victory over Eddie McAndrews of Philadelphia in the six round windup at the Olympia A. A. tonight.

The boys met at catchweights. Ritchie looked to weigh 145 pounds, while McAndrews appeared to carry 138.

McAndrews made his best showing in the first and last session. It was his confidence in the third round that nearly spelled the curtain for Eddie. Near the close of the round Ritchie caught McAndrews with a terrific right to the jaw, sending him to the mat, but he wobbled to his feet again. Willie rushed, trying for a knockout, but the bell saved McAndrews.

JACK DILLON KNOCKS OUT NORTON IN FOURTH ROUND.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—Jack Dillon of Indianapolis stopped Al Norton, Los Angeles heavyweight, in the fourth round of a scheduled eight round fight tonight. Norton's seconds threw in the sponge after their charge had arisen in a helpless condition after a knockdown for the count of nine. Dillon knocked down Norton three times in the first round for a count of nine each time. Jack floored Norton first with a left to the jaw, sent him down the second time with a right cross and again with a left to the jaw.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

We have heard about the family baseball teams, bowling aggregations, and the famous Graham brothers trap shooting team from Long Lake, Ill. But a new one came along yesterday—that is, so far as local swimming circles are concerned—when Kenneth Huszagh, one of the crack swimmers of the Chicago Athletic association, with his three brothers, issued a challenge for a 160 yard relay race to Perry McGillivray and his three brothers of the Illinois A. C., the race to be decided at either club on Jan. 6.

There have been novel things staged in swimming in this section, but this event should stir up more excitement than anything pulled in a local tank in years. Kenneth and Perry are swimmers of renown and their brothers all are stars.

Kenneth Hits Upon Plan.

The idea originated from Kenneth Huszagh, who always has been a dangerous rival for McGillivray. The Huszaghs and McGillivrays have beaten one another in many events, and practically the only contest in which they have not met is in the 160 yard relay race now planned, with each man swimming forty yards.

Ken and Perry, as they are known to followers of the sport, have reached the zenith of their game. Neither will admit he is as good as he used to be. Both are west side boys and each has his following in the local clubs. They have met in several western and national A. A. U. championship events, and the margin of the victor always has been slight. Both were members of the American team which won the Olympic championship at Stockholm in 1912, and since that time each has won many titles.

Club Officials Favor Race.

"It would be a great thing for both clubs," Prof. Cox of the C. A. A., said. "It will help get us back to the rivalry which featured the old days of water polo and racing. The Huszagh team is a strong one and because of their many friends, I am sure the tank room will be filled to capacity. It is a thing needed to put the local swimming game back on its feet. I hope the McGillavrays accept our challenge."

"Just as soon as Perry hears of it the challenge will be accepted," Inspector Bachrach of the I. A. C., said. "It will be a great feature and one which will help make our Jan. 6 meet a success, if the Huszaghs' team agrees to swim it in this pool. We are willing to toss a coin to decide the scene of the contest."

Other Brothers on Teams.

Aside from Kenneth Huszagh, who will lead his team, the squad will be composed of Victor, who was captain of the Amherst team, Ralph, who led the Evanston academy aggregation, and Harold, who learned to swim at the Central Y. M. C. A. and now is competing under the colors of the Hamilton club.

The team to be led by Perry McGillivray, himself one of the greatest swimmers of international fame in the last eight years, will be composed of Brothers Wallace, Lowell, and Howard. The latter is only 15 years old, but has shown so much promise in recent meets as to make him a worthy opponent for any of the Huszaghs with the exception of Kenneth. The challenge was sent last night by Kenneth Huszagh.

WEEGHMAN ADMITS HE HAS SECURED THE CUBS

NORTH SIDE GETS CLUB, WITH TINKER MANAGER

Conference at Cincinnati Will Bring Transfer of Cash for Team.

MEETING THERE TODAY

James Crusinberry, baseball writer for "The Tribune," left for Cincinnati last night in company with President Charles H. Weeghman of the Whales, who hopes that his purchase of the Cubs may be formally ratified at today's peace conference.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Chicago's Cubs have been sold. Charles Weeghman will be president of the former west side team and it will open the season of 1916 at the north side park. Joe Tinker will be manager and the team will be composed of the pick of the Cubs and Whales of 1916. The price given by Weeghman and his associates for the Cub players and National league franchise is $500,000.

These are the things which will become established facts as soon as the peace agreement between the Federal league and organized baseball has been signed, and it is possible the signing will be done before sundown tonight. The national commission and a committee from the minor leagues will meet with the committee from the Feds in Cincinnati today.

Charles Weeghman admitted for the first time yesterday that the deal for the transfer of the Cubs from Charles P Taft to himself and north side associates in the Whales had already been made, hinging only on the signing of the peace pact between the warring factions in baseball.

A little less than two years ago Taft was offered $700,000 for the club by John T. Connery and his associates. At that time Taft's lowest selling price was $812,-000.

Busy Day for Fed Boss.

President Weeghman, who returned from the New York meeting yesterday morning, put in such a busy day he had to have his meals brought to his office. He held a formal meeting of the stockholders of the Whales, and while that was under way he permitted things to be interrupted for a few minutes by members of the press.

"Have you got the Cubs?" was the first question asked of him.

"I will have them just as soon as the peace agreement is signed," was the answer.

"Will Joe Tinker or Roger Bresnahan be manager?" he was asked.

"Tinker will be my manager," was the reply. "He stuck with me before and I shall stick to him now."

"Is there any likelihood of the peace plan being broken up?"

"I think there is no doubt now that there will be peace, and it will be very soon after we all get together down in Cincinnati."

Sinclair Not in Cub Deal.

"Will Harry Sinclair be with you in the purchase of the Cubs?" was asked.

"Sinclair will not be with me, much as I would like to have him," was the answer. "You can say right now that there will be no outsiders in this deal. The same men who financed the Whales and built the park on the north side are in the deal for the purchase of the Cubs. I don't know who spread the report that some big Chicago business man was to be taken in as part owner. I have had business relations with J. Ogden Armour for nearly twenty years, but he is not going in with me in this deal."

Magnates Go to Cincinnati.

President Johnson of the American league, President Chivington of the American association, and President Weeghman of the Whales-Cubs left last night for Cincinnati. They will meet there today with President Tener of the National league, Chairman Herrmann of the national commission, President Gilmore of the Federal league, Harry Sinclair of the Newark Feds, Carrol Raisin of the Baltimore Feds, President Barrow of the International league, and Secretary Farrell of the National association.

The power to sign the peace agreement will be in the hands of these few men, and it is expected that they will have no trouble in adjusting the matter. Only one stumbling block appeared on the horizon last night, and that refers to the lawsuit of the Federal league against organized baseball, the case which still is pending before Judge Landis.

Easy to Overcome Trouble.

According to the men of organized ball, the peace agreement will not be signed until the Feds have withdrawn their suit. According to the Feds, the suit will not be withdrawn until the peace pact has been signed. It looks as if each side is willing to act, but is insisting on the other acting first. This trouble may be fixed by the Feds signing an agreement to withdraw their suit as soon as the peace pact is signed, or by the men of organized ball signing an agreement to sign the peace pact as soon as the suit is withdrawn.

In order that the matter may be handled in the proper legal fashion, President Johnson has wired for the American league attorney, Judge Williams of St. Louis, to be in Cincinnati. The other parties also will be represented legally, it is said, so that no mistakes may be made.

Thomas Keeps Desk.

Although everything indicated that Weeghman and his associates would be in charge of the Cubs within a few more days, Charles Thomas, who still carries the title of president, occupied the official chair in the Cub office yesterday and went ahead making preparations for next season just as if all the peace talk and the sale of the Cubs were some weird dream. Manager Bresnahan, too, was in the office, but neither was inclined to talk on the future.

"I see Tinker has picked his lineup," ventured Bresnahan. "Well, I might pick one, too, but if I did I would pick it from the same bunch of men who played on the west side last season. I haven't been notified that I am not manager of the Cubs, so naturally feel that I still am holding the job. If Tinker has it I wish him all the luck in the world. He's been quite a successful fellow, I judge. Not long ago old Capt. Anson told me if I lived long enough I would see Joe Tinker president of the National league."

Cub 'Faness' Objects to Club's Transfer.

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—[Sporting Editor Tribune.]—May I voice my humble protest against our Cubs being taken away from us?

Having attended fifty-eight games this season (cash customer, box seat at that), I may know a little bit about the case. All Cub fans I have talked to say they certainly will not follow them north—that when they leave the west side the team dies as far as we are concerned.

It is a shame, too, as we have had them all our lives, and supported them through thick and thin, while the only way Weeghman could get a fair crowd out was by giving them 10 cent ball. Some sports on the north side!

Then the idea of placing a man as small as Tinker over the Cubs! A man who left them when he was needed to stick; a man who wouldn't play if Johnny Evers was made manager. Maybe Tinker did not say that, but we fans have to believe what we read in the papers.

How do you make it out that it is an organized ball victory? It seems to me the old National league is getting it in the neck. According to the Feds their managers, their players, their interests have to be protected. The managers and players who stood against the Feds, and many of them turned down big money, can now take care of themselves. Our own Roge can go and manage a team in Podunk, but the wonderful Tinker gets the best job given.

It is not a fact we fans want peace; especially if the jumpers are to be reinstated. The American and National leagues are well rid of every player who jumped.

Pardon me for taking up your valuable time, but I just want it known that we will not follow the Cubs north—rather would we become Sox fans.

A CUB FANESS.

N. Y. TEAMS AFTER KAUFF.

New York, Dec. 20.—If peace is declared in baseball it is pretty certain that Benny Kauf will go to one of the New York clubs. It became known today that both the Yankees and the Giants are bidding for the Tip Tops' heavy hitter. It was rumored the Yankees had offered something like $10,000 for Kauff.

JOE TINKER ON THE MEND.

After a slight relapse, the condition of Joe Tinker was announced as improved at the Henrotin hospital yesterday. Tinker was removed to the hospital a week ago for an operation necessitated by a kidney complaint. He will be able to leave the hospital in another week.

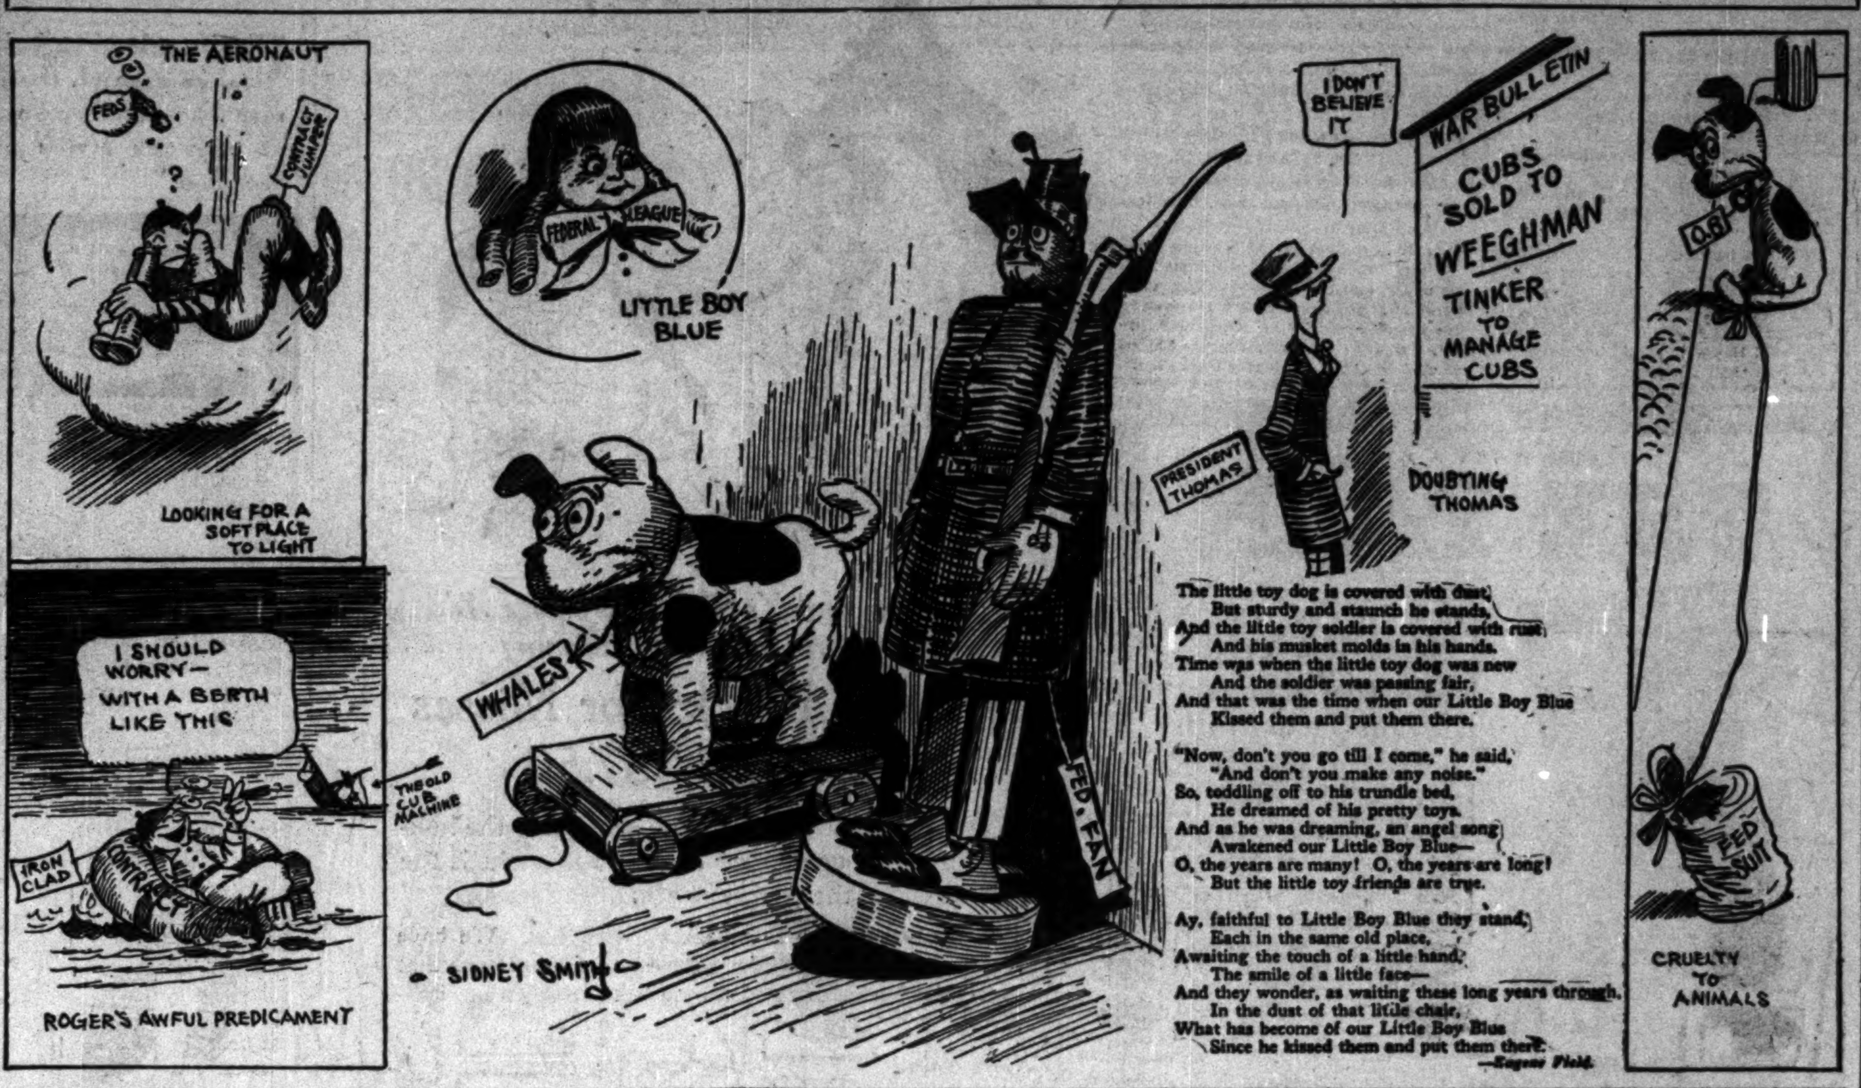
ST. PATRICK VS. CRESCENTS.

St. Patrick Council nine, one of the three leaders in the west division of the Knights of Columbus Indoor league, will open a series of three games with the Crescents, independent champions of Illinois, at Columbia hall tonight. A second game will be played on Sunday afternoon, and in case of a tie the deciding contest will be staged at a neutral hall next week. There is considerable rivalry between K. C. league and independent nines, and an effort will be made this season to have the city championship definitely decided after the fraternal league schedule is completed. Dillon and Gilfeather will be the battery for St. Patricks in the Crescent series, opposing Eppleheimer and Miller.

HAKE TO CAPTAIN PURDUE.

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—Paul Hunter Hake of Gary, Ind., who played left end this season, tonight was elected captain of the Purdue football team for 1916. Hake won by one vote. Charles A. Buechner of South Bend received eight votes.

LITTLE BOY BLUE.



The little toy dog is covered with dust,
But sturdy and staunch he stands,
And the little toy soldier is covered with rust,
And his musket molds in his hands.
Time was when the little toy dog was new
And the soldier was passing fair,
And that was the time when our Little Boy Blue
Kissed them and put them there.

"Now, don't you go till I come," he said,
"And don't you make any noise."
So, toddling off to his trundle bed,
He dreamed of his pretty toys.
And as he was dreaming, an angel song
Awakened our Little Boy Blue—
O, the years are many! O, the years are long!
But the little toy friends are true.

Ay, faithful to Little Boy Blue they stand,
Each in the same old place,
Awaiting the touch of a little hand,
The smile of a little face—
And they wonder, as waiting these long years through,
In the dust of that little chair,
What has become of our Little Boy Blue
Since he kissed them and put them there.

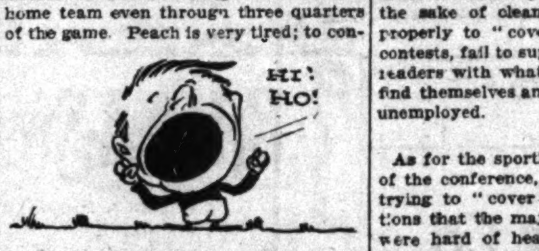
OUR SIDE.

(Being an added entry in the Intercollegiate Free-for-All.)

THE sporting writer is asked to believe that the function of college athletics is building up the physical man; that victory is a consideration minor in importance; that the aim of the various intercollegiate athletic bodies is to make athletics popular with as large a percentage of students as possible. He tries to believe, and then he is sent out to report a football game between the home university team and one from a neighboring state.

The visiting team has a great football player named Peach. The visiting team is inferior in strength, but owing to the efforts of Peach manages to hold the home team even through three quarters of the game. Peach is very tired; to continue to play will not benefit him physically. But Peach, very tired, is a more valuable man in the game than Prune or Lemon, his substitutes. Prune and Lemon are kept on the sidelines, though they are full of pep* and aching for exercise. Moreover, to send them into the game each for a little while would increase the athletic interest of both.



To remove Peach, however, would almost certainly mean eleventh hour defeat. Peach is allowed to remain in to the end. And the sporting writer nurses in his thick dome the wild belief that the visiting team's coach was trying to escape a beating and has disregarded the real function of athletics and the aim of the intercollegiate body in control. And a few weeks later the sporting writer reads that the coach has been engaged for another year.

One eminent faculty man says in effect that the large amount of space given college athletics by newspapers is partly responsible for the existing evils. Another eminent faculty man of one of the largest universities in the same association pans* us (three of us, right to our faces) for not devoting more space to the indisputable athletic successes of his institution's teams.

◆

The sporting editors probably would be delighted to see athletic problems solved to the satisfaction of those in charge. But the sporting editors believe that to edit their pages intelligently is to edit them so as to meet the aprpoval of the managing editors, who want them edited to meet the approval of the public. Most of the managing editors know that the war game has a few evils. But they devote whole columns to the war. Nor do they seem to think it part of their job to help the kaiser or the king. The sporting editors are strong for clean, pure athletics, but the active crusaders for clean, pure athletics have not up to a late hour offered to pay the sporting editors' grocery bills; have not promised new situations to those sporting editors who for the sake of clean, pure athletics cease properly to "cover" big intercollegiate contests, fail to supply the big majority of readers with what they want and hence find themselves among the great army of unemployed.

◆

As for the sporting writers' impression of the conference, it was when we were trying to "cover" that body's conventions that the majority of the delegates were hard of hearing and had impediments in their speech. We'd hold down a hotel chair for three or seven hours waiting for adjournment. When the representatives emerged from chambers we'd spring up and tackle one.

"What was done, Mr. Gish?" we'd ask.

"HOW'S THAT?"

"What business was transacted?"

"Ugh! Buh! Nothing."

"I mean, IS THERE ANYTHING FOR THE PAPERS?"

"Gr-r-r-r! I must rush for my train."

Sometimes, if we were lucky, we'd nail Mr. Huff or Mr. Stagg or the like, if any. Then we'd learn something. But whether we learned anything or not, we were supposed to go back to the office and write it, and WRITE IT RIGHT.

A sporting writer does not think of the conference as a cockpit. He thinks of it as a tough assignment and he hopes the meeting will occur on his day off.

CALLAHAN MAPS CHANGES FOR PIRATES WITH OWNER.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—Jimmy Callahan, the Pirates' new manager, paid his first official visit to President Dreyfuss' headquarters today and was closeted with his boss all day, mapping out several changes that will be made in the team after the peace pact is signed.

Callahan announced Capt. Hans Wagner's reappointment, and also said the training place would not be chosen until he and Wagner had consulted together. Hot Springs may be passed up this year, as it is well known that Wagner has objected to going there for several seasons.

Callahan went to Chicago tonight. He will not move his family here.

FAMOUS ELI HEAD COACH SIGNS CONTRACT AT IOWA.

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 20.—Howard Jones, for two years head coach at Yale, and ranked as one of the greatest athletic developers in the east, today signed a five and one-half year contract with athletic officials here, by which he will take charge of the Hawkeye football hopes beginning Feb. 1.

Jones was the first football coach at Yale to receive a salary for his services. In 1908 he produced the Yale eleven which played all opponents off their feet.

Although a first class man had been expected, the announcement that a nationally famous coach would pilot the fortunes of the Hawkeyes for the next five years came as a decided surprise.

GROSS PREDICTS 40,000 "KIDS" FOR ICE EVENTS

Playground Head Plans to Keep Youngsters from Exposure to Cold.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Theodore A. Gross, superintendent of the municipal playgrounds, asserted yesterday that at least 40,000 youngsters of different ages will take part in THE TRIBUNE'S skating tournament, which opens on the second Saturday of next month.

The skaters will be divided into three classes, 12 to 15, from 15 to 18, and 18 and upwards. It is probable that at least fifty contestants will represent each playground in the events.

Wait for Lagoon Ice.

Because of the hard ice which eventually will bring skating on the various lagoons in the north, west, and south side parks, the kids are diligently training. As soon as the ice is thick enough—probably before Christmas—the tourney will be in full swing.

Nestor Johnson, the skate man, who has agreed to furnish skates for a number of the playgrounds, is working his factory overtime. Johnson is one of the active members of the committee named by President Julian Fitzgerald of the Western Skating association to help make the carnival a success.

Guard Against Chilling.

"If the weather is ont too cold everything points to a tournament which is sure to be of great benefit to the kids," Mr. Gross said. "We cannot expect the little fellows to stay in the cold waiting their turn to go through their paces. It doesn't matter so much with the older fellows."

Mr. Gross announced that skating is being held daily at the following municipal playgrounds: Audubon, Agassiz, Adams, Orleans, McLaren, Sampson, Christopher, Hamlin, Corkery, McCormick, Moseley, Drake, Fiske, Sherwood, and Dante. Mr. Gross also announced that fields in other lots will be flooded as soon as they are ready to insure to ice.

MR. P. SERCOMBE KINDLY QUITS USE OF LETTERHEADS

School Board Obtains Approval of Plan by "Terror to Reporters"; He Admits It.

Parker Sercombe has such a violent objection to publicity, he says, that he fights reporters to keep his name out of the papers. And to keep in trim for these fights he runs from one to three miles a day.

Mr. Sercombe admits he is good not only in keeping reporters bent upon interviewing him at a sedate distance but he believes that as for aldermen he can handle twenty-five of them, in quick succession, on the wrestling mat.

His recent letter writing campaign, in which a number of aldermen were involved as recipients of communications written on school board stationery by school board stenographers during business hours, did not bring a censure from the special committe which met yesterday to investigate the question, following a suggestion to that effect by Ald. A. A. McCormick.

He's Real Nice About It.

But Mr. Sercombe was asked if a suggestion by that committee that he write his personal letters on his own stationery—or go visiting instead of writing—would meet with his approval. The board's statistician said it would. And as no official bureau of statistics ever has been established by the board, the committee voted to recommend to the board that different stationery be provided for Mr. Sercombe's office. And if the public won't take it as a censure, the committee believes the letter writing was in wretched taste.

Aftre that Mr. Sercombe was voted $216 for his bureau to pay its bills. He has spent, in a little over two months, his appropriation of $3,500. He was hired for four months at $150 a week and allowed seven clerks.

Mr. Sercombe told the committee he wrote the letters in business hours, but that he did not write to Ald. McCormick until the alderman "attacked him publicly." He said the other communications sent to the alderman were merely copies of letters.

"Did you use the clerks in your office?" asked Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton.

"The clerks work overtime," was the reply. "I hold a class in statistical knowledge after working hours, and they are getting more efficient daily. An investigation would show that I am no more culpable than all other public officials. They all use public stationery for their personal letters. These merely show how interested I am in the work. I write few personal letters."

Woman Disagrees with Him.

"You write an awful lot of letters," said Mrs. Britton. "As superintendent of the Juvenile Protective association I used to get one a week, and as a member of the board I sometimes got three a week."

"Why did you use board stationery?" was asked.

"Because I have none of my own," replied Mr. Sercombe. "I am somewhat enthusiastic——"

"One hundred per cent enthusiastic," said M. J. Collins.

"If I were anæmic mentally and physically," said Mr. Sercombe, "I would be better liked."

"It would be best in the future," said Mr. Collins, "to make personal calls. Or meet Ald. McCormick at forty paces."

"I'll bet you could throw him in a wrestling match," said one trustee.

"I could throw twenty-five in succession," was the modest reply.

FIREMEN ARE OVERCOME BY FUMES FROM FEATHERS.

Fire in Bedding Factory Gives Department Stubborn Fight—Four Families Routed.

Fumes and heavy smoke from burning feathers and mattress material gave firemen a hard fight yesterday in the basement of the Western Bedding company's establishment at 1907-1909 Milwaukee avenue.

Charles Bentzen and Patrick T. Navin, pipemen of engine company No. 43, were dragged out of the smoke unconscious by other firemen. Bentzen is at St. Elizabeth's hospital in a serious condition.

Belated employés of the bedding company and four families who occupied the two upper stories of the building were driven out. The fire, which is believed to have been started by an overheated furnace, did damage amounting to $50,000 and tied up street car traffic for an hour.

CRIME A DISEASE COPS CAN CATCH, SAYS OLD SLEUTH

"Stool Pigeon" System Often Tempts Detective from the Straight Path of Duty.

FAVORS GIVEN FOR FAVORS.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

"Crime is a social disease," said the old detective, "and it is a contagious disease—which explains why members of the detective bureau sometimes become crooks. The work of a detective keeps him in more or less constant association with criminals. He soon learns that the professional crook is much like the rest of the human race—except for the moral lapse or the lack of reasoning power which makes him a crook. So the detective early loses the horror of crime and criminals which persists with the ordinary man in other lines of work.

Vice is a monster of such hideous mien
That to be hated needs only to be seen.
But seen too oft, familiar with its face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace.

"Presently, if the detective is successful, he learns that he must have stool pigeons working for him. A stool pigeon is a crook who betrays his fellow criminals to the police. Nine times out of ten when the perpetrator of a crime is caught his name and whereabouts have been given to the police by a fellow crook who is acting as a stool pigeon.

Stool Pigeons' Aid.

"Any detective who tells the truth will admit that his success is largely due to his relations with stool pigeons. After a man has been a few years in the detective bureau he is almost certain to have a number of stool pigeons in his pay.

"It is almost always possible to find one or more members of any gang of crooks who will betray the rest of the crowd for a consideration. There never was a bigger joke than the so-called loyalty of a crook to his fellow criminals, about which so much silly and sentimental slop has been written. The average crook will always 'squawk' on his pals to save himself trouble or even to get a little money if he is broke.

"When a 'wise dick'—which means an experienced detective—gets a good lot of stool pigeons on his staff it means that he has established more or less intimate and confidential relations with them. That adds to the danger that the detective himself may become contaminated, that he may be infected with the virus of crime, which I claim is a contagious disease.

No Work for Nothing.

"Certainly a stool pigeon is not going to work for a detective for nothing. And a detective is less or more than human if he does not feel grateful when his 'stool' has 'uncovered' the man responsible for some big or sensational crime. The detective makes the arrest, he is given credit for solving a great 'crime mystery,' perhaps he even gets his picture printed in the newspapers.

"A little later the stool pigeon, perhaps, lets it be known that he, himself, is about to 'pull off a job' in some other part of the city. Or if the pigeon is arrested, charged, for instance, with picking pockets, he expects that the 'wise dick' he works for will protect him, so far as possible, from the penalties of the law.

"The thing is insidious. Starting with the perfectly praiseworthy motive of gratitude for favors done and to come, the detective and his 'stool' presently become involved in a perfect network of almost equal guilt.

"Goes a Little Easy."

"For the sake of information resulting in the arrest of more important criminals the detective 'goes a little easy' on the stool pigeon when he 'gets into trouble' himself. Presently, when Christmas comes round, the stool pigeon may recognize his benefactor with a holiday present in the shape of a small diamond or some other bit of jewelry. After which, of course, there is little to choose between the two.

"Once a crook has become a stool pigeon he rarely gets out of that kind of work. If he is stubborn and refuses to 'come clean' in a given case, or if the detective even suspects that he is not telling everything he knows, the crook is likely to be arrested and locked up on a charge of vagrancy. That may mean a sentence of several months in the bridewell. During his stay there the pigeon may be visited by the detective, who will point out to him the grave disadvantages of getting into bad favor with the police department. It will be suggested that if he tells all he knows his term in the bridewell may be shortened. Between fear and crooked gratitude he is pretty certain to 'squawk.'

Cash Basis Only Way.

"Stool pigeons are necessary if crooks are to be caught. And there is only one safe way to deal with a stool pigeon. If he has valuable information to sell, buy it and pay for it in cash. Let it be understood that when the money is paid the obligation—at least on your side—is canceled. And enforce the law against the pigeon as strictly as against every other crook.

"There are men in the detective department who have always handled their stools on just that basis, with possibly an occasional lash of the legal whip as an additional motive.

"But it takes a man of strong character not to fall a victim sooner or later to the necessity of constant association with crooks. Crime, I insist, is a contagious disease."

SAVES HER PARENTS' LIVES.

Eleven Year Old Finds House Burning and Awakens Family.

AUDREY READ

"Papa, the Christmas presents are burning up!" screamed 11 year old Audrey Read as she pounded on her parents' bedroom door in their home at 5451 Cornell avenue early yesterday. Her father, C. Percy Read, rushed into the hall to find the back portion of the house in flames.

He grabbed up his daughter and her 6 year old brother, John, and, with his wife, reached the street in safety. The firemen came and put out the blaze, but not before a portion of the basement and first floor had been damaged. An overheated electric iron from which the current had not been turned off started the fire.

Little Audrey did not save the Christmas presents, but she probably did save the lives of her parents and "Johnny."

"I'm positive we owe our lives to Audrey," said Mr. Read, who is a textile manufacturer, "for we were all sleeping very soundly."

LYDSTON WINS IN A. M. A. FIGHT

Is Upheld by Supreme Court in Suit Against Association.

Dr. G. Frank Lydston won his five year legal battle against the American Medical association yesterday when the Supreme court upheld the decision of the Appellate court and ordered the removal of the present board of directors.

A complete reorganization of the association, a national body composed of more than 40,000 members, probably will follow. Under the Supreme court's ruling the members of the present board of directors were elected illegally, inasmuch as the association was incorporated under a charter from Illinois and therefore must hold its annual meetings in this state.

Row Starts Suit.

The warfare between Dr. Lydston and the association began when the physician attempted to prevent Dr. George H. Simmons, then secretary, from holding three offices at once. He claimed the affairs of the association were controlled by an oligarchy.

The attorneys for the association fought the mandamus proceedings in the Circuit court and a decision was handed down against Dr. Lydston. An appeal was taken to the Appellatet court, which twice reviewed the evidence and twice reversed the decision of the lower court. The association then appealed to the state Supreme court.

Calls for New Election.

"The result of the Supreme court's ruling," said Attorney Seymour Stedman, counsel for Dr. Lydston, "will be that quo warranto writs will be served on the directors and a new election will have to be held in Illinois. It is very probable that the association will have to take out a national charter, the real thing for which Dr. Lydston has been contending."

Dr. Lydston, who has fought a lone hand and furnished the funds for the legal battle, was jubilant over his victory.

"In view of this decision," he said last night, "it will remain for the officers of the association to explain why they have been spending the association's money for five years to prevent a legitimate inquiry into the operations of the association.

Victory for Ranks.

"It is probable now that the rank and file will have something to say about the operation of the society—will gain the ballot—and that the political operation of the association will be taken out of the hands of the self-elected few."

Dr. George Simmons said he did not believe the decision would mean removal of the directors.

THAT GUILT OF CONSCIENCE.

Two Youngsters Flee, Leaving Wagon Load of Cigars, as Detectives Appear.

The wicked flee when no man pursueth.—Proberbs, XXVIII :1.

Detectives Rorhof and Sullivan were strolling down Wells street last night, thinking of nothing in particular, when two boys attracted their attention by jumping from a wagon half a block away near the Erie street corner and scuttling into an alley. The deserted wagon was driven to the East Chicago avenue station, and found to be loaded with 21,500 cigars, consigned to the National Cigar Stands company. They are believed to have been stolen from a freight car.

EIGHT HOUR DAY AND RAISE UP TO RAIL MEN.

Delegates of Unions to Submit Draft of New Agreement for Vote by Workers Over Country.

Sixty delegates from the four railroad brotherhoods of the eastern, western, and southern sections have finished formulation of demands embodied in a proposed new working agreement with the railways.

An eight hour day and 50 per cent additional pay for all overtime work will be asked from the railroad general managers' association some time in the spring. The present agreement expires April 30, 1916.

The railroad men's delegates closed a six day session at the Masonic temple yesterday. Details of the new agreement were not given out.

Before the demands are presented to the general managers they will be submitted to a referendum vote of the 75,000 switchmen, conductors, firemen, and engineers affected. The ballots will be in the hands of the men before Jan. 10, and about thirty days will be required for the voting.

The ballot will contain the text of the agreement and will ask the men if they are in favor of it. It is in no sense a strike vote. It is understood that the question whether the men are in favor of arbitration if the agreement is not accepted, will not be asked on the ballot.

POOR MAN SAYS HE PAYS ALIMONY TO RICH MAN'S WIFE

Donald B. Williams Wants to Stop $80 Out of $150 Salary Spent by Court Order.

In the case of Williams vs. Williams, petition for divorce, there was a decree and $80 monthly alimony for Mrs. Williams. Donald B. Williams earns $150 a month, thus making it pretty tough.

But Mrs. Williams married again, and now she is Mrs. Caroline Elizabeth Marshall Williams Brock. Her husband is Louis Brock, and she married him a year after her divorce from Williams. But the alimony didn't let up.

Brock, according to Williams, earns $250 a month, and Mrs. Brock earns a competence in an interior decorating concern of her own. Why, then, should he pay alimony? inquires Williams.

Mrs. Brock points out that her decree stipulates "permanent alimony," and this even though she is married again. Thus the matter is in court, where Williams protests against the infernal unfitness of things, and further because Brock has written him letters in which he reprimands Williams for his lack of gentility in desiring to stop paying alimony.

"And besides," said Mrs. Brock last night, "he was always urging me to get married again."

CLYNE PROMISES ARRESTS IN "POISON PEN" INQUIRY.

District Attorney Says He Can "Put Hands On" 100 Writers of Annoying Letters.

That the operations of the "poison pen trust" extended not only throughout Chicago, but also to outlying towns and cities in northern Illinois, was shown yesterday by the numerous complaints received by District Attorney Charles F. Clyne. Mr. Clyne is conducting an investigation into the activities of the "poison pen" letter writers who have been annoying Chicago women during the last few months with obscene letters.

"In my opinion we will have no difficulty in laying our hands on at least 100 of these poison pen letter writers," said Mr. Clyne.

SEERESS TURNS ON GAS AS LAW CLOSES ITS GRIP

Mrs. Melissa Eddy, Clairvoyant, Wanted as White Slaver, Arrested in Indiana.

RIED TO END HER OWN LIFE.

Mrs. Melissa Eddy, known in clairvoyant circles as Mme. Millie, and wanted by the federal authorities of Tacoma on charges of violating the Mann act, was arrested at her home in Michigan City yesterday. She was found in bed. The bedroom was filled with gas and a nightgown had been stuffed in the crack beneath the door. She had received word that the federal authorities were seeking her on an indictment charging that she had assisted in transporting Mrs. Elsie Swartz from Dubuque to Tacoma for immoral purposes.

Moves Suddenly.

Hinton G. Clabaugh, local chief of the federal bureau of investigation, received a telegraphic request from the Tacoma federal authorities last week asking him to arrest Mrs. Eddy. The dispatch stated that Mrs. Eddy could be found at 601 or 702 South Seventh avenue in Maywood.

Agents of the bureau then traced the clairvoyant to her home in Michigan City.

According to the story told Tacoma federal officials by Mrs. Swartz, she met Mrs. Eddy in Michigan City, and there arranged with the clairvoyant for transportation to take her to Tacoma, where she was to be made a clerk. Mrs. Eddy and the girl, according to the story, went to Dubuque, where they met Clarence Ludwig, who is now serving a sentence of three months in Tacoma on a white slavery charge.

Ludwig and the girl were arrested in a Tacoma rooming house by the federal authorities on a complaint from officers in Dubuque.

Announces Divorce Suit.

A few days after her arrival in Michigan City, Mrs. Eddy went to a newspaper office, where she announced that she had brought suit against her husband, Joseph Frank Eddy, for divorce. He is her second husband. They have property valued at $6,000 in Michigan City.

"Mrs. Swatz and I met in Dubuque," is Mrs. Eddy's story. "She told me that she was going to leave her husband. We agreed to go west together. We went first to California and then back to Tacoma, where Mrs. Swartz met Mr. Ludwig. When Ludwig and she were arrested he asked me for money to help in his defense. I refused. I suppose that explains why he is trying to involve me in the case."

CHICAGO RAILWAY EMPLOYE GETS $8,500 FOR INJURIES.

Decree by Supreme Court Holds Contribution to Benefit Fund Does Not Absolve Employer.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—Seven years ago last Wednesday Joseph Wagner of Chicago, a brakeman on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, was swept off the back end of a train by a faulty semaphore on the Chicago and Alton tracks. He was severely and permanently injured.

Today the United States Supreme court gave Mr. Wagner a Christmas present in the nature of a verdict for $8,500 against the Chicago and Alton.

In deciding the case in favor of the brakeman the court emphasized two principles of law which heretofore have not been so plainly dealt with. It held that when an employer contributes a small sum to an employés' beneficiary organization on condition that the employés sign releases for all blame attaching to him in case of accident due to his negligence the releases are void in the eyes of the law. It also held that when an employé of one railroad is injured through the negligence of another the latter is held responsible.

According to another decision of the Supreme court, the Rock Island road must pay Daniel C. Whitaker of Lathrop, Mo., $8,500 for injuries he received when kicked off one of that road's freight trains.

BEWARE TRAIN MASHERS, TRAVELERS' AID ADVICE.

Secretary Warns Against Perils Besetting Unattended Girls on Christmas Trips.

If your daughter is going to travel any distance for the holidays, see that she is properly protected. This is the admonition of Everett Meservey, secretary of the Travelers' Aid. Miss Etta Lung, one of his staff, has reported that this season is a precarious one for girls traveling alone.

Miss Lung told of a girl from Oakland, Ia., whom she took from a train "dazed to a point of hypnotism." The girl was Miss Chrystal Wright, a teacher, on her way to Etna Green, Ind. A man on the Iowa train, according to Miss Lung, had practically hypnotized her.

The women's clubs of the state are being asked by the secretary of the Travelers' Aid to study the reasons "why young folks leave home."

Wilsons Elude Sightseers at Virginia Resort

President and Bride Flee Hotel and Go for Country Jaunt.

DODGE CAMERA MEN

BY FLOYD P. GIBBONS.

Hot Springs, Va., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—At a propitious moment selected by the secret service bodyguards, President Wilson and Mrs. Wilson made their first appearance from their honeymoon apartments here today. They left the hotel by a side entrance, walked rapidly across a lawn, over a rustic bridge, and to the road, where they stepped into the waiting limousine and were whisked away down a lane of trees.

So successful were the detectives in their arrangements that none of the guests of the hotel was aware of the auto trip until after the bridal couple had returned and once more eluded observation, gaining their rooms unseen. Probably the most disappointed were the newspaper photographers who are here to get pictures of the president and his wife on their honeymoon. When the camera men learned that the president and Mrs. Wilson had escaped them they held a long session in the billiard room and decided to resort to diplomacy.

Diplomatic Note Not Effective.

Following the example of the administration in its international dealings, the photographers decided on note writing and after many revisions and amendments a message was sent to the president asking him to pose with Mrs. Wilson for only five minutes and promising the departure of the photographers on the next train should their request be granted. But they are still awaiting a reply from the president.

President and Mrs. Wilson were gone two hours and a half on the auto ride through the hills. On the way to Warm Springs, which was the first road taken, the car took the side of the road to permit the lumbering passage of a rickety wagon and a mule driven by a gray haired Negro, whose voluble conversation with the mule was interrupted when he recognized the president and saw the United States shield on the motor door.

"Uncle Eb" ceased urging the mule, rose shakily to the seat of the wagon, and waved whip and hat. As the following car with the secret service men passed he was heard to remark:

"You fool mule that was the first man and the first missus of the land and bof born in ole Virginia, and you standin' stubborn like in the road. I never saw such an unsensible mule. Gwan now."

Aaffirs of State Banished.

Although there is a private telegraph wire running from the hotel to the White House, not one tick has been sent or received over it. So far the president has not allowed matters of state to interfere with his honeymoon. When the president alighted from the train here he carried a small black case in which was a portable typewriter. So far as is known he has not made use of it, and neither has he called in the services of his personal stenographer.

RAFFLES AT SPANISH BALL? NO, ARTICLES JUST MISLAID

Two Strayed Mesh Bags Returned and Shawl, Also—But J. Clarke Dean Loses Walking Stick.

Friday night at the Spanish ball articles such as mesh bags, brooches, and valuable shawls disappeared. Eureka! Chicago had a social Raffles at last! Then the ads appeared in the "lost" column Monday morning. And last night a reporter called up to get the details.

Alas! Mrs. Rudolph Menn, wife of Dr. Rudolph Menn of 1832 Lincoln avenue, said her gold mesh bag had been found and promptly returned yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Walter S. Brewster of 1220 Lake Shore drive said her Spanish shawl and lace scarf also had been returned.

J. Clarke Dean of 4833 Dorchester avenue said he had carelessly left his cane hanging in the lobby.

MOODY CHURCH CAN'T ACT TO OUST CARLETON HUDSON

Trustees Find Former Waterman Colleague Was Never Member, but Contributed Generously.

A move to expel Carleton Hudson-Betts, self-appointed "guardian" of former Judge Arba N. Waterman, from the Moody church was halted yesterday when it was discovered the "Count of Coxsackie" was not on the church rolls.

Hudson-Betts often had posed as a member of the church when promoting "high finance" schemes. Following his recent affair with former Judge Waterman, a number of the members of the Moody church set on foot a movement to have him ousted.

Although he was not a member, he attended services regularly and contributed generously.

LOGUE THEFT TRIAL DUE.

Harold Schneider, After Three Years, to Face Charge of Robbing Jeweler.

On Dec. 20, 1912, Joseph H. Logue was killed and robbed of his diamonds in his jewelry shop in the McVicker building. Harold Schneider was charged with the murder and acquitted.

On Dec. 20, 1915, a charge of robbery of Logue's body was placed on the docket of the Criminal court. Again Harold Schneider was the defendant.

Witnesses are expected to testify that they bought jewelry from Schneider—jewelry identified by Logue's widow as her late husband's property.

THE NURSE AND THE 'MOTHER'

MISS MARIE LOUISE DES ROSIER

MRS. ANNA D. MATTERS.

Whatever may be her inclination, Mrs. Anna Dollie Ledgerwood Matters will not be allowed to drop her demand for control of the $150,000 estate left by her husband. Judge Horner of the Probate court yesterday said he would not allow the case to go out of court until he was satisfied all the apparent contradictions have been cleared up.

Maurice Berkson of Mrs. Matters' counsel said he had no intention of dropping the case, which to him was not seriously damaged by the admissions of perjury made by Miss Marie Louise de Rosier, a nurse in the Misericordia hospital at Ottawa, Ont. Miss de Rosier told the court she had perjured herself previously in the trial when she testified Mrs. Matters had given birth to a child in her presence. If that testimony is true, the child would be entitled to a share in the estate of Mr. Matters.

Irwin R. Walker, assistant state's attorney, was present in Judge Horner's chambers, where the final testimony of Miss de Rosier was given. Walker's presence is believed to presage a grand jury investigation which may involve Miss de Rosier, Dr. L. C. Emile Beroard of Ottawa, who offered testimony of the same sort, and Mrs. Matters herself.

SHOOP TO GET SCHOOL AUTO

Committee Offers Car but He May Have to Be Driver.

Although a $2,000 automobile was proffered to John D. Shoop for his use as superintendent of schools by a unanimous vote of the finance committee, several trustees balked on furnishing a chauffeur. The matter of the chauffeur was deferred two weeks.

Mr. Shoop said he could manage almost any kind of an automobile without a chauffeur.

Jacob M. Loeb, president of the board, presented the proposition for an automobile and a chauffeur in an effort to encourage Mr. Shoop to spend all possible time visiting schools.

Objects to Cost.

Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton was the first to object to the proposal. She said that $2,000 was too much for an automobile.

"The superintendent ought not to mend tires," said Mr. Loeb, "put on chains, and see that there is no sand in the gear box. His time is too valuable. The superintendent should visit more of the schools, and he ought not to have to worry about the care of a machine. Besides, he can't leave his machine on the street."

Get Around Law.

"I have a way," said Ralph C. Otis, "of leaving my car down by my building, and they never say anything." He has offices at State and Madison streets.

"Mr. Larson, Mr. Guilford, and Mr. Howatt of the board," said Michael J. Collins, "have no trouble in leaving their machines at the curb."

The committee voted to borrow an additional $50,000, making a sum of $1,000,000 borrowed during 1915. Of this amount, $350,000 was made necessary by a suit tying up State street rents. The actual deficit will be $650,000.

DINNER FOR COLLINS.

Support for the present school administration was pledged last night at a dinner at the Blackstone hotel given by Jacob M. Loeb, president of the board of education, in honor of Michael J. Collins, retiring president. Practically all of the members of the board were present and paid tribute to the work of Mr. Collins during his administration.

FIVE PROVINCES REVOLT AGAINST CHINESE EMPEROR

Republic Association in United States Gets Word That Still Others Will Follow Action.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 20.—Tong King Chong, president of the Chinese Republic association, received a cablegram from Shanghai, China, tonight which stated that five Chinese provinces had declared their independence against the rule of Yuan Shi Kai.

Mr. Tong, who has presided recently at several massmeetings of Chinese from all parts of California, said tonight he believed the action of the five provinces would be followed by similar declarations from all parts of China.

Father Telephones Story of Boy Holdup, and Then Asks a Little Favor—What?

"Hello, TRIBUNE? My little boy Sammy was held up by two boys with a gun this evening as he was going to the store for me, and they took 35 cents from him. Sammy is only 5½, and they scared him badly. Matson is my name and I live at 1919 North Kedzie avenue. I wish you would put it in the paper to frighten those bad boys from doing it again. The children in the neighborhood around Kedzie and Armitage have been terrorized for two weeks, and it ought to stop. Yesterday they took $1.50 from a neighbor's boy. The robbers are about 12 years old and they wear gray caps. And—hello! O yes; will you telephone this to the police and save me 5 cents? Thank you. Good by."

WHO IS MULTI-TITLED MAN? ASKS "JUDGE" LOUIS BRYAN.

Gary's First Millionaire Advertises in "Tribune" for Information of A. C. Mayo.

"Judge" Louis A. Bryan, known as Gary's first millionaire, and ex-husband of Ethel Thayer Bryan, the "baby doll wife," yesterday through the personal columns of THE TRIBUNE besought the public to tell him what it knows about A. C. Mayo, who delights in the titles of colonel, reverend, and judge.

Mr. Mayo, who was formerly associated with "Judge" Bryan in the City and Harbor Land company, is suing the latter for $25,000, which he asserts the millionaire promised to give him.

"I wanted to know details of some of Mr. Mayo's transactions with the public," said Bryan. "There are some things which don't look right."

"Judge" Bryan said he has kicked his son-in-law, Harry Sultsbaugh, formerly his chauffeur, out of the land company also.

PLEA FOR POOR KIDDIES OIL ON COURT SQUABBLE.

Sportsmen's Club to Leave Building but Will Feast Crippled Ones There on Christmas.

Attorneys representing the Sportsmen's Club of America virtually confessed judgment for $11,427 when the suit filed by the owners of the club building was called in Judge Jarecki's court yesterday. Attorney Henry M. Seligman declared the Sportsmen's club was willing to give up possession of the building.

It was intimated by the lawyers representing both sides that a settlement of the judgment would be reached outside of court. It is believed the club will leave the building at 608 South Michigan avenue and seek other quarters.

In the squabble for possession of the building the crippled children who are feasted annually at Christmas by the club were not forgotten. Permission to use the dining room on Christmas was given.

VILLA OUSTED; ARMY GIVES UP; HE FLEES TO U. S.

Brother Crosses Border as Territory Is Turned Over to First Chief Carranza.

AMNESTY FOR ALL REBELS.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 20.—Gen. Francisco Villa, with 400 of his followers, is believed to have crossed the Texas border into America at some unknown spot. No reason is given for his remaining in seclusion.

Col. Hipolito Villa, with his office force of the financial agency of the Villa organization at Juarez, reached here tonight. He was brought before department of justice officials, who told him all that the United States would want of him was a strict compliance with the neutrality laws, and that he pledge himself not to participate in Mexican revolutionary movements. This same pledge will be exacted of Gen. Villa on his arrival.

The flight of the Villa brothers followed a peace agreement, signed today between Villa army leaders and Carranza Consul Garcia.

Carranza in Complete Control.

As a result of this agreement the Carranza de facto government is in official control of the former Villa state of Chihuahua, the cities of Juarez and Chihuahua, and all border points. Amnesty was granted all revolutionists except Gen. Villa and his brother Hipolito.

The agreement reached at the conference was that Villa generals turn over their entire territory, all troops and arms, and that Villa and his brother leave the country without any following.

Revolt Began in 1907.

The revolution, which was practically ended today so far as the Villa organization is concerned, began in 1907. Villa gained prominence as a military leader through assistance given Francisco Madero in ousting Diaz from Mexico in 1910.

Following the assassination of Madero in February, 1913, Villa aligned himself with Carranza.

In October, 1914, Villa renounced Carranza. In the spring and summer of 1915 Villa forces met various defeats, falling back to Aguascalientes, which he evacuated in July. Later they fell back to Torreon and evacuated that place in September.

Following recognition by the United States of the Carranza government as the de facto government last October Villa, with a force of 13,000 men, has been repeatedly defeated.

The surrender of the Villa organization includes about 4,000 armed men, about 75 per cent of the rolling stock of the railroads of Mexico, and the state of Chihuahua, the richest mining and live stock district in Mexico.

Events Please Washington.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—Gratification and relief were frankly displayed by administration officials today when news came from El Paso that seven of Gen. Villa's generals and leaders had signed an agreement to turn the rebel army of the north over to the de facto government of Mexico.

Confidence is felt here in the reported promise of Villa to eliminate himself, and if he appears on the American side of the international boundary line he will find a free road.

Carranza Blow to Catholics.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 20.—Cardinal Gibbons announced he had received a letter from the archbishop of Oaxaca, Mexico, informing him the Carranza government had forbidden collections in Catholic churches. Confessions have been forbidden for some time, according to the archbishop.

"He recites many of the conditions among the clergy and the nuns," the cardinal said, "and it makes one shudder to think of these outrages."

MEXICAN PEACE AIDS CHICAGO.

Plans for rehabilitating the railways and other enterprises of Mexico were discussed by A. J. Pani, director general of the Mexican Central railway, at the Blackstone hotel last night.

He arrived in Chicago during the day, accompanied by his son, Arthur Pani, and F. J. De Hoyos, officials of the railway. They left on a late train for St. Louis.

Mr. Pani said there were more than 10,000 miles of railroad track to rebuild, more than 1,000 freight and other cars to buy, and several hundred locomotives.

"All of this," he said, "will be purchased in the United States and most of it in Chicago."

CHICAGO BOYS' TRIP HOME FROM HARVARD LONESOME.

Wellesley Authorities Went and Arranged to Put Girls' Car on Another Train This Time.

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—The special car which is to carry twenty Harvard men whose homes are in Chicago off for their Christmas holidays pulls out tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Wellesley college authorities put a cross on the Harvard boys by dismissing the Wellesley students last week. The girls' special, which is usually on the same train as the Harvard car, left Thursday, and the local collegians in consequence were a badly disappointed lot.

In the Chicago party leaving tomorrow will be Dwight Ingram, president of the Crimson; Jay B. Camp, former track star, now in the Harvard Law school; Arthur Dixon, manager of the soccer team; Robert C. Bacon, treasurer of the Harvard Lampoon; Harold A. Johnson of the school of architecture; Maurice F. Geraghty, business editor of the Lampoon; Thacher Nelson, the poet, and Dana Hutchinson, secretary of the Chicago Club of Harvard.

BY KITTY KELLY.

THE sentimental classic of our fathers' theatrical days has been brought to life again by the modern medium of the motion picture, brought to a fuller, richer life, too, for the camera can capture the very essence of the country where the stage can give only a painted substitute. And skillful acting, here as often, overbalances the force of the spoken word.

The present picture version was done with a nice reverence for the spirit of the old play. The types are made distinct, yet not given to exaggeration, and in the person of Frank Losee Denman Thompson, veteran author and player, finds such duplication as makes it seem as if he himself were present.

FRANK LOSEE in "The Old Homestead."

Interesting fact is that the old Thompson home in Swanzey, N. H., furnishes the actual setting for the photoplay, whereas the stage version had to be content with a painted scene. And with the old home goes all the glory of the country roads and the fields of corn shocks of the real New England.

The interiors in spirit match up with the exteriors, uniting in the creation of effective atmosphere, to which the competent cast contributes consistently.

Frank Losee is a benevolent old Uncle Josh, Louise Huff a pretty Ruth, Creighton Hale an appealing Reuben—it means enumerating the whole cast, for the bits were as sincere in their work as the large parts.

Denman Moley as the tramp is giver of particular joy. The scene in the city home where Uncle Josh essays unknown sophistication might have been less stagey and had more comedy sparkle to it, though probably precedent had here to be regarded.

Not for its novelty but for its universality does "The Old Homestead" claim our regard and hold it, as hold it it does, even though the story be as simple as the people who live it and though it move with unmodern deliberation. It strikes pretty deep down into American consciousness, and it is a good thing to have it so honestly revived in the new art for the benefit of the upgrowing generation who has missed it.

The TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

EDITED BY JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

A man who would run an autobile willingly learns what a carburetor is, but a woman running a family complains that carbohydrate (one word for starches, sugar, and cellulose) is over her head.

Roman Gnocchi.

THERE is more than one way of using cornmeal in quite elegant service. As an energy maker no dollar spent yields so much as that spent for a dollar's worth of cornmeal. This has been scientifically worked out. The Italians call their cornmeal mush polenta, and they mix cheese with it, Parmesan, as they do with all their hundreds of starchy pastes, thus making a balanced food, containing fat, protein, and carbohydrate. Our American cheese, though much of it is of doubtful character in these days, may be used instead of the Parmesan, and remember that there is no way of grating it so good as that of rubbing it through an inverted frying basket.

Cornmeal and Cheese Cakes.

These little cakes made of cornmeal mush and grated cheese, called Roman gnocchi, are much used to garnish elegant meats, such as game. The French chef values them for this service. For three or four people, cook the following quantity: Add two cups of cold water and a little salt to one-fourth cup of cornmeal. Put over the fire and stir constantly with a small but long handled wooden spoon until the mush has cooked twenty minutes at least, from the time it boiled. Longer, better. This method is easier, and just as good as stirring cornmeal into boiling water and stirring with a pudding stick. Add to the cooked mush from one-eighth to one-fourth of a pound of grated cheese, which will puff it, and pour this out in a cake of little finger thickness. Prepare several hours before it is needed, and when ready to fry, cut in rounds the size of small biscuit and fry in deep fat, or in bacon fat if you want to serve it with bacon. The professional cake is smooth, but fried in a spider these cakes look more like codfish cakes.

A Soccle.

In order to make a handsome thing of such a flat meat as a roast goose or duck, great chefs mount it and commonly on a white cornmeal cake cut to the right size. This is just mush from one and one-half to two inches thick, often cut fancifully around the edges with a knife, but generally hidden by garnishes.

Doris Blake Says

"It is a highly perfumed imagination that makes past memories so sweet."

What to Say.

"My Dear Miss Blake: Is it proper to open up the candy the young man brings with him when he calls and you happen to have company?

"What is the proper thing to say when passing the box of candy? Is it proper to open it when we are alone?

"What is the proper thing to say to a young man when he is leaving after bringing you home from the theater?"

Unless there is a big crowd, open up the candy and pass it around, with the encouraging words, "Have some," helping yourself last. But if just you and he are there you help yourself first. After the theater tell James, "I surely did enjoy that play and I want to thank you for taking me." And I believe he will ask you again.

Not Acknowledging Introductions.

"My Dear Miss Blake: Is it considered a breach of etiquette for a lady not to recognize an introduction at a formal dance? J. F. D."

Not exactly a breach of etiquette, but rather, carelessness or forgetfulness on her part. Often evening clothes so completely transform people that one can scarcely recognize them in the light of day and in citizens' clothes. So there is always room for forgiveness, if some one seems to "turn you down cold" the next day.

Riding with Affinity.

"Dear Miss Blake: When riding home with your affinity, is it proper for him to put his arm around you? Should he get mad if you tell him to stop it? When presented with a gift from him, what is proper for you to say in thanking him, and should I give him one in return? "TRIX."

If your "affinity" is also your fiancé, he is supposed to be allowed this privilege, otherwise not. And the same rule holds about presents; if you are engaged, it is your right to give him gifts; if not, then he is the one to do the giving. Then you only need thank him; no further "trimmings" are necessary. Profuse thanks embarrass the average man.

* *

She Had a Date.

"Dear Miss Blake—Several months ago I met a gentleman who called by phone for a date on the following afternoon. I had an engagement and told him I had a date and was sorry I could not accept.

"I wondered if it would be correct for me to drop him a line now, telling him I was sorry I could not see him that Sunday, but would be glad to see him some other time.

"I don't want him to think I am running after him, and also that I didn't mean to turn him down, either. What would you advise me to do? L."

If you hadn't waited so long, such a note would be permissible, but if you send it at this late date it will be only too obvious that you are anxious for him to call. Should you see him personally you could bring up the subject more naturally, but I should not advise any writing.

There's No Love Formula.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a young girl of 19 and very much in love with a man of 26, but he is far my superior in everything. I think he cares something for me, but am not sure. Please tell me how I could gain his love."

All this talk about winning love, etc., is such a wrong idea for a girl to get. Any one would think there was some kind of formula I could give out, when it really all rests with you. Be natural; don't put on any simpering airs, and if he doesn't come, don't do any running after him; that will kill all your chances of ever winning his respect, and without that there cannot be love. You don't know this man well, and it isn't up to you to make any effort to know him better; if he wishes to pursue the acquaintance he will. And that's the end o' it.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING-HAND

By MARION HARLAND

How to Travel Down Life's Long Lane.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—[Special.]—How to travel down "the long lane" of life without getting wearied or bored or out of step by the end of the eighty-fifth mile is a problem not many pilgrims know how to solve.

Mrs. Mary V. Terhune of 250 West Ninety-fourth street, the Marion Harland loved by the whole United States, member of the staff of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, author of one of the few successful novels of the year, capable business woman, and center of a big circle of friends who find her more charming than any of their younger acquaintances, will be 85 years old tomorrow. And these are the traveling directions she gives to other farers in the lane:

"Set a certain distance for yourself each day and cover it systematically. Be interested in the passersby. Have both religion and humor in your knapsack."

"Life should become more and more interesting as we grow older," she declared today, enthusiasm lighting the beautiful, expressive face with its wonderfully youthful eyes. "Love your work and never let yourself grow listless."

In the sixty years between Mrs. Terhune's first novel, "Alone," and her latest one, "The Long Lane," she has written about forty books and conducted for years the Helping Hand syndicate by which Marion Harland sends out hundreds of letters of advice every month. Throughout the United States persons have remembered her birthday by letters of congratulation, best wishes, and even original poems composed in her honor.

"And life upon the tableland of age I thoroughly enjoy," she said, changing the figure. "The upland air is invigorating."

After the family dinner, where Mrs. Terhune will share the birthday honors with her youngest son, Albert Payson Terhune, a number of her friends will follow their yearly custom of calling to wish her many happy returns. Mrs. Terhune, gowned in white crêpe de chine, with pearls and amethysts as jewels, will be the merriest of those at her eighty-fifth birthday party.

At the Library.

"WILL you kindly publish a request for the poem entitled 'Over the Hills to the Poor House'? I am unable to find any store that has it. "DELLA E."

"Over the Hills to the Poor House" was written by Will Carleton and may be found in a collection of his works at the public library. I will certainly send it to you if a copy of it is sent in.

Gloves at a Dinner.

"When attending a formal dinner what do you do with regard to gloves? Do you take off long white ones during the dinner or just take your hand out of the glove and tuck it under? I expect to attend a formal affair of this kind soon and wish to be sure as to what is the correct thing to do. H. N."

Both methods are practiced by diners who are accustomed to the best social usages and manners. Each is subject to objections, because inconvenient. If the long glove be loosened from the hand and turned into the wrist without drawing it from the arm it looks awkward and is clumsy to the wearer. If it is removed entirely, where shall the owner lay it while she dines? If she wear a fancy pocket or bag hanging at her side the gloves are easily disposed of until she rises. Otherwise to lay them beside her upon the table interferes with the action of the meal, and when the rest of the women do the same makes an unsightly row of bunched handgear upon the cloth. Altogether, the consensus of opinion favors stripping the long glove back from the hand and folding it as neatly as may be away from the wrist.

Attributed to Many.

"Who said 'God is on the side of the heaviest artillery,' or was it the saying of any one person? I have heard it attributed to several. I. C. J."

Voltaire quotes it as the words of some one else. It is often ascribed to Napoleon, but another Frenchman, De la Ferté, antedated the utterance. Gibbon wrote in his "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire": "The winds and waves are always on the side of the ablest navigators." The sentiment has not lacked advocates in any age. It would be hard at this late day of the world to trace the expression back to its source.

An Old Song.

"There is an old song, the name of which I'm trying to get—'I'm tying the leaves so they won't come down.' I have tried hard to get it, but seem unable to find it. Should any of your readers have a copy they don't want please send it to me. I will pay postage.

Referred to a constituency that delights in doing favors, small and great, for fellow members of the great family. The selection is a stranger to me, but that is no sign that fifty readers may not have it at their fingers' end.

Constant Care Modifies Red Hands.

Antoinette Donnelly

DO your hands embarrass you with their vivid coloring these days Red hands are embarrassing! And sometimes it is a very difficult thing to tone down this vivid coloring. But constant care will modify the trouble greatly.

Both oatmeal and lemon juice will whiten and soften the skin. Use one or the other for softening the water in which you wash. After washing the hands, before thoroughly drying, rub them with a little fine oatmeal or a little lemon juice diluted with an eighth part water. Don't forget to dry thoroughly and powder over with toilet powder after drying. Lemon juice mixed with equal parts of glycerin and rosewater will be found to suit some skins better.

Never allow the hands to become ingrained with dirt if you have housework to do. Rub a little cleansing cream well into the hands before plunging them into hot water. At night rub skin food into them if they are cracked and hard. Wear loose fitting old gloves to protect the bedding. The same remedy is recommended for chapped hands.

If your nails are inclined to be brittle, rub a little olive oil well into them at night. This will serve to soften the cuticle, too, so that it can be easily pushed back. Never fail to push the cuticle back with a rough towel after washing the hands, else the skin will encroach upon the nails and obliterate the half moons. Polish the nails of each hand against the palm of the other every time you dry your hands and you will keep them in nice condition. Manicure them at least once a week.

If your hands are inclined to redness, all the more reason why the nails should be kept in tiptop condition. A great deal is forgiven for well kept finger nails. On the other hand, no excuse is sufficient to forgive soiled, ragged nails.

KEEP THE CORNERS OF YOUR MOUTH UP

Antoinette Donnelly's Answers.

LENA: Exercises with a wand are excellent for reducing the flesh that accumulates above the corsets. If you haven't a wand you can use a broom handle as you would a wand. Swimming is excellent for reducing fat arms, so are punching a bag, swinging Indian clubs, and lifting weights. I shall be glad to send you my treatment for blackheads and pimples if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

EVA: I hesitate to suggest any exercises for your neck, not knowing the nature of the lump at the back. I suggest your consulting a physician about it. It may be a growth of some sort which should have careful and immediate attention.

MISS Y. W.: You did not tell me how deep the scars were or what caused them. If they are little scars and of no depth you can probably remove them entirely in time by massaging your face every night with a good skin food. If they are deep scars from a cut or burn then I should consult a skin specialist about it if I were you. I shall be glad to send you my formula for skin food if you will send me a stamped addressed envelope.

TILLIE: There will be less danger of your taking cold after washing your head if when rinsing you cool the last two waters. This will contract the pores. A little alcohol rubbed into the scalp also will accomplish the same purpose. But the glow that follows the brisk manipulation of the scalp with the balls of the fingers is the best preventive of any unhappy after effects of the shampoo.

HOW I HAVE KEPT YOUNG.

Was it by keeping your waist reduced and your hips slender? And how did you do this? Was it by some trick of dressing hair or figure? Was it by not forgetting how to play? Was it by certain rules of living and exercising? "The Tribune" will pay $1 for actual experiences on How I Have Kept Young. Address Antoinette Donnelly, Chicago Tribune.

BRIGHT SAYINGS of CHILDREN

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The stories may be sent in either by children or their parents. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

My brother and another little boy were seated on the porch playing with their railroad tracks. A woman with her baby, of whom my brother was very fond, came to call. The baby, spying the tracks, crawled upon them, much to the disgust of the other little fellow. Brother, not wishing to push the baby off the track and yet trying to appease his little friend, said, in a coaxing manner: "I tell you, Johnnie, let's play the baby is a cow on the track." V. M.

Laura, an old fashioned tot of 5 years, was told by her grandma she must let her take off her ring, as it was too small for the finger, and wear it on the little finger. Laura's reply was: "Why, grandma, they are all the same age."

Sight, Taste and Smell Make Appetite

The Logic of Hot Steero

Food must look good or you don't want it.

It must smell good or you won't eat it.

It must taste good or you won't like it.

Anything to eat or drink that looks, smells and tastes good is going to give you an appetite if it's time for you to eat.

That's the way a cup of Hot Steero makes people hungry.

Its fragrant steam greets their nostrils with a promise.

Its taste is a delicious combination of the flavors of beef, vegetables and spices. Drink it down and then you can eat.

The good effects of a hot drink are well known. The influence of smell and taste on appetite and digestion are everywhere recognized. Steero has them all. Hot Steero is made by simply dropping a Steero Cube into a cup and pouring on boiling water.

If you never drank a cup of Hot Steero, what are you waiting for?

Get Steero Cubes in boxes of 12, 50 or 100 Cubes from your druggist, grocer or delicatessen dealer. And be sure you get Steero. There are imitations.

MUSIC AND THE MUSICIANS

Louise Edvina Sings "The Jewels"

BY ERIC DE LAMARTER.

Of that notable cast which made Wolf-Ferrari's "The Jewels of the Madonna" the ranking favorite among our novelties, from its premier four seasons ago, only one principal appeared last evening at the Auditorium in its first performance of this year.

Carolina White was last heard here in vaudeville, at the Majestic theater. Mario Sammarco is not in this country, thanks to his country's participation in the death grapple of European civilization. Louise Berat likewise is serving her country. Amedeo Bassi alone, the creator of the rôle of Gennaro in this country, greeted the old friends of the opera.

In Miss White's place was Louise Edvina, who created the rôle of the wayward girl in London. Mr. Sammarco was followed by Mario Ancona, interpreting the character of the Cammorists' "ward boss." Cyrena Van Gordon sang Carmela.

* * *

The work, a flambuoyant music drama of the modern Italian pattern, made a great stir at its premiere and even more stir after the third or fourth by reason of the lengths to which Miss White and Mr. Bassi carried the scene of seduction. The planchette board tells us that Mme. Edvina and Mr. Bassi will inspire some such excitement when "The Jewels of the Madonna" is set before audiences less fashionably dressed than the Monday night audience.

It might be conducive to peace of mind in this neighborhood to review "The Jewels" as an oratorio. But the tale won't permit. You remember about Maliella, the foundling, and her half-brother, Gennaro, very much in love with her? And how the wine of excitement on a festal day went to her head, so that she looked with favor upon the leader of a community of scamps? And how his "dare" to steal the very jewels on the statue was carried out by the half-brother, the girl overcome with the sacrilege and the gift, and so forth, and hence?

And the music, too—a striking blend of Neapolitan street-melodies, of sophisticated theatricalism in the orchestra and thrillingly effective vocal tricks, of nervously alive rhythms and insistent little catch-phrases of tunes and bobbing lilts, and smashing tone-color schemes generally.

* * *

Remains but to comment upon the performance, which was not as finished a presentation as it will be in its repetition. Details like the banging of the piano in the serenade, the playing of the stage band, the lack of cohesion among the first violins during the preludiary music of the second act (doubtless the result of fatigue from "Gotterdaemmerung" and the day's rehearsals) remain to be smoothed out. For, in its staging, which is novel in certain scenes, in its cast, and in Mr. Campanini's conception of the work, "The Jewels of the Madonna" is fortunately prepared for another run of popularity.

Mme. Edvina is a very satisfying Maliella. What her interpretation lacked last evening was "glitter," the spontaneity of a vibrant personality. Risking the charge of dangerously little knowledge of the stage, however, we state cautiously the belief that her's was an evenly sustained, skilled impersonation. The climactic points she sang with telling effect. Some of the bits of melodies were rather heavily treated, but her canny judgment in the shading of timbres was notable. Sinister moods melted into moods of passionate tenderness on the tilt of a cadence, into moods of scorn, of ingenuous devilment on a transitory harmonic epigram.

* * *

Mr. Bassi's Gennaro was the same sturdy interpretation of yore better sung, in fact, than his other rôles of this season. The suspicion persists, however, that the world lost a good baritone when he elected to perch among the high notes.

Mr. Ancona did not sound the essential tone of the character Rafaele, which is a debonair, superficial, dominant, cussedness. He sang acceptably, excepting for his beating time for himself with his knees.

Mme. van Gordon gave earnest again of her unusual vocal gifts, and Mr. Daddi and Mr. Dua merit special mention. Mr. Campanini conducted with the zest he seems to reserve for "The Jewels" and for "Aïda." The aud'ence responded with many curtain calls.

"Monna Vanna" will be repeated this evening with Mme. Beriza, and MM. Muratore, Maguenat, Journet, and Dua in the cast, Mr. Ferrari conducting.

LOUISE EDVINA in "The Jewels of The Madonna."

Haskell Ultimatum Worries Campanini

BY CINDERELLA.

Wouldn't this world be a dull place if we were all neutrals, people without opinions or all of the same opinion? It's even rather interesting to have two people tell you about the same party, or a man's speech, or what happened anywhere. One person will tell you that a man made such a dull speech that everybody wiggled in the chairs and was bored to tears, while another who was there, too, will say that the man was perfectly delightful, a great hit, and that there wasn't a dry eye in the house when he talked about the war. You have to take your choice.

* * *

Then there's the opera. About the opera in Chicago there are endless differences of opinion; there are the voices of the singers, the singers themselves, the operas, the stage settings, and a hundred other minor matters to differ about.

One person says that the rocks in Carmen look like sweetbreads, and the very same day somebody else says that the scene in the Appenines is worthy of Joseph Urban.

One operagoer thinks the rocks in Siegfried wave in the air like tissue paper; another opines the stage looks like our famous dump, and still another believes the setting worthy of Bayreuth.

* * *

But when it comes to "Déjanire"—well, nearly everybody is of one mind—that "Déjanire" should be taken out and shot at dawn and buried as quietly as possible.

Of course, when invited to sit in a box and listen to this opera one can't say to one's hostess, "This is very painful to me, this opera; I'm having a very poor time. Good-night." But it seems that Frederick T. Haskell said something of the kind to Maestro Campanini, and Chicago society is divided up into two camps over it.

Mr. Haskell, who is a guarantor of Chicago grand opera, heard that "Déjanire" was to be given on his box night. And he objected. Campanini said he had already sold tickets for it. Mr. Haskell asked him to return them. Campanini said it wasn't business. Mr. Haskell then said "Déjanire" wasn't either business, pleasure, or opera, and that if they gave it on his night he would not sit in his box or occupy it ever—again.

Speaking of ultimatums! That to Austria were mild indeed!

Then the maestro tore out some of his own hair and tense suspense reigns.

PHILIP P. BLOCK BUYS RESIDENCE IN KENWOOD

Pays $75,000 for Home Built by E. M. Barton at a Cost of $130,000.

A notable sale of high class Kenwood residence property, a good sized lease in the downtown district, and several fairly large loans, together with several medium sized flat deals comprised the most interesting real estate market news yesterday.

The residence deal was the purchase by Philip P. Block, vice president of the Inland Steel company, of the John W. Snyder residence at 4920 Greenwood avenue, one of the most attractive Kenwood homes, for a reported consideration of $75,000. The residence, which occupies a lot 144x297 feet, formerly belonged to Enos M. Barton of the Western Electric company, by whom it was erected at a cost said to have been in the neighborhood of $130,000. It is a large three story fireproof structure of concrete and steel construction and contains sixteen rooms. J. Grafton Parker & Co. were the brokers.

Kenwood Residence Sold.

The same brokers also have sold for Mrs. Josephine B. Williamson to Louis E. Asher the ten room frame dwelling on a lot 75x230 feet at 5208 Greenwood avenue for a reported consideration of $22,500.

An interesting north side transaction reported yesterday comprises the sale of the old Col. Pierce homestead at the northeast corner of Surf street and Pine Grove avenue, which is to become the site of an extra high grade apartment building. The lot fronts 77 feet, with a depth of 197 feet, and the property was acquired by Walter J. and George P. Rinn for a reported consideration of $23,100, which is at the rate of $300 a front foot. It is stated the purchasers will improve with an apartment building, the apartments to rent at from $150 to $250 a month. The purchasers are said to have been offered a substantial profit on their purchase. Mitchell Bros. were the brokers.

Downtown Lease.

The downtown lease covers 6,000 square feet of space on the twenty-first floor of the Mallers building at the southeast corner of Wabash avenue and Madison street, which was leased to the Class Journal company, publishers of Motor Age, Automobile Blue Book, and other motor publications. The lease runs for ten years and provides for a reported term rent of $93,000. The lessee company will move from the Karpen building. The lease was negotiated by Frank J. Murningham of John B. Mallers Jr.'s office.

In connection with the construction of a building at Sheridan road and Grace street to contain sixteen stores, twenty offices, twenty-eight bachelor apartments, twenty-eight billiard tables, twenty-two bowling alleys, an 1,800 seat theater, restaurant, ballroom, and recital hall, and which is expected to cost about $410,000, Albert Fuchs has arranged for a loan of $290,000, ten years, at 5½ per cent, with the Hibernian Banking association. The building is about to go under roof.

Borrows $55,000.

The Union Trust company is trustee in a loan of $55,000, five years, at 5½ per cent, to Scott Miller, on the property at the southeast corner of Morse and Greenview avenues.

Greenebaum Sons Bank and Trust company have made a serial bond issue loan of $52,500, five years, at 6 per cent, to Arthur Chester on the Bryn Mawr apartments at 2219-31 East Seventieth street.

Record was made of the sale by Morris Ertrachter to Morris Podolsky of the property at the northwest corner of Kedzie avenue and Crystal street, lot 52½x26½ feet, with flat improvements, for an indicated consideration of $50,500, subject to an incumbrance of $34,000. The purchaser conveyed in part payment property in Armitage avenue, east of Albany avenue, valued at $25,000.

Wells Street Sale.

The property at the northeast corner of Elm and Wells streets, 50x100 feet, improved with a four story brick building containing two stores and eight flats, has been sold by Gustav Hochstadter for a reported consideration of $26,000, subject to an incumbrance of $9,500. The purchaser gave in part payment property on Homewood avenue and on Glenview avenue in Highland Park. Mark Levy & Bro. were the brokers, L. Cerf being associated in the deal.

The flat property in Greenview avenue fifty-eight feet north of Lordon avenue, with 52x161 feet of ground, west front, has been sold by Peter Biesius to Mathias S. Arbanus for an indicated consideration of $27,000, subject to an incumbrance of $15,000.

The six apartment building at 656-658 Buckingham place, on a lot 50x138 feet, has been sold by Sidney S. Pollack to Mrs. Johanna Foege for a reported consideration of $28,000, subject to an incumbrance of $14,000. The purchaser conveyed in part payment the two story frame building at 3750-52 Southport avenue, lot 50x120 feet, at a valuation of $11,000, subject to $2,000. John W. Dunklau of R. G. Ludwig & Co. was the broker.

Flat Building Sold.

The same broker also sold for Mrs. Foege to Mrs. Carrie Kraus the six flat building, on 36x125 feet of ground, at the northeast corner of Troy and Byron streets for a reported consideration of $20,000, subject to $8,000, property of the stated value of $3,400 being given in part payment.

The annual "ladies' day" luncheon of the Cook county real estate board, a feature of the holiday season, will be held at the Hotel Morrison today, and elaborate preparations have been made by the luncheon committee to give to it much Christmas color.

BOAT CASES TO MICHIGAN.

Preparations were made yesterday by District Attorney Clyne and his aid, Joseph B. Fleming, in charge of the prosecution growing out of the Eastland disaster, to leave for Michigan today. Action against seven steamship company officials, government steamboat inspectors, and officers of the steamer Eastland who reside in Michigan is to be begun before a United States commissioner near the point of residence of the defendants.

The Eastland was sold yesterday at auction to Capt. Edward A. Evers of the Illinois naval reserve for $46,000. Capt. Evers said the two upper decks of the ship will be removed, permanent ballast will be placed in the hull, and the ship used as a training vessel.

Wants Husband Cited.

Mrs. Percy James Ford filed a petition in the Circuit court yesterday, asking that her husband be directed to show cause why he should not be found guilty of contempt of court for falling into arrears in payments of the $30 a week awarded her by a separate maintenance decree in July, 1915.

MINERAL INDUSTRIES GIVEN BIG IMPETUS BY THE WA

Federal Bureau Shows Improvements in American Manufac —Make Former Imported G

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—Industrial achievements by American manufacturers since the outbreak of the European war are recounted in detail in the annual report of the bureau of mines, issued today by Director Manning.

The report tells what the bureau is doing to aid in development of mineral industries by suggesting new and better methods of manufacture, by stopping the waste of valuable mineral resources, and by suggesting uses for material thought of no value.

It says manufacturers already are saving millions of dollars by use of waste material, and that new industries have been created to manufacture what was formerly imported.

FORMER JUDGE BROWN FRE

A charge of operating a confidence game against former Judge Willis Brown of the Juvenile court of Salt Lake City, Utah, was dismissed by Judge Heap yesterday at the request of Assistant State's Attorney Moran and O. A. Thompson of 1223 Roscoe street, the complainant. Thompson said the judge had sold him three shares of stock in the Youth Photo Film company, and that the company had ceased paying dividends on its stock when a picture showing Judge Brown and his work in the Juvenile court was withdrawn. Mr. Thompson, after an investigation, is now satisfied with his stock, however, and agrees that he may have acted too hasty.

More About Ownership

No. 13 of a Series of Advertisements on Electric Service in Chicago.

We have tried to show that it is cheaper and better for the city to use us to furnish its electric service than to attempt the task itself. But someone may say, "All right; but that's the way it has always been done in Chicago. Except for street lighting and some other municipal uses, which you do not mention, practically all of the general electricity supply of Chicago has always come from privately owned central stations. Why get excited? Why demolish a man of straw?"

We are not excited. But there is a municipal-ownership statute in this state which, under certain conditions, will permit cities to go into the electricity-supply business. We don't believe that the conditions are very likely to be met in Chicago. But at the present time, when the sky is clear, when there is nothing at issue between the people and ourselves, we wish to acquaint the public, dispassionately, with our views on municipal ownership. If, later, the issue should be put to vote, you may remember some things that we have said. Of course, the decision of that issue, if it is ever raised, is vastly more important to the great bulk of the public than to the small proportion of the citizens in our company. We ask simply that the subject be considered without prejudice, in a spirit of fair dealing, and decided on the principle that the best possible electric service at the lowest possible rates be given to the people of this city. We are willing to stand on that principle.

We have no fear of any action that the voters of this city may take if they have all the facts in the case before them. Some of these facts we are trying to set forth in these advertisements, but the "talks" are so short, to avoid becoming tiresome, that we can give outlines only. One point that hasn't been mentioned is that a municipal plant would deprive the city of the taxation paid by a privately owned plant to the extent that it replaced the latter. We paid out nearly $1,500,000 in taxes and municipal compensation last year, all but a comparatively small portion going to the city and county treasuries. In figuring municipal-ownership cost of public service, the loss of the taxation that a corresponding privately owned utility would pay is often overlooked. But we showed in a previous advertisement that every kilowatt-hour of our output last year bore a taxation charge of one-eighth of a cent. If the city produced the electricity, it would lose nearly that amount, and therefore the item should be added to the municipal-ownership cost.

"Regulation—Protection" will be discussed in the next article, which will appear in this paper on Tuesday, December 28th.

BROAD MARKET EXPECTED WITH TURN OF YEAR

New York Interests Look for More Public Confidence in Stock Buying.

There is reason to believe that important New York interests are figuring on a broad market in the first quarter of 1916. The present is a halting, liquidating period, in which stocks have been permitted to find what is assumed to be a level in accordance with speculative and investment conditions.

But after the turn of the year, when estimates of earnings are succeeded by actual figures, there should be a basis for exciting large public confidence. The annual reports of a great many corporations will be due in February and March, and not only will the twelve month fiscal period show heavy earnings but the outlook for 1916 is expected to be flattering. If these interests gauge correctly the situation they will be able to make a market on which to distribute stocks.

Attitude in West Different.

Here in the west the conception of speculative operations of New York banking interests is inadequate. Chicago and western bankers, whose primary interest lies in the welfare of their institutions from the viewpoint of all stockholders, cannot be accepted as in any particular representative of the New York bank [illegible].

In the eastern metropolis the bank is primarily the fulcrum for lifting profits into the private accounts of the managers. Before anything big goes through private interests must be consulted. This leads to extraordinarily large commitments in the stock market and renders necessary a period of broad speculative activity in order to "unload." The "unloading" period has not been reached since the promotion period from which speculative profits originate is hardly out of its early stages of development.

Proposes Export Changes.

Representative shippers' organizations and railroad men will meet before the interstate commerce commission in Washington tomorrow morning for a further discussion of the proposed shortening of free car storage on export goods from thirty days to fifteen days. The National Industrial Traffic league, with headquarters in Chicago, will ask the commission to limit the relief, if any is thought necessary, to definite dates.

Under such an arrangement the present acute situation growing out of the heavy European export and scarcity of vessels would be relieved, and at the same time the agreement entered into by the railroads and shippers and later approved by the commission would automatically come into control with the return of normal conditions.

Chicago City Railway Dividend.

The directors of the Chicago City Railway company declared a 2 per cent dividend yesterday, payable Dec. 30 to stock of record Dec. 27. Books will be closed Dec. 28 and 29 inclusive.

Yesterday's declaration makes a total of 8 per cent in quarterly installments for the year 1915, as compared with 9 per cent for 1914.

Value of "Scraps."

The Pennsylvania railroad sold its scrap material for $2,157,241 in 1914. Waste paper brought in $19,211; oil barrels, $2,439; old rubber, $15,222; locomotives and wooden passenger cars, 114,326; old wheels, metals, and wrought iron, $780,000, and odds and ends $121,997.

Personal Mention.

Henry A. Blair, chairman of the Chicago Surface lines, returned from the east almost fully recovered from the effects of an automobile accident last July.

Money and Exchange.

Money rates in Chicago steady at 3½@4 per cent on collateral, 3@4 per cent on commercial paper, and 4@4½ per cent over the counter. New York exchange sold at 15c and 10c discount. Chicago bank clearings were $61,581,043.

Peoples Gas Shares Weak.

Peoples Gas stock made a new low record, selling down to 108½. The weakness originated in New York, where large amounts of the shares are held. The Anthony Brady estate is reputed the principal eastern holder, and until his death Mr. Brady was the most influential interest in the company. This eastern interest must be consulted on financial plans, and the selling appeared to reflect the view of the outlook as entertained in New York. In Chicago the selling was not so good. Floor traders in the main followed the price down as the New York quotations were recorded.

Commonwealth Edison was inclined to sympathize with the weakness in Peoples Gas. The price held steady at 144, but the stock was offered in fifty share lots, a feature unusual in the market for the shares. Ordinarily the buying and selling represents transactions for irregular lots running from five to twenty-five shares. The offerings yesterday came apparently from holdings of considerable size.

Swift & Co. stock was firm and fairly active. The price closed at 126. However, outside of Gas and Edison there were no features, the market generally being steady to firm. There was a moderate inquiry for bonds.

NEWS OF THE FINANCIAL WORLD.

At the present rate of business among the electrical manufacturers new records will be made in 1916, it is said. The demand for turbines for land plants, as well as for ships, is one of the outstanding features of the market. Westinghouse Electric is doing a growing business in marine turbines with mechanical reduction gears and other auxiliary apparatus required in the engine room. The machinery ranges from equipment of battleships to freight and passenger vessels.

Some bankers in the Anglo-French syndicate have expressed the belief that the bonds have reached their low level, based to some extent on the liberal accommodation that the banks are accepting them as collateral. Certain large New York banks are accepting them at issue prices for favored customers. A maximum margin of 10 per cent is being asked of brokers.

Exports from New York for the week ended Dec. 17 were $65,547,133, as compared with $70,280,778 for the preceding week. War shipments were responsible for $3,000,000 a day. Automobile shipments for the entire week were $2,196,400. Total imports were $8,887,784, against $7,178,699 for the preceding week. India rubber and coffee were the leaders.

Bituminous coal prices in New York are rising steadily, the normal demand being augumented by a certain amount of storing in view of possible complications next spring when new wage demands may be made. Advices from the east are that manufacturing industries in the congested freight zone are facing a serious outlook. It is declared some works will be obliged to shut down in part if relief is not shortly effected. Manufacturers who have complained to the railroads have been answered that it might be well to shut down.

Iron and steel exports for October were less than for September and September exports were less than August, giving further evidence that the domestic market is taking a larger per cent of the steel tonnage. With the building trades more active next spring, it is predicted that the home demand will be increased.

IN BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—After a broad and active opening, which carried most copper stocks a point higher, today's market turned dull and before the close substantial parts of the early rise were lost. There is very little selling pressure, but any inquiry for stocks, in the opinion of best judges, would result in a sharp advance. Call money ruled at 3@3½ per cent; time loans, short dates, 3@3½ per cent; time loans, six months, 3½@4 per cent; time loans, one year, 4@4½ per cent.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

MEXICAN ISSUES SHOW STRENGTH IN N. Y. MARKET

Villa Withdrawal Causes Gains in Many of the Oil and Metal Stocks.

Total sales of stocks, 410,000 shares.

Total sales of bonds (par value), $4,240,000.

New York, Dec. 20.—Interest in today's market was transferred from European affairs to Mexico, shares of companies operating in that country, notably American Smelting and Mexican Petroleum, being the most prominent features. Smelting rose 3¼ points to 103¼ and Mexican Petroleum 3½ to 89⅞. The activity of these stocks was naturally ascribed to the withdrawal of the revolutionary forces and the desentigration of the movement against the de facto government.

Incidentally, another advance in oil prices by the leading producers accounted for the strength of the oil stocks, Texas company rising 6½ to 237, with an extensive demand for petroleum common and preferred, as well as kindred issues on the "curb."

Many War Stocks Higher.

Other metal shares followed Smelting's lead in smaller degree, and war stocks like Studebaker, Baldwin Locomotive, Crucible Steel, New York Airbrake, and American Can were intermittently higher by 1 to 5 points. Added to these were Mercantile Marine preferred, United Fruit, United States Industrial Alcohol, and other issues of no particular description with like gains.

American Tobacco was again weak, and General Motors fell 10 to 490, but recovered much of its loss later. Peoples Gas was persistently heavy, losing 3½ at 108½.

United States Steel rose ⅞ to 86¼, but lost much of its advantage in the final hour, when realizing sales in smelting and petroleums caused general recessions.

Demand for Rail Issues.

Rails were in steady request on a moderate scale, especially New York Central, Eries, and some of the Pacifics and grangers.

Foreign exchange reflected the more confident feeling in the foreign situation, marks stiffening perceptibly, with general firmness for all remittances. Selling of securities for London continued, but the effect was not appreciable.

The feature of the bond market, which was otherwise rather irregular, was the demand for Anglo-French 5s at quotations ranging between 94⅞ and 95. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Mercantile paper, 3@3¼ per cent. Sterling: 60 day bills, 4.68; demand, 4.7225; cables, 4.78. France, demand, 5.84; cables, 5.83. Marks, demand, 77; cables, 77¼. Guilders, demand, 43¼; cables, 43½. WAR BROKER SUES FOR FEES

A $150,000 suit, born of a war order contract, was filed yesterday in the Superior court by Henry C. Hill against the Thomas B. Jeffery company, automobile manufacturers. Attorney Sidney S. Gorham, counsel for Hill, said his client had sold more than 1,200 auto trucks for the Jeffery company to the French government. Recently Hill sued the Velie Motor Vehicle company and Louis Rosett of New York in two actions for $92,250, which he claims as the first installment of commissions due him for selling more than $1,000,000 worth of Velie trucks to France.

Former City Teller Held.

Frank P. McGlynn of 316 South Springfield avenue, formerly a teller in the office of the city treasurer, waived examination on a charge of embezzlement before Municipal Judge Heap yesterday. He was held to the grand jury in bonds of $1,500. He is charged with having embezzled $1,600 of city funds, covering the shortage by an ingenious method of manipulating an adding machine, according to City Treasurer Sergel.

WHEAT PRODUCTION REPORT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—Wheat produced in the northern hemisphere during 1915 totaled 3,590,000,000 bushels, an increase of 19.4 per cent over 1914, according to a cablegram received here today by the bureau of crop estimates from the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome. Of this, the United States produced approximately two-sevenths. Several countries were not included in the aggregate, it was said. No reference was made to the production in the southern hemisphere, which includes the great wheat fields of South America and Australia.

PAY $13,000 OLEO TAX.

Edward Steers of 4739 South Ashland avenue, Walter C. Hanaway of 9111 Commercial avenue, and Fred Holmberg of 6216 South Halsted street yesterday paid a total of $13,000 in revenue tax on colored oleomargarine, in arrears, to Collector of Internal Revenue Smietanka. The stores operated by the men were seized by revenue agents in a raid a week ago, but were released from government control when the tax was paid.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The National City bank has made another loan of about $6,000,000 to the Argentine government at 6 per cent for six months. The expiration of this loan probably will be followed by another undertaking of a larger amount and for a longer term.

Live stock markets at Chicago yesterday were quiet and weak. Packers figured competition from poultry would cut down the consumptive demand for beef, pork, and mutton this week, and were inclined to curtail purchases. This caused the quietness, while liberal receipts of cattle, hogs, and sheep gave the market a weak undertone.

Cattle receipts were posted at 23,000 head, and most of the steers sold 10c lower than at the close last week. Some of the cows sold 15c lower, while calves suffered a loss of 25@50c. Best steers sold at $9.50, and the bulk made $7.15@9.00.

Hogs were unchanged most of the session, but closed weak. Receipts were 65,000 head. Shippers, speculators, and small killers were good buyers, while leading packers fought against paying prevailing prices and took hold sparingly. The trade was slow and late. Shippers were credited with purchases of 8,000 head and packers took 46,500.

Sheep Steady; Lambs Variable.

Sheep made up a small proportion of total receipts of 19,000 sheep and lambs, and sold on a steady basis. Lambs were more plentiful and weaker at the start, although the scarcity of stock of prime quality caused firmness in the market for the higher priced offerings before the close. Lambs topped at $9.60 and yearlings at $8.25.

Hog purchases for the day: Armour & Co., 7,500; Swift & Co., 7,000; Sulzberger & Sons, 4,000; Morris & Co., 5,000; Anglo-American, 3,000; Hammond, 5,000; Boyd-Lunham, 3,000; Roberts & Oake, 1,800; Western Packing company, 4,000; Miller & Hart, 1,300; Independent Packing company, 3,200; Brennan Packing company, 1,200; butchers, 2,500; shippers, 8,000; total, 54,500; left over, 9,000.

MICHIGAN RAILWAY COMPANY LEASES FOUR MORE LINES.

Now Controls 546 Miles of Trackage in Southern Part of State—Takes Hold on Jan. 1, 1916.

Jackson, Mich., Dec. 20.—Officers of the Michigan Railway company, with headquarters in this city, announced today the leasing by that company of the following electric railway lines:

Grand Rapids, Holland and Chicago; Michigan United Railway; Michigan United Traction, and the Kalamazoo, Lake Shore and Chicago lines.

The leases will become effective Jan. 1, 1916, it was said.

As the result of the arrangement the Michigan Railway company secures 546 miles of trackage in southern Michigan, making, it is claimed, one of the largest electrically operated railway systems in America.

FINED FOR CUSTOMS FRAUD.

New York, Dec. 20.—Sciama & Co., feather importers, today entered a plea of guilty to violating the customs and corporation tax laws and were fined $5,000 by Federal Judge Hough. George Silva, general manager of the company, also pleaded guilty and was fined $6,003 and sentenced to remain thirty days in custody.

NEW HAVEN MEN'S COUNSEL ASSERT CHARGES UNPROVED

Lawyers for Directors on Trial for Conspiracy Argue Government Has Failed to Establish Case.

New York, Dec. 20.—The array of lawyers defending the eleven former directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad against the charge of conspiring to monopolize commerce brought legal argument to bear on Judge Hunt at the trial today in an effort to prove that the government had failed to establish its case. The argument was still unfinished when court adjourned and will continue tomorrow probably throughout the entire day. The jury was dismissed until its conclusion.

The main burden of the argument was that under the recent decisions of the United States Supreme court the government had to show that the New Haven's control of the transportation traffic of New England was prejudicial to the public interest. Not a word of evidence, Attorney Thomas Thacher asserted, had the government put in to show that any injury to the public has been done. He asked the court to direct a verdict of acquittal. The proofs, he added, do not show that any defendant conspired at any time.

Arguing on the government's charge of suppression of competition, Attorney G. H. Dorr sought to prove that the New Haven had in fact increased competition. He held that the New Haven had created a situation whereby the great trunk lines of the country were rivals for the business of the New England states.

Cermak, bailiff of the Municipal court, from disposing of property of the Consolidated Naphtha Rug and Carpet Cleaners, 3517-23 West Madison street, to satisfy judgments entered in the Municipal court, was issued yesterday by Judge Carpenter, who appointed the Central Trust company receivers for the cleaning firm.

Bonds Hurt by Poor Earnings.

A. M. P.—The Cairo division 4s of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railroad are a first lien on the line from Danville to Cairo, 262 miles, and on an eight mile branch. In 1913 the road showed a deficit of $2,849,000 after fixed charges and in 1914 a deficit a little less than $2,000,000. Its net earnings in the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1915, were $3,000,000 more than in the corresponding period of 1914. About one-third of this increase was due to gain in gross earnings and two-thirds to saving in operating expenses. As the road is controlled by the New York Central the bonds should be good. However, they are not secured on the best part of the system and will not look really conservative till the road has had several years of satisfactory earnings. Wabash bonds that went through the receivership undisturbed may be considered a fairly safe investment.

Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

M. L. M.—The Missouri, Kansas and Texas gross and net earnings in the year ended June 30 last were the largest in the road's history. From July 1 to Oct. 31 last it did not do quite so well as a year ago, but is showing improvement now. Evidently it is likely to make as good a showing this year as last, when 4 per cent was earned on the $13,000,000 of preferred and about 1½ on $63,300,300 common. The road is in a receiver's hands because $19,000,000 of notes fell due May 1 last and not all the holders would renew them. Interest on these notes is now in default and a foreclosure and reorganization probably will follow. The road's primary trouble is that its funded debt is too large, being about twice as great as its capital stock. In the reorganization some of the bonds will have to be changed into new preferred stock or income bonds, and it is not unlikely that stockholders will be asked to contribute some new money. Stockholders who elect to see the reorganization through probably will profit in the end.

United States Bonds.

M. M.—If the United States should become involved in a serious war and should be forced to pay a relatively high rate for money, as European nations are now paying, 3 per cent Panama bonds would necessarily fall below par in the market. These bonds are not redeemable till June 1, 1961. Inasmuch as the government can borrow money at 3 per cent or less, it doubtless will retire the outstanding $118,489,900 of 4 per cent bonds when they mature Feb. 1, 1925.

Brief Answers.

N. D. G.—Dividends are usually declared payable on a certain date to stock of record at the close of business on some earlier date. Listed stocks sell "ex dividend" on this earlier day. If you own stock from the afternoon of the day before to the morning of the ex dividend date, you should get the dividend.

C. J. G.—Reading stock is in $50 shares. Beginning Oct. 13 last it has been quoted in dollars per share instead of per cent of par. The present price of 80 represents just what 160 formerly represented.

ORGANIZATION

The Great Western Power Company of California has been incorporated as successor to the Great Western Power Company in order to facilitate the future development of the properties and with a view to the eventual unification of the system. The Company has adopted a comprehensive financial plan of which the issuance of these Debentures is a part and has entered into suitable covenants restricting the issuance of additional obligations during the life of these Debentures.

PROPERTY AND BUSINESS FIELD

The Great Western Power Company, with its subsidiaries, is conducting an established electric light and power business, serving about 20,000 customers in a business field with a population of about 1,000,000 embracing San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Berkeley and other municipalities in eleven counties in central California.

The System has a present installed generating capacity of 130,000 horse-power, of which 87,000 is in one hydro-electric station and the balance in steam stations in San Francisco and Oakland, and a storage reservoir with a present capacity of 250,000 acre feet, and only about one seventh of the potential water powers, estimated at about 600,000 h. p. has as yet been developed. During the past twelve months 334,062,790 k. w. hours have been generated.

The proceeds of these Debentures will furnish funds for the further extension of the already comprehensive transmission and distributing systems of the Company which should result in a very substantial increase in surplus earnings.

CONVERSION PRIVILEGE

The 7% cumulative Preferred Stock into which these Debentures are convertible is authorized to the amount of $30,000,000. There is at present none outstanding, and with the exception of that amount which is reserved against conversion, none may be issued without the approval of the Railroad Commission. This stock is of the nature of a prior preference stock, having preference over the preferred and common stocks of the Western Power Corporation which represent the ownership of the property. At current market prices these stocks show a market equity of over $6,000,000 above the Debentures.

We recommend these Debentures for investment.

BULL CAMPAIGN IN FULL SWING; FUTURES HIGHER

Foreigners and Public Heavy Buyers of Wheat; Export Sales Again Heavy.

The wheat market yesterday bore a striking resemblance to the war markets of a year ago, with prices soaring and shorts on the run. Net gains for the day were 1⅝@3¼c. At outside markets there were big advances, the December futures at Winnipeg and Minneapolis being especially strong. The buying demand was persistent, and bearish news developments had no effect on the market aside from giving the advance temporary checks. The visible supply showed an increase of 11,191,000 bu, but this only caused a short lived halt in the upward trend.

Big receipts also failed to depress the market, and the strength in the northwest created a bullish sentiment. Export sales were again on a big scale, apparently confirming reports that the British government would make efforts to provide more tonnage.

Statistics Are Bearish.

From a statistical standpoint the situation appears bearish, receipts being heavy, stocks increasing, and weather and crop reports generally favorable. On the other hand, the cash markets are not weak and the percentage of good wheat is small, while recent reports indicate the farmers in the spring wheat country have at last adopted a holding tendency after marketing a large percentage of the crop. Big surplus stocks in Argentina and Australia will not do much good in Europe if adequate tonnage is not available, and it is still much easier and cheaper to draw wheat from this country and Canada.

Tonnage for 12,000,000 bu from Australia has been provided for January-February shipment. Plate offers were firm. Liverpool was 1d higher for spot wheat, and millers were said to be urgent buyers. So far the United Kingdom has been unable to make headway in accumulating reserve supplies.

Export Sales, 1,750,000 Bu.

Export sales for the day were placed at 1,750,000 bu, including 600,000 bu hard wheat via the gulf, 500,000 bu at Duluth, and 100,000 bu at Omaha. There were reports of more No. 1 northern sold from Chicago for export. Local sales to mills were 15,000 bu. Receipts here were heavy at 582 cars. Chicago cash houses were buyers of cash wheat at Minneapolis. Receipts at primary points were 3,618,000 bu, against 2,160,000 bu a year ago.

The visible supply increased 11,191,000 bu. Buffalo stocks increased 13,000,000 bu. Northwest receipts were 1,866 cars, compared to 627 cars a year ago. Clearances were heavy at 1,756,000 bu. The Canadian visible increased 1,362,000 bu. Sales to go to store were 150,000 bu.

Buying was led by Raymond-Pynchon, Bartlett-Frazier, Knight-McDougal, Logan-Bryan, and Wagner. Selling was scattered. Foreign buying was a feature at both Winnipeg and Chicago.

Heavy Tone in Corn.

The corn market was heavy. Prices closed unchanged to ¼c higher, being helped toward the last by the strength in wheat. However, there was heavy selling credited to commission houses and country reports generally stated sales were increasing with favorable weather conditions. Receipts were 455 cars and primary receipts were 1,203,000 bu, against 1,573,000 bu a year ago. The visible supply showed a gain of 940,000 bu, compared to a gain of 3,101,000 bu a year ago. Weather conditions generally were favorable.

Cash prices here were steady to 3c lower, the low grades being in poor demand. Good corn met with a fair call and there were sales of 70,000 bu. Cables were higher, with a good demand. World's shipments were about half as large as a year ago at 3,333,000 bu. On passage stocks decreased 3,187,000 bu. Clearances for the day were 13,000 bu.

Oats Demand Is Slow.

Oats were in slow demand early. Later the strength in wheat caused a stronger tone and prices rallied at the close, being ⅛@¼c higher. The visible supply increased 1,154,000 bu. Receipts here were 267 cars, and primary marketings were 1,110,000 bu; last year, 963,000 bu. Clearances were liberal at 668,000 bu. Cash prices were steady and there were sales for shipment of 105,000 bu.

Provisions were a little firmer throughout the list. Receipts were liberal at the yards, 42,000, but prices there were unchanged to 5c up. Packers were credited with selling products, but on the other hand there was a good demand from commission houses. Receipts were 165,000 in the west, compared to 134,800 a year ago. Considerable new export business was reported. The quality of hogs was good. Liverpool cash prices were unchanged. Estimated receipts for today, 42,000.

Rye Market Steady.

Rye was steady, with sales of No. 2 at 94@95c; No. 3, 92½c, and No. 4, 91c. Receipts were 28 cars.

Barley ruled dull and easy. Malting, 66@75c; feed, 61@62c, and screenings, 48@60c. Receipts, 188 cars.

Timothyseed was steady, March closing at $5.25 bid and $9.00 asked. Cash lots were quoted at $5.00@7.75 nominal. Cloverseed ruled steady, with cash lots $10.00@19.00 nominal.

Duluth closed 3¼@4¼c higher. Cash on track, $2.10¼@2.11; December, $2.08¼, and May, $2.14½. Receipts, 33 cars. Minneapolis was 3¼c higher, with cash on track $2.07½@2.10½. Receipts were 36 cars. Winnipeg closed 2¾@3½c higher, with December at $1.87 and May $1.95. Receipts, 26 cars.

RECORD SEIZURE OF OPIUM.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 20.—A shipment of opium intercepted here aboard the Japanese liner Seiyo Maru in transit from Hong Kong, China, to Salina Cruz, Mexico, was found today to be the largest single seizure of the contraband drug ever made in the United States. Seventy cases, each containing 100 five tael tins of opium and valued at approximately $450,000, were taken from the vessel.

Motions Set for Jan. 15.

A motion to quash the indictments of three of the fifty-four defendants who were named in the three bills returned in connection with the labor investigation was made yesterday before Judge Turney. Arguments were set for Jan. 15.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Buying of wheat futures was on the most general scale for some time. With the price over $1.20 for the May shorts were free buyers and there was free buying for outside account through commission houses, while foreigners were credited with buying considerable wheat through commission houses at Winnipeg and Chicago. Commission houses were buyers early and the higher cables gave bulls encouragement at the start. The strength of the market was shown by the demand, which was sufficiently brisk to take care of the selling which developed on the big increase in the visible. Prices reacted only a little on the bearish visible figures. There are supposed to be several big short lines of wheat, and with the general buying the bears have been unable to cope with the situation. A large quantity of wheat has been brought to Chicago from Minneapolis without influencing prices to any extent. The strength at Minneapolis and Winnipeg increased the demand here. At the close Minneapolis was up 3¼c for the day and Winnipeg December 3½c higher. The Winnipeg December is not at a much smaller discount than it was before the close of navigation.

Reports of export sales yesterday resembled those reported daily a year ago. In all positions sales for the day were placed at $1,750,000 bu. There were reports that some No. 1 northern had been sold for export from Chicago. Duluth reported 500,000 bu wheat taken there and at the gulf sales of about 700,000 bu were reported. Local exporters said there was business doing via the gulf. It was supposed that the increased demand for wheat, compared to the recent dullness, was due to expectation that more steamers would be made available for carrying wheat. With adequate tonnage it is believed sales will continue large. Omaha reported 100,000 bu wheat taken for export.

World's corn shipments last week were 3,333,000 bu, increasing 1,706,000 bu. Oats exports were 1,850,000 bu, decreasing 713,000 bu. Detail shipments, with comparisons, follow:

Poor corn was hard to sell in the local sample market. Offerings were quite liberal and prices were steady to 3c lower. The southwest reported considerable increase in country offerings. Oats were steady. Local sales were 70,000 bu corn and 105,000 bu oats.

Wheat on ocean passage this week increased 1,120,000 bu, while corn decreased 3,187,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

Heavy rains were reported in France with some damage to unstored grain. Movement of all grains was reported light. More rain is needed in India, where the drought is serious in some sections. Some rain has fallen in the Punjab districts.

Reports from the southwest intimated the railroads running into Galveston and New Orleans soon would place an embargo on grain shipments owing to congestion.

A leading Ohio grain handler says his reports indicate 40 to 50 per cent of the winter wheat on the farms is unfit for milling purposes.

Receipts inspected Monday: Wheat, 582 cars; corn, 455 cars; oats, 267 cars; rye, 28 cars, and barley, 188 cars. Estimated hog receipts for today, 42,000 head.

CLARK RIDICULES ACTION BY MILWAUKEE COUNCIL.

Sanitary District Trustee Says Public Utility Corporations Have Not Been Aiding More Water Plan.

Trustee Wallace G. Clark of the sanitary district characterized as ridiculous a body of resolutions passed yesterday by the Milwaukee city council attacking the proposal to divert a larger flow of water from Lake Michigan through the Chicago river.

The resolutions attack the proposed diversion on the grounds that it is fostered by hydro-electric power interests along the drainage canal and instruct Mayor Bading to call a conference of representatives of lake cities for the purpose of entering into a united protest to the government.

The friendly suit brought by the government seeking an injunction restraining the sanitary board from diverting water from the lake through the Calumet sag channel now in course of construction has dragged along for five years. The evidence is all in the hands of Judge Landis, and a decision is expected in the near future. This case also includes the request for an increased flow through the drainage canal.

"The charge is ridiculous because of the fact that it has been the public utility corporations that have been fighting us all along," said Mr. Clark.

CO-EDS PAY RAILWAY FARES.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 20.—Five co-eds of Minnesota university had clearer consciences today. The self-government league said they had paid the Northwestern railroad the car fares which they evaded returning from the Wisconsin-Minnesota football game at Madison.
